DEATH TOLL NEARS 50 IN ARKANSAS VILLAGES WRECKED BY TORNADO

Gale Wreaks Destruction in Several Isolated Small Communities.

FAMILIES ARE BURIED IN SHATTERED HOMES

Bodies Taken From Ruins That Strew Towns of Swifton and Alicia.

DOCTORS AND NURSES HURRY RELIEF WORK

Aid Is Hampered as Lines of Communication Fail in Stricken Area.

Little Rock, Ark., April 10 (A.P.).—A tornado from out of the Southwest swept through north central Arkansas early tonight, leaving a death toll of at least 20 persons with indications it might mount considerably, a large number of injured and heavy property damage.

A partial list of the dead, all in the Swifton section, follows:

Charles Defries, 45, and daughter, Grace, 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Nicholson.

Mrs. A. J. Rowlett, 52.

Mrs. Esther Riley, 45; daughter, Ruth, 6, and son, Buster, 4.

Mrs. Russell Long, 45, and daughter, Vinnie, 17.

Howard Watts, 12.

John Loy, 45.

Mrs. John Loy was injured so seriously she is expected to die.

About a dozen persons were reported missing.

Swifton Is Hardest Hit.

The storm apparently wreaked greatest havoc near Swifton, north of Newport, where sixteen bodies had been recovered before midnight. Alicia, a few miles north of Swifton, also was reported to have had several deaths, but telephone and telegraph lines were down and the reports could not be verified.

At Swifton the rapidity with which the death toll was increasing caused predictions that it would reach 40 or 50 when all communities in that section had been heard from.

All buildings in the little communities of New Home and Possumtrot, with a few score inhabitants, were reported demolished and no information was available as to the number of dead or injured.

Truck loads of men left Swifton tonight to aid in relief work and search for bodies. Doctors and nurses were sent from Newport, the center of relief work.

Accurate reports were lacking because of crippled communication lines, but residents of Swifton, nearest the storm center, said it left a wide path of destruction. Farm houses were demolished and in some instances carried long distances.

Two or three entire families were buried under debris where their bodies were found later.

District Sparsely Settled.

Relief work was difficult because the country is sparsely settled and the stricken settlements are miles apart. Roads were almost impassable, owing to a heavy rain which preceded the storm.

The tornado followed rain and hail storms in many sections of the State. Little Rock was pelted twice during the day by large hailstones, accompanied by a severe rain.

Five persons were injured at Diaz, in the same section. They were Mr. and Mrs. Finis Massey, Mrs. Bob Wagster, her daughter and a grandchild. All these were taken to a hospital at Newport. They were injured when their homes were demolished. A schoolhouse

House Member Seeks Return of Stock Loss

Did Not Know, Says Dyer, That He Purchased Distillery Shares.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Officials of the New York Curb Exchange announced today that they had received a letter from Representative Leonidas C. Dyer, of St. Louis, demanding return of money he lost while buying Hiram Walker stock and selling it, regardless of price, when he discovered that the Hiram Walker Co. was a Canadian liquor distillery.

The letter contended that the exchange had no right to list the stocks of companies whose product is contraband in this country, an idea that apparently caused considerable surprise in Wall street.

The representative, who is the ranking Republican member of the House judiciary committee and has voted against numerous "dry" measures, said in Washington that if such a letter had been received by the curb market's board of governors, "It's up to them." "I don't care to discuss it," he said.

Curb officials declined to make the Dyer letter public or to comment on it. They did not reveal, if they knew, how much of the whisky stock Dyer bought and how great a loss he took by dumping it precipitately in a falling market.

All that could be learned was that the letter said Mr. Dyer bought the

PRATT TO BAN PAID INFORMERS AS POLICE AIDS

Chief Will Pin Faith to Men on Force to Get All Evidence.

UNDERCOVER AGENTS TO DISPLACE SPIES

Personnel of Department Will Furnish Staff of Secret Workers.

MAJOR HOLDS SHIFT IS EFFICIENCY MOVE

Failure to Convict in Many Cases Prompts Step to Revise System.

Paid police informers are to be banned as the principal source of information and evidence against bootleggers, gamblers and other law violators, Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, disclosed yesterday.

Policemen are to be substituted by the new police chief for the informers who have been so heavily depended on in the past to make bets, purchase liquor and then testify in court against the men or women with whom they have dealt.

New policemen, whose identities are not known to the underworld, are to be assigned to the undercover work and kept at it until they become so well known that their usefulness in that capacity is ended, whereupon they will be assigned to regular duty in uniform. Not all new men will be assigned to this undercover work, Pratt said, but only those who are suitable for appointment and are needed.

Change to Seek Efficiency.

The new policy to be inaugurated by Maj. Pratt, he said, is dictated by reasons of efficiency. Scores on scores of cases taken to court are later nolle prossed because of the character of the testimony of the informers upon whose oath arrests were made and upon whose testimony in court depends acquittal or conviction of the arrested persons.

"That is all lost motion, lost time and misdirected energy," Pratt said. The new chief of police is not so much concerned with the number of arrests which are made by his men as he is with the outcome of the arrests they do make.

An improper or unjustified arrest, Pratt believes, does the whole Police Department and the cause of law enforcement more harm than good. Pratt wants a high percentage of convictions to result from arrests and is determined to hold his officers and men responsible for that result.

Men Will Be Coached.

His undercover men are to be carefully coached in the rules of evidence, so that they will know just what evidence they must have to convince a judge or jury of the law violation they charge.

The fact that evidence has been gathered against law violators by sworn officers of the law, whose pocketbooks are neither fattened nor thinned by a large or small number of cases, is expected by police officials also to be helpful when they take cases into court. The policeman simply will be doing the job with which the city intrusts him and for which it pays him and will not be swayed by the thought of financial profit resulting from a large number of cases, officials point out, whereas the informer always is faced with the necessity of swearing to a warrant against some one if he is to get any money.

Maj. Pratt refused to discuss for publication the speech made by Renah F. Camalier, assistant United States district attorney, Tuesday night before the Citizens Service Association. There are a large number of cases pending in court, the outcome of which will depend upon the testimony of informers, and Pratt contented himself with agreeing in general terms with Camalier's scathing denunciation of informers as a class and announcing the new policy he intends to put into effect.

No Drives Are Planned.

Pratt is planning no sensational "drives" or "campaigns" and does not intend to seek notoriety in such a manner, but has laid out a course which he intends to follow without deviation. That course, he said, is summed up in large part in his general order issued earlier in the week in which he declared that no police private or officer can escape a just charge of inefficiency, or worse, if he fails to discover gambling, bootlegging or other places of repeated law violations which operate in his territory.

The police chief is willing to admit that to get adequate evidence to convict law violators may be extremely difficult at times and beyond the capabilities, for various reasons, of the officer on the beat. When that situation arises, however, other resources of the Police Department are to be brought into play and kept at work until the law violator is brought to book in a fashion which will result in a conviction.

Pratt disapproves of the practice which has been indulged in at times in the past of arresting known gamblers on a charge of disorderly conduct simply because sufficient evidence can not be gathered to convict them of gambling. He believes gamblers can be convicted and that one or two such convictions will do more good than any number of arrests on charges of disorderly conduct.

MRS. GANN WINS FIGHT AS HOSTESS OF CURTIS; ENVOYS MAKE DECISION

MRS. EDWARD EVERETT GANN.

Sir Esme Howard, Dean of Diplomats, Announces Ruling in Letter.

GIVEN SAME STATUS AS GRANTED TO WIFE

Rank to Be Recognized at Davila's Dinner Here This Evening.

FAMILY IS PLEASED, BUT HOLDS COMMENT

Kellogg Decree Declared to Have Been Issued Without Formal Request.

(Associated Press.)

By a provisional arrangement, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice President Curtis, became the temporary victor yesterday in the battle for her social status in Washington.

The Diplomatic Corps at a meeting at the British Embassy late in the day decided that Mrs. Gann, as the Vice President's sister, would henceforth be conceded the social position at official and ceremonious diplomatic functions which normally would be given the wife of the Vice President.

The decision was transmitted to Secretary Stimson in a letter from Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador and Dean of the Diplomatic Corps. The corps' decision was a direct result of the Secretary's letter to the corps Tuesday, placing upon their shoulders the responsibility of determining just what place Mrs. Gann would be accorded in entertainments in diplomatic homes.

Kellogg Ruling Opposite.

Former Secretary of State Kellogg, before leaving office had ruled that Mrs. Gann, as the Vice President's sister, did not have a social status comparing to that of a Vice President's wife, but merely one after the wives of the heads of the foreign missions.

Vice President Curtis in a letter to Secretary Stimson opposed this ruling and the Secretary in replying to the Vice President yesterday said that the State Department had no authority to determine the social position of American official or general society in Washington, but that the Diplomatic Corps could decide upon Mrs. Ganns' status in their homes.

The corps' decision emphasized, however, that today's ruling was considered to be only provisional and "must be considered as being without prejudice to any final arrangement." The ruling will hold until a decision can be obtained from a constituted American authority on the point, the letter said.

The corps' letter read as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Secretary of State:

"On behalf of my colleagues of the Diplomatic Corps and myself, I have to thank you for your courteous letter in reply to the memorandum which I handed to you yesterday. I gathered from our conversation of yesterday that there exists no United States authority at present which can determine questions of precedence, and it appears from your letter that members of the Diplomatic Corps are expected to decide such matters for themselves in their own houses at their own discretion.

Given Ranking of Wife.

"You add that any courtesy which they may choose to show to the Vice President and to Mrs. Gann will be most agreeable to you. In these circumstances my colleagues and I, desirous, as already stated, of showing all possible courtsy to the Vice President, will, with great pleasure, accord to his sister, Mrs. Gann, at all official and ceremonious diplomatic entertainments until we can obtain some definite ruling on this point from a constituted American authority, the precedence due to the wife of a Vice President of the United States.

"In view of the fact, however, that this is not altogether in accordance

GASOLINE TAX RAISE OPPOSED IN CHAMBER

Committee Aroused by Plan to Increase Motor Fuel Rate to 3 Cents.

EMERGENCY CALL ISSUED

The proposed measure, which would increase the gasoline tax in the District from 2 to 3 cents, received the unanimous opposition of the finance and tax committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting yesterday.

Judging from the attitude of members attending the meeting, the proposed measure will be fought by the entire membership of the chamber before the bill is introduced at the forthcoming session of Congress.

Houston R. Harper made the motion opposing the proposed bill. It was carried without debate.

Rudolph Jose, chairman of the committee on District finance, pointed out that an emergency call of the committee had been issued because of the announcement of Representative Frederick Zihlman, of Maryland, that he intended to introduce a bill at the extra session of Congress providing for an increase of the gasoline taxes in the District. Mr. Zihlman is chairman of the House District committee.

Mr. Jose and other members of the chamber committee described Mr. Zihlman's efforts to increase the tax as not intended only to benefit the parks of the District, as the Maryland representative claims, but also to lessen competition between gasoline dealers of Maryland and those in the District.

Mr. Zihlman, in his announcement that he would introduce the bill, proposed that one-sixth of the increased taxation should go toward the maintenance and improvement of parks in the District. Members of the chamber committee believe that even if this were Mr. Zihlman's sole intention he was thinking of the benefit that would be derived from District parks that would be extended into Maryland.

The District finance committee, in addition to taking this action, decided to investigate license fees in the District.

U. S. SENDING FORCE OF 1,500 TO BORDER

FEDERALS ENTER JUAREZ

San Antonio, Tex., April 10 (A.P.).—Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, commander of the Eighth Corps Area of the Army, late today ordered a regiment of infantry from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., to Bisbee, Ariz., and the remainder of the Seventh Cavalry, reinforced by a battalion of field artillery from Fort Bliss, Tex., to Hachita, N. Mex.

Gen. Lassiter said the additional troops were being sent to the border in anticipation of any trouble that may arise along the Arizona line as the result of the retreat of the Mexican rebel forces into the State of Sonora.

Approximately 1,500 men are included in the movements. They will reinforce the commands stationed at Fort Huachuca and other border points in Arizona and an air force of eighteen attack and observation planes that were ordered from San Antonio and Galveston to Fort Huachuca last week.

It is the largest movement of American troops so far resulting from the conflict along the Mexican side of the international border.

Gen. Lassiter did not announce which regiment of Infantry would be ordered to Bisbee.

Two regiments, the First and Twentieth Infantry, were transferred from Fort Sam Houston to Fort D. A. Russell two years ago to relieve poor housing conditions at the Army post here.

Gen. Lassiter's statement follows:

"Information as to the Mexican situation indicates that the weight of the contending forces in Sonora may be greatly increased in the near future. With this increased number of con-

Hoover May Hear Opera on April 18

President Hopes to Attend Metropolitan Company's Double Bill.

Announcement by the Metropolitan Opera committee of Washington was made last night that due to stress of public business President Hoover will not be able to attend the first performance of the opera season, but they were informed yesterday by the White House that unless something unforeseen in the way of affairs of state intervenes, the President hopes to accompany Mrs. Hoover the second evening, April 18, for a short time.

The program for that evening is a double bill, with "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci." It is in "Cavalleria Rusticana" that a famous fellow Californian of the President's will sing. This is Lawrence Tibbett. Among other stars for that evening are Rosa Ponselle, Edward Johnson, great Canadian tenor; Editha Fleischer, Armand Tokatyan and Giuseppe Danise.

LINDBERGH IS FLYING HERE, WIRE REVEALS

Telegram Asks Hotel Room in Washington This Week; May Aid Airport.

SITE STILL IS UNDECIDED

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose whereabouts caused anxiety until he landed at Brownsville, Tex., yesterday, is on his way to Washington, it was learned last night.

The flier, it was stated, has wired to Clem W. Gerson, manager of the Carlton Hotel, asking that reservations be made for him for the "middle of the week," so it is expected that he will arrive here either today or tomorrow.

Notified of Lindbergh's coming last night by The Washington Post, Representative Zihlman, of Maryland, announced he would request the flier to appear before the congressional commission that is considering legislation for a municipal airport for Washington. Zihlman is acting chairman of the commission in the absence of Senator Bingham, of Connecticut.

"The commission," Zihlman said, "is anxious to get the best possible information about the construction, location and operation of an airport. I feel that the views of Col. Lindbergh would be of great value, and, therefore, I propose to ask him to appear before us."

Senator Bingham, who is chairman of the commission, left for Connecticut after the two-day hearing ended Tuesday, but he announced before he left that subsequent hearings would be held if experts like Lindbergh could be induced to testify.

With Lindbergh believed to be on his way to Washington, Maj. Thomas Lanphier, it is understood, is preparing to come here from Detroit, where he has been attending the aircraft show. Evidently the two plan to discuss the opening on July 1 of the Transcontinental Air Transport Co., with which both are connected.

Col. Lindbergh is largely to thank for the fact that the Washington airport movement has progressed to its present stage. Although there had

REPLY IN I'M ALONE CASE DUE IN 2 DAYS

U. S. Will Try to Conciliate Canada; Stimson to Make Notes Public Then.

BORAH IS KEPT INFORMED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

America's reply to the Canadian government's protest over the sinking of the British-Canadian schooner I'm Alone will be ready within the next 48 hours and Secretary of State Stimson then will make public both the Canadian protest and the American explanation of the incident which threatens to disturb harmonious relations.

In view of the circumstances, the communication from Canada is regarded here as couched in restrained and courteous language and Mr. Stimson expressed regret yesterday that the note had been described as truculent in tone by one newspaper. The American reply will be calculated to keep the discussion on an amicable and courteous basis.

Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, will be provided with copies of the correspondence and the State Department will keep the Senate committee advised of developments, especially as the interpretation of the rum-smuggling treaty ratified by the Senate will be involved in the controversy between the two governments.

Officials here hope to avoid extended discussion of the alleged violation of humane conduct involved in the sinking of the Canadian ship by gunfire 200 miles off shore on the high seas under circumstances where loss of lives among the defenseless crew appeared certain to follow in the wake of attack.

The Canadian government does not admit America's right to enforce prohibition regulations on the high seas against Canadian vessels by means of gunfire and it is not expected that the American reply will claim any such right in the future.

This aspect of the case coincides in point of time with anticipated representations from the Norwegain government against the recent shower of

Reporter, on Death Story, Finds Victim Is His Brother

Bert Cohen, Newspaper Man, Identifies Lad Killed by Truck as Kin.

Police reporters see the seamy side of life in the course of carrying out their duties—violence, crime and accidents—but it is seldom that one goes to the morgue and identifies the body of a boy awaiting identification as his brother.

This happened in Washington yesterday. Irving Cohen, 11 years old, 407 K street northwest, was almost instantly killed at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he attempted to board a moving automobile truck at Sixth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest.

Bert Cohen, police reporter for the Washington Herald, called the District coroner's office and learned about 6 o'clock that a young boy, then unidentified, had been struck and killed

New "Blacklist" Charges Loom for D. A. R. Congress

Mrs. Helen Tufts Bailie, Expelled in Previous Controversy, Will Seek Reinstatement and Renew Her Attack Despite Repeated Official Denials of Allegations.

Mrs. Helen Tufts Bailie, of Cambridge, Mass., expelled last June by the Daughters of the American Revolution for exposing the "blacklist" distributed among the Massachusetts chapters, will seek reinstatement in the organization when its annual congress meets here Monday.

It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Bailie will, at the same time, reiterate her charges of blacklisting prominent educators, liberals, writers, and leaders of movements ranging from the mildly progressive to the most radical.

With the aid of an attorney, Mrs. Bailie has prepared a statement to show that the D. A. R. blacklisting has continued up to the present, despite the repeated official denials that such a "blacklist" ever existed. Fred Marvin, of the "Key Men of America," said to have furnished the Massachusetts State committee of national defense of the D. A. R. with the names of those who should be blacklisted, is still "on the job," Mrs. Bailie charges, with the full consent and approval of Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, of Connecticut, president general of the D. A. R.

Mrs. Bailie's application for reinstatement in the D. A. R. is expected to precipitate the whole [illegible] again.

"ESME HOWARD."

Hostesses in Dilemma.

Since Secretary Stimson announced in his letter to the corps that the State Department has no authority to determine questions relating to social precedence among American officials, and that he will no longer allow the department to rule along these lines, the principal question among hostesses tonight was of just where they are now to appeal for arbitrary decisions on their social problems.

In view of the corps' ruling, Ambassador Davila, of Chile, who will be the first member of the Diplomatic Corps to entertain formally the Vice President and Mrs. Gann, will place the Vice President's sister in the position which otherwise would be accorded the wife of a ranking guest at his dinner to Chilean Finance Minister Ramirez at the Pan-American Union tonight.

The Vice President and Mrs. Gann and her husband will give a reception to the corps Friday night.

While Vice President Curtis yesterday declined to comment on the decision of the diplomats, he obviously was pleased by the outcome of the affair.

After making public his protest to Mr. Stimson against the Kellogg ruling, the Vice President and his sister have refused to discuss the situation. It was obvious to their friends, however, that the Curtis family believed the Kellogg order was uncalled for.

Curtis Asked No Ruling.

The Vice President has pointed out that he had not asked Mr. Kellogg nor the State Department for a decision on where his hostess should sit at official dinners and that he did not understand that Mr. Kellogg proposed to make a ruling after the State Department early in March asked him to inform it formally that Mrs. Gann was his hostess.

Upon receiving Mr. Kellogg's letter, the Vice President went to him to discuss the question, but before he could get to the State Department Mr. Kellogg had retired from office.

Polish Minister Hands Credentials to Hoover

(Associated Press.)

The new Minister of Poland, Tytus Filipowicz, presented his credentials to President Hoover yesterday and assured the President that his name is held in high esteem by every Pole because of the World War services.

The President in welcoming the minister said the American people cherish the friendship of the Polish nation and are happy to render to the Polish people their assistance, "to which the minister has been good enough to refer, a service in which it was my privilege and pleasure to participate."

Stirling Will Command Ninth Naval District

Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, jr., who has been in command of the Yangtze patrol for the past year, will be placed in command of the Ninth Naval District with headquarters at Great Lakes Training Station, Ill., after April 24, the Navy Department announced yesterday.

Admiral Stirling was formerly captain of the navy yard here. In January of 1928 he went with the Asiatic fleet, and in December of the same year he was made commander of the Yangtze patrol. His new duties call for him to be commanding officer at the Great Lakes Training Station. He entered the Navy in 1888.

Jersey Police Ordered To Keep Jail Locked

Pitsaboro, N. J., April 10 (A.P.).—The police department was ordered today to keep its jail doors locked and in future to admit none but those deserving jail surroundings.

The order was issued after the borough council investigated a bill of $171 for heating and lighting at the jail, despite a shortage of prisoners. It developed that "Eustace," a kind-hearted jail attendant, had left the doors unlocked and that tramps had wandered in and availed themselves of the town's hospitality.

Brown to Be Hoover's Envoy at Herrick Rites

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster General Brown has been requested to act as President Hoover's personal representative at the funeral ceremonies for Ambassador Herrick. Mr. Brown will go to New York late tomorrow night to meet the French cruiser which is bringing the body from France.

The Postmaster General had been a personal friend of the late ambassador for many years.

DAWES SELECTION HEARTENS G. O. P.

Party Leaders See President as Unprejudiced Against Kansas City Foes.

LOWDEN MAY GET OFFER

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The last vestiges of the struggle at the Republican national convention at Kansas City last June have been removed by the appointment of Charles G. Dawes as Ambassador to Great Britain, it was agreed in political circles yesterday.

Official announcement of Dawes' selection was made at the White House after word had been received that he was persona grata to the British government. Not only was it learned that he was persona grata, in fact but the reaction from abroad was that it was a most popular appointment. The White House had reason to believe, too, that it would meet with general favor in this country.

Politics, of course, did not influence President Hoover in naming him. It was Mr. Hoover's desire to get a man of Dawes' international reputation and ability for the post and his peculiar fitness is readily recognized at a time when international finances are so much to the fore.

But the fact that politics did not influence Mr. Hoover against the former Vice President was hailed as a happy sign of the future by Republican leaders. There could hardly be a better assurance that the President is holding no enmities.

Already there is a man of the preconvention opposition serving as Vice President, one as the Republican leader in the Senate and one as his Secretary of Agriculture. An optimist observed, after the appointment of Dawes, that it would not be surprising to see former Gov. Lowden bob up as head of the Federal Farm Board.

Of all those who were opposed to Hoover's candidacy, Dawes stood most to profit, and unless the picture of him in those preconvention days was woefully inaccurate, he was the most active. He was not, of course, a candidate, but as an avowed supporter of Lowden he contributed far more than lip service to the anti-Hoover cause. He is generally reputed, for one thing, to have furnished money to it.

Certainly, the Hoover lieutenants at Kansas City considered that Dawes in his quiet, enigmatic way, had been the one to give them the most trouble, and they were very firm in turning thumbs down on him for the Vice Presidency. Whether they did this with Mr. Hoover's approval has never been known.

But if Dawes was the most troublesome in the preconvention period, he was the most gracious when the convention was over. He appeared on the stage with Mr. Hoover at Madison Square Garden in New York and made a speech, and those who were running the New York campaign said that it was important to Mr. Hoover's fortunes that Dawes do these things. He did not make so many speeches in the campaign as a whole, but those that he did make were whole-hearted.

Cordial relations were always maintained between the two men even in those preconvention days when Senate investigators were asking Mr. Hoover exasperating questions which everybody around the Capitol snickered and avowed Mr. Dawes told them to ask.

Think Dawes Too Explosive.

His appointment now to the country's most important diplomatic post will further tend to relieve those politicians who are not yet certain of the new chief, it is believed. It should also be received favorably by those international banking interests who were afraid of Hoover and wanted Dawes instead.

It is only in the so-called progressive circles that criticism of the appointment is heard. It is contended in these circles that Dawes is not of the temperament to make a good diplomat; that he is too explosive, for one thing.

But although the Vice President was generally associated with the "hell and maria" and attack on the Senate incidents, he came to be known as quite conservative in the four years that he spent in Washington. The Outbursts, it was observed, were deliberate and designed and not the result of an ungovernable impulse.

Made Country Listen.

For example, when the congressional investigators were prying headlong into the conduct of the war and throwing men's reputations ruthlessly aside as they did so, the general realized that he did not have much chance to be heard. He was determined that when he did appear before the committee his testimony would not be lost sight of. He resorted to the "Hell and Maria" expletive and the country listened to what he had to say. The investigation petered out shortly thereafter, too.

Similarly, it was with a view not to being shelved that he delivered his attack upon the Senate in his inaugural speech. He was not shelved either, but remained very much in the public eye, a place he still occupies. Yet the senators got over the outburst in a few days and never looked upon him as radical any more. They liked him.

The White House has no fears that he will blow up at the Court of St. James. Even if he should it is believed he will do it in a way that will make the people over there like it.

Means a Lot in Europe.

He is not to take up his post until he has completed his private financial mission to Santo Domingo. This and a visit to Washington is expected to require about five weeks.

As ambassador to the Court of St. James he will inevitably be looked upon as sort of ambassador general of Europe. The name of Dawes means a lot over there.

Centrists in Germany Likely to Join Cabinet

Berlin, April 10 (A.P.).—Prospects for creation of a stable coalition government which would include the Centrists in addition to the parties at present represented in the cabinet were brighter tonight in spite of the flurries which made the government's resignation seem imminent yesterday.

The Centrist party this afternoon voted to support the government and it is confidently expected that the Social Democrats, the Democrats, the Peoples Party and the Bavarian Peoples Party, who now constitute the coalition, will decide similarly tomorrow.

It is believed that the Centrists will then reenter the cabinet, assuring a safe majority to Chancellor Mueller.

Citizens May Award Garden Prizes by Vote

Recommendation that the annual lawn and garden contest prizes will be awarded through nominations at the September meeting and voting at the October meeting was made to the American University Park Citizens Association at its meeting last night in Hurst Hall by Darrell Law, chairman of the contest committee. Final decision on the matter was left to the committee. If adopted, this will be a departure from the usual procedure of having judges award the prizes.

The association decided, upon learning that no date for a District clean-up week had been set, to have its own clean-up campaign April 22 to 29.

Mercury Drops Quickly To 10 Above Freezing

Displaying amazing agility, the mercury last night reached a low point of 10 degrees above freezing, a comparatively few hours after it had hovered near the record high point for April during four scorching days.

The top point reached on the thermometer yesterday was 58 degrees at noon. From then, throughout the afternoon, the temperature steadily dropped until it reached 42 shortly before midnight. Occasional rains will probably continue through today and tomorrow.

COOLIDGE AND SMITH GET INSURANCE JOBS

Both Chosen as Directors of Prominent Companies; Will Accept Posts.

LIFE WORK NOW DECIDED

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—A former President of the United States and a former candidate for that office today partly solved the problem of what their work shall be in private life.

Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the post of director of the New York Life Insurance Co. and will be elected at the May meeting of the board. Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the company, made public a letter in which the former President accepted the nomination, "believing that life insurance is the most effective instrumentality for the promotion of industry, saving and character ever devised."

An announcement from the Consolidated Indemnity & Insurance Co. said Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York and Democratic nominee for President last November, had been elected a director. The former governor recently was made a director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Kingsley said in a statement that Mr. Coolidge was the second former President of the country "to lend his name and influence to the promotion of life insurance as a form of social service." From 1905 until his death, in 1908, he said, Grover Cleveland acted as a trustee of the majority stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Co.

Mr. Coolidge has been a policyholder in the company he will now help to direct for 37 years, Mr. Kingsley said, and as a young lawyer in Massachusetts he performed some valuable service for it.

NEVER TOOK A DRINK, SAYS TEXAS GUINAN

Hostess Admits Night Club Guests Brought Bottles to the Salon Royale.

DENIES SHE SOLD RUM

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Texas Guinan, who started her twenty-year stage career as a vaudeville performer and star in the early movie Westerns and now is a night club hostess with a $1,000 a week guarantee, took the witness stand today to testify that if the Salon Royale is a nuisance, it is none of her doing.

Giving the crowd in the Federal courtroom, where she is on trial, the same broad smile with which she is accustomed to shout "Hello, sucker!" to the Salon Royale's patrons, Miss Guinan told of her part in the city's night life, intermittently sniffing at a bottle of perfumed salts.

"Have you ever sold any liquor in the Salon Royale?" her lawyer asked.

"I have never sold liquor in my entire life," she said.

"Did you ever take a drink?"

"I have never had a drink in my entire life."

"Did you know that liquor was sold there?"

"I did not."

"Looked Like Liquor."

"Did you ever see any liquor there?"

"Well, I saw what looked like liquor. People brought suitcases of liquor in and served it themselves."

Before the Government rested late today three prohibition agents testified to having bought champagne and whisky in the night club, although not from the hostess herself.

The last evidence offered by the prosecution had to do with the Guinan contract with the Salon Royale and the books of the night club. The contract showed that she was paid half of the net profits from all sources, with a guarantee of $1,000 a week, and the books revealed that her share occasionally mounted to almost $3,000 a week.

The first witness of the day, the second since the trial opened yesterday, was S. David Beazell, one of the quartet of Washington prohibition agents who gathered evidence all along Manhattan's primrose path a year ago and who were dubbed the "four horsemen" along Broadway.

Beazell said he was present when the Salon Royale, where Miss Guinan was hostess and chief entertainer, was raided last June. When the raiders came charging in, he said, he had a quart of champagne and a pint of whisky on his table that he had purchased in the place.

Didn't Pay for Liquor.

Under cross-examination by counsel for Miss Guinan the agent acknowledged that he had not yet paid for his liquor when the raid occurred and that in the excitement he "didn't get a chance to pay the check."

Beazell was followed on the stand by John D. Mitchell, another of the prohibition agents.

Mitchell said that Miss Guinan's duties at the night club seemed to be to act as master of ceremonies and to quiet patrons who kept "raring up" ever now and then. He told of her reprimanding a waiter for walking across the dance floor and said she threatened to "fire" him if he did it again. This last testimony bore on the Government's contention that Miss Guinan, if not the actual owner of the Salon Royale, was at least the directing spirit and so liable for infractions there. She classes herself as a mere employe under contract to perform "strictly legal" duties.

Mitchell said that drinking was rife every time he went to the Salon Royale.

Father Slain by Bandit; Son Killed as Thief

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Hugh Burns, son of a police sergeant who was killed by bandits ten years ago, died today from a bullet wound inflicted by Deputy United States Marshal Palmer Larson early today.

Larson told police he surprised Burns and two other men holding up a laundry truck driver. In an exchange of shots Larson also was wounded. The other two robbers escaped.

British Financier Weds Taft's Niece

Miss Anne Ingalls Becomes Mrs. R. E. L. Warburton in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 10 (A.P.).—Miss Anne Taft Ingalls, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Ingalls, of Cleveland, was married at noon today to Rupert E. L. Warburton, son of Mrs. Piers Warburton, of London, England. The wedding was solemnized in Grace Episcopal Church here. The new Mrs. Warburton is a grandniece of Chief Justice William Howard Taft and the sister of David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy in Charge of Aeronautics. Mrs. Warburton's father is assistant vice president of the New York Central Railroad.

Mr. Warburton comes from a family of British financiers. He was born in Philadelphia, but since has lived in England. The bridal couple will make their home in London after a wedding trip to Virginia Hot Springs.

Among those attending the bride at the wedding ceremony were Mrs. Walter Halle, matron of honor, and Miss Mary Tower, of Baltimore, maid of honor.

Capt. Eliot Warburton was best man. The Assistant Secretary of the Navy was one of the ushers.

STATE TO DROP CASE AGAINST DE PRIEST

Charges Linking Representative With Gambling Lack Evidence.

TO CLEAR WAY TO SEAT

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Charges of conspiracy linking Oscar De Priest, representative-elect of the First Illinois District, with the vice and gambling concessions of the South Side negro section are to be dropped for want of evidence.

The case against the colored political leader, pending since his indictment last fall by the special grand jury investigating election disorders and vice, gaming and liquor syndicates, was continued in criminal court today on motion of Frank J. Loesch, assistant State's attorney. He announced he would ask that the charges be nolle prossed Saturday.

"We feel that there is not sufficient evidence against De Priest to warrant our continuing with the prosecution," he said, adding that others indicted with De Priest would be prosecuted.

The decision apparently clears the way for De Priest to take the oath as representative of his district with the opening of Congress. There had been reports that his right would be challenged because of the indictment against him. De Priest is a former alderman, Illinois commerce commissioner and a follower of Mayor William Hale Thompson. Succeeding the late Representative Martin B. Madden, De Priest will become the first negro in the House of Representatives in a quarter century.

Repeal of Origins Law Is Demanded

Senator Wagner Declares Act Ignores Existence of This Nation.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Charging that the national origins sections of the immigration law denies the existence of an American Nation, Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), New York, tonight demanded the immediate repeal of that provision during the extra session of Congress. The section becomes effective July 1.

In a dinner discussion at Town Hall under the auspices of the conference on immigration policy, the senator said that foreign born were rapidly assimilating, and urged the Government "not to attempt to dragoon the immigrant into Americanizing."

The national origins law, he said, "to my mind is a dangerous and subversive piece of legislation because it writes into law the doctrine that American assimilation has never taken place and never can; that America never has been a Nation and never can become one."

Franco Soon to Start Flight Around World

Madrid, April 10 (U.P.).—Commander Ramon Franco, who flew from Spain to Buenos Aires in 1926, announced plans today for a flight around the world, starting late this month or the first week in May.

Franco will be accompanied by Capt. Ruiz de Alda, his companion on the 1926 flight, and Capt. Gallarza, according to present plans. The first stop would be scheduled at Palermo, Italy. Then the schedule would take the aviators through Asia, Indo-China, Japan, Alaska, Canada, San Francisco, New York, Nova Scotia and back to Spain. They would attempt to break the world's long-distance record at one stage during the flight.

Root Starts for United States.

Paris, April 10 (A.P.).—Elihu Root, noted American jurist, left Paris today by motor for Havre, where he will embark on the Ile de France tonight for the United States.

C. J. RHOADS CHOICE FOR INDIAN BUREAU

Philadelphia Banker Selected by Hoover for Post Often Under Fire.

ACCEPTANCE IS DELAYED

(Associated Press.)

After weeks of search President Hoover has found in Charles James Rhoads, of Philadelphia, the man he wants to administer the affairs of the Indian Bureau, which frequently has come under congressional fire in late years.

The widely known Philadelphia banker desires to serve, but is delaying a formal acceptance until he can make arrangements for leave with his partners in the banking firm of Brown Bros. & Co. and other enterprises.

Mr. Rhoads called on the President at the White House yesterday for a brief discussion of the situation. He was accompanied to the executive offices by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, under whom he would serve.

While having engaged in the banking business practically all of his life, Mr. Rhoads long has been interested in Indian affairs, an interest he shared with his father, James E. Rhoads. He is now president of the Indian Rights Association and also is an official of the American Academy of Political and Social Science and a member of the American Philosophical Society.

Mr. Rhoads would succeed Charles H. Burke, whose resignation was accepted some weeks ago, but who, President Hooyer has stated, will be given another appointment to a responsible position in the Federal Government at some later time.

Mr. Rhoads was born at Germantown, Philadelphia, 57 years ago, and was educated at the William Penn Charter School, of which he now is overseer, and Haverford College. He is a member of the board of managers of that institution.

During the World War Mr. Rhoads saw service in France as chairman of the Y. M. C. A. War Prisoners Aid and chief of the Friends Bureau of the American Red Cross for relief and reconstruction work in devastated France.

He is a trustee and director of Bryn Mawr College and trustee of the American Scandinavian Foundation. He is an orthodox Quaker.

Hubler, Once U. S. Attorney, Indicted

Four Charges of Narcotic Law Violations Are Made in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 10 (A.P.).—Former United States Assistant District Attorney R. A. Hubler was named in four counts of an indictment returned by a Federal grand jury here today in connection with violations of the Harrison antinarcotic act.

Hubler now is in jail here. He was arrested some time after he resigned as assistant district attorney for the Southern District of Florida. His prosecution was directed by Louis Joel, who succeeded Hubler as assistant district attorney in 1926 after Hubler had held office for a few months.

Government agents said arrest of Hubler and two others, also expected to be indicted, broke up one of the largest illicit drug rings in the State.

W. J. McAneeny Heads Hudson Motor Firm

Detroit, Mich., April 10 (A.P.).—William J. McAneeny today was elected president and general manager of the Hudson Motor Car Co., to succeed Roscoe B. Jackson, who died March 19 in Mentone, France. Mr. McAneeny has been connected with the company since its organization in 1909 and been first vice president and treasurer since 1923.

J. H. Whittaker was named first vice president and assistant general manager, and A. Barit, vice president and treasurer. The following were named directors: Courtney Johnson, general sales manager; Stuart G. Baits, chief engineer, and R. H. Webber, president of the J. L. Hudson Co., of Detroit.

Col. T. E. Lawrence Sent to Plymouth

"Uncrowned King of Arabia" Takes His Turn at Scrubbing Floors.

Plymouth, England, April 10 (A.P.).—Col. T. E. Lawrence, famed as "the uncrowned King of Arabia," has been attached to the Cattewater Royal Air Force station here.

The man who held the Arabian world in his hand during the war is taking turns with his comrades as an ordinary private scrubbing floors and making beds in their barracks.

Lawrence recently was transferred for diplomatic reasons from the air force on the northwest frontier of India and arrived in England surrounded by much secrecy. Lawrence, who has adopted the name of Shaw, worked for several weeks here before the contingent of 150 men discovered who he was. He has stipulated that in conversation with his colleagues the names Lawrence and Arabia are barred.

Pyramid Promoter, 77, to Wed Again

W. H. "Coin" Harvey Awaits Divorce Before Marrying Secretary, 59.

Springfield, Mo., April 10 (A.P.).—The Springfield Leader today says that William H. (Coin) Harvey, 77-year-old author and promoter of a pyramid to preserve the records of a "vanishing civilization," plans to be married within a few weeks to Mrs. Mae Leake, who for 28 years has been his secretary, nurse and counselor. She is 59 years old.

The newspaper says Harvey expects to obtain a default divorce decree this week at Bentonville, Ark., from his present wife, Mrs. Anna H. Harvey, a resident of Huntington, W. Va. Harvey instituted the divorce action some time ago and his wife has not filed an answer.

Harvey is promoter of a pyramid near his home, in which he hopes to preserve records of the present civilization, which, he once said, is doomed to destruction because of "suicides, insannity, tenantry and divorces." The pyramid now is being built.

2 Churches Bar Marriage Of King Boris and Princess

Vatican's Conditions Found to Be Unacceptable to Bulgarian State Religious Heads; Bachelor Monarch May Seek Hand of Romanoff Grand Duchess.

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 10 (A.P.).—Religious obstacles, it was learned today, seemed destined to wreck the proposed marriage of King Boris and Princess Giovanna of Italy. It was stated that both the Vatican and the Bulgarian Orthodox Church declined to yield.

According to information in diplomatic circles, the Pope refused to grant the Italian princess a dispensation to marry King Boris unless offspring of the union were reared in the Catholic faith. This would be inadmissible under the Bulgarian constitution, which stipulates that the heir to the throne must be a member of the Orthodox Church.

It was also rumored that the Vatican, as a condition precedent to giving assent to the alliance, demanded the establishment of a papal nuncio in Sofia and the appointment by Rome of a number of Catholic bishops in Bulgaria. It was said that the Bulgarian government considered these conditions inacceptable.

Premier Mussolini was reported as favoring the alliance, even without the granting of the Vatican conditions, but it was also said that King Boris now had abandoned his intention to visit Rome because of the seeming impossibility of harmonizing the divergent views of the two churches.

Talk now has arisen here of a possible alliance between the king and the Grand Duchess Kira Vladimirovitch, 19-year-old daughter of Grand Duke Cyril. She recently has been recognized as head of the Romanoff family by a considerable section of Russian royalists.

FOUR DIE IN CRASH OF MEXICAN PLANE

Craft Dives to Earth at Tampico When Motor Fails at 300 Feet.

AMERICANS ARE VICTIMS

Tampico, Mexico, April 10 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed when an airplane of the Mexican Aviation Co. crashed a short distance from the airport here while en route to Brownsville. A fifth person in the plane was seriously injured.

The dead were: Dennis Taylor, pilot; Blaine N. Newcon, aviator; who was flying as a passenger; J. A. Fernandez, and Farrel A. Frazer, two other passengers. The injured man was J. Robinson, the fifth passenger.

The crash came when the motor of the plane failed while at a height of 300 feet. Taylor made an effort to land the plane but he could not control its rapid dash to earth.

Mexico City, April 10 (A.P.).—Advices to the Mexican Aviation Co. headquarters here gave little fresh information on the airplane crash at Tampico. They stated that the accident occurred just after the machine had taken off, the motor stopping when the plane was only 300 feet in the air.

It also was stated that Farrel A. Frazer was a widely known engineer who recently had changed his residence from Brownsville to New York. The passenger, Robinson, was described as a taxi-driver of Brownsville.

Mr. Frazer was employed by the Mineral Products Co., 120 Broadway, New Yor. He was superintendent of construction on the international bridge across the Rio Grande at Brownsville which was completed about a year ago. He was en route to Mexico City to visit his fiancee, Miss Grace Parkinson, of Houston, Tex.

Dennis Taylor, who was piloting the plane, and Blaine Newcomb, an aviator who was aboard the machine as a passenger, both worked as pilots for the Ford Co. at Detroit until recently. Newcomb came to Mexico a month ago and Taylor followed him a fortnight later.

Taylor has been flying in various parts of the United States for nine years. It was understood that his widow was at Brownsville.

Newcomb was a graduate of the Army Aviation School at Kelly Field, near San Antonio.

An official of the company will go to Tampico tomorrow to investigate the accident.

Haffa Abandons Fight Against Prison Term

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Titus A. Haffa, former alderman, has abandoned his efforts to avoid serving a two-year penitentiary sentence for violating the Federal prohibition laws. He said today he would surrender Monday.

Haffa's decision followed the appearance in court yesterday of Albert P. Bauer, Lincoln Park commissioner, charged with having participated in Haffa's liquor operations. Bauer pleaded guilty, and was fined $2,000 and placed on probation for two years. Besides the penitentiary sentence, Haffa was fined $11,000.

Lady Heath's Airplane Attains 115-Mile Speed

Detroit, April 10 (A.P.).—Lady Mary Heath, British woman flier, today piloted a light biplane over a 50-kilometer triangular course here at a speed slightly in excess of 115 miles an hour. Lady Heath made the flight as part of her campaign to obtain recognition of women's flying records.

U. S. TROOPS AND ARTILLERY ORDERED TO MEXICAN BORDER

testants in Sonora, the problem of affording protection to our side of the border, already difficult on account of the proximity of the American and Mexican towns to each other, becomes increasingly difficult.

"As a precautionary measure, to afford adequate protection to our border in possible emergency and to reassure the people of the border States, Gen. Lassiter, commanding the Eighth Corps Area, has ordered a regiment of infantry from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., for temperary duty at Bisbee, Ariz., a central location with respect to the Arizona border and from which any part of the border where the situation may prove beyond the power of the civil authorities can be readily reached.

Escobar on Trip.

"In addition, the remainder of the Seventh Cavalry, one squadron of which is now at Hachita, N. Mex., together with a battalion of field artillery, has been directed to proceed by marching from Fort Bliss, Tex., to Hachita. This is in the nature of a practice march, but this force will be in position to return to its proper station or continue into Arizona in accordance with the developments of the situation."

Agua Prieta, Sonora, April 10 (A.P.).—Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, commander in chief of the Mexican rebels, and Gens. Fausto Topete and Ramon Yucupicio left Agua Prieta at 12:30 p. m. today, driving by automobile in the direction of Nacos and Cananea.

It was believed here that the party was headed for Topete's troop train at Nimaoro, 34 miles southeast of Naco, Sonora. Escobar personally drove the car, which also carried his staff.

Juarez Resumes Gayety.

Juarez, Mexico, April 10 (United Press).—Juarez, under control of federal forces again, resumed its old air of gayety tonight following the peaceful surrender of the city by the revolutionaries today. The picturesque agarian force of 300 men under Col. Manuel Prieto, arriving from Guadalupe, marched through the streets this afternoon amid the cheers of the populace. Not a man in the Prieto force wore a uniform.

The turnover was without any sign of disorder. Gen. Juan Almazan, federal commander, had given orders that there should be "no shooting and no looting."

The gayety of the citizens was increased tonight when they saw federal troops back in the town's garrison and federal officials in charge of all the offices. Tourists filled the town to "see what had happened."

Col. Prieto's "army" was organized hastily yesterday, but its advance to Juarez was halted when United States Army officers warned that there must be no fighting in the city that would endanger American lives.

Almazan Sends Regulars.

Stopping all night at Guadalupe, Col. Prieto lost the honor of heading the first federal force into Juarez when Gen. Almazan hurried an advance guard north from his headquarters. Almazan's men took over the city early today. Formal surrender of the city was as unostentatious as the final evacuation Tuesday night by the rebel troops of Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, millionaire Governor of Chihuahua.

Gen. Maureno Martinez, rebel collector of the port, crippled with rheumatism, was seated in the customs house during the forenoon in a high wheel chair. Railway employes, telegraph operators, a few soldiers and numerous civilian employes, who lent official help to the revolt, were surrendered unconditionally.

All were ordered detained pending orders from President Gil at Mexico City. Some were permitted to remain at the customs house, others went to their homes on probation, while still others were placed in jail or under guard at military headquarters.

Police Chief Appointed.

Alberto Almeida, Chihuahua City mining man and former candidate for governor, was installed as mayor of Juarez. He appointed Jesus Molina chief of police. Molina reorganized the police force hastily, and in an hour the city was functioning as usual.

Augustin Gallo, rebel mayor and owner of several saloons, disappeared during the evacuation, but his property, valued at $60,000, will be confiscated by the federals. He was reported to be a refugee with his family in El Paso.

Salvador Ateca, rebel sympathizer and holder of the gambling and slot-machine concessions in Juarez, also was a refugee in El Paso. He owns the principal automobile agency in Juarez and took most of his cars across the border, but property valued at $100,000 was seized by the federal government. Ateca is reputed to have made $3,000,000 from his concessions in the last two years.

It really was homecoming day in Juarez. Faces that had become familiar during the last 30 days, since the largest town on the northern border was wrested from federal hands, disappeared overnight.

Former officials who remained loyal to the central government and who have been refugees in El Paso, once more walked the streets, preparing to take up their work where they left off when the rebels came.

Tonight business, except gambling, was normal in Juarez. Tourists were craning their necks, bartenders were polishing glasses and the cocheros, or cab drivers, who have replaced taxi drivers impressed into the transport service by the rebel troops fleeing toward Sonora, were waxing fat for the first time since the taxis relegated them to side streets.

Escobar Near Naco.

Naco, Ariz., April 10 (A.P.).—The Arizona border held the spotlight in the Mexican revolutionary situation tonight as the United States Army began the movement of additional troops to the international boundary to protect American lives and property during what may prove the final chapter of the rebellion.

Rebel forces were gathering in Sonora apparently in preparation for a final stand against the government armies closing in from Chihuahua to the east, and from Sinaloa to the south. The military developments threatened a possible new rebel attack on Naco, Sonora, across the line from here, which has been held by federal troops against assaults of the forces of Gen. Fausto Topete.

Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, commander in chief of the rebels, conferred today at Agua Prieta, Sonora, east of here, with Gen. Topete and Gen. Ramon Yucupicio and left by automobile in the direction of the rebels camp in front of Naco. The rebel leaders would not reveal whether an attack on Naco was planned, but military strategists pointed out that as long as the city remains in federal hands, it will constitute a serious threat to the rebels even if they intend to wage purely a defensive campaign in Sonora.

Col. J. F. Pomeroy, adjutant general of the Arizona National Guard, announced at Phoenix that he would come here tomorrow, saying he believed the rebels again would attempt to capture Naco and that he wished to see Arizona's interests protected.

Gen. Lucas Gonzalez, commander of the Naco garrison, said that, while he expected a renewal of the assault, he believed his troops could withstand the concerted drive of the rebel army.

Calles' Victory Predicted.

Mexico City, April 10 (A.P.).—Government circles tonight predicted that within two weeks the military revolution would be definitely quashed. They based this prophecy on the manner in which the plans of Gen. P. Elias Calles are working out.

The State of Chihuahua was rapidly being abandoned by the insurgents today while on the west coast the rebel forces were nearing the border of Sonora in their retirement northward. Hence the military problem has been reduced, practically to the State of Sonora and strong federal armies are drawing in on it from two sides.

The official communique issued at the presidency mentioned only one major development for today. This was the unconditional surrender of the rebel garrison at Juarez.

Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, commanding the army of the north, was busy in Chihuahua City arranging for the resumption of railroad traffic with the capital. Administration of the state was taken over by Luis L. Leon, who was named provisional governor to succeed Marcelo Caraveo who had espoused the rebel cause.

U. S. Destroys Liquors For Gen. Escobar's Staff

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Twenty-four quarts of assorted liquors and eight one-gallon demijohns of rum intended for the staff of the Mexican revolutionary leader, Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, were poured into the East River tonight by customs agents.

The liquors were seized from Avrelio Orbe, a Cuban, who said he had intended sending the liquor to his brother, a member of Escobar's staff, to help him and the other officers "keep their courage up." It was found in his trunk when he landed from the Ward liner Mexico, from Havana.

Orbe was so earnest in his belief that the United States would not object to his taking the liquor through to Mexico that the customary fine of $5 a bottle was not levied.

REBELS SENTENCE 2 AMERICANS TO DIE

Boasts of Being Federal Aviators Bring Two Men Near Firing Squad.

NEARLY STARVE IN JAIL

El Paso, Tex., April 10 (A.P.).—A tale of near starvation in a filthy Mexican prison, while a rebel mob outside clamored for their lives, a sentence of death and then a pardon was told by one of two Americans who were released in Juarez today after the federal forces had retaken that city. The Americans were abducted recently by insurgents.

S. E. Gilbert, 25, oil company employe, of Eastland, Tex., told the story after he arrived here, bedraggled and dirty, from a ten-day involuntary sojourn in the heart of the rebel territory with his companion, whose boast of his prowess as an aviator nearly cost both men's lives. Gilbert said he lost track of his comrade, known to him only as Butler, soon after they were released today.

En route from Eastland to El Paso by automobile for an Easter holiday Gilbert picked up Butler, he said, and together they went to Juarez on Easter night. There they met a Dr. Kay, who learned Butler had been flying for the rebels.

Lured by Mystery Man.

Having invited them to spend the night in his quarters in the Hotel Rio Bravo, since the International Bridge was closed, this mysterious Dr. Kay took them riding in his car, driven by a rebel army officer, Gilbert said. But instead of heading toward El Paso the car sped south.

"For about 40 miles," Gilbert said, "we chased a train and when we caught up with it we were placed aboard and put in the caboose under heavy guard. That's where our serious trouble started.

"It seemed as if Butler could not stop talking about flying for the federals. He told some of the officers we had flown a federal plane over Jimenez and had landed inside the rebel lines. It happened that a few days before a federal plane had bomoed Jimenez and a woman and a child were killed. The rebels decided we were the aviators who had done it. On Thursday we were informed we had been sentenced to death and were to be shot at sunrise Friday. Our arms were bound behind our backs with wire."

Gilbert exhibited scars above the elbows on both arms, which he said were caused by the wire. The two Americans were saved from their predicament by the intercession of Robert Swain, of El Paso, a member of Gen. Escobar's staff, Gilbert said.

"I told him it was all a mistake and wrote down on a piece of paper the places I had been in the last year. When Swain returned after a conference with Gen. Escobar he said the revolutionary commander in chief had said our sentence was not effective.

Mob Yells for Lives.

"About this time a mob assembled outside the caboose, where we were still held, and called for our lives. Swain came back and increased our guard. Butler called for a priest and swore he had been lying about being a federal aviator."

After the rebel commander pardoned them, Gilbert said the two men were brought to Juarez and held in a dark prison before they were released today.

"I don't know what became of Butler," Gilbert said. "We were released together, but in my desire to get on this side of the international border I lost track of him. I heard some rebel officers talking about the mysterious Dr. Kay being killed somewhere south of Chihuahua City last week."

Before his eventful trip Gilbert weighed 165 pounds, he said. Today he looked as if he might weigh a scant 140.

"I had exactly four and one-half tortillas, half an apple and half an orange in the ten days they held me," Gilbert said, "but the worst of it was being sentenced to death. We had a close call, and it all came about from my chance companion's boasting."

Police Chief Appointed.

Alberto Almeida, Chihuahua City mining man and former candidate for governor, was installed as mayor of Juarez. He appointed Jesus Molina chief of police. Molina reorganized the police force hastily, and in an hour the city was functioning as usual.

Augustin Gallo, rebel mayor and owner of several saloons, disappeared during the evacuation, but his property, valued at $60,000, will be confiscated by the federals. He was reported to be a refugee with his family in El Paso.

Lopez, Guatemala Flier, Wrecks Aero in Mexico

Mexico City, April 10 (A.P.).—Lieut. Col. Oscar Morales Lopez, Guatemalan aviator who plans a flight from Mexico City to Guatemala City, damaged his plane this morning in a second attempt to take off for Guatemala.

Col. Lopez, who was unhurt, announced that the plane would be repaired and that he would make another attempt to get away tomorrow.

Missing Girl Hunt Is Ended in Miami

Rosamond Morse, 17-Year-Old Brookline Miss, Returning Home.

Brookline, Mass., April 10 (A.P.).—Rosamond Morse, 17-year-old daughter of a wealthy Brookline family, who had been missing three months, has been located in Miami, Fla., her father announced today.

The girl was found through publication of her picture in a Miami newspaper. A person who saw her in a Miami Hotel recognized her from the photograph and telephoned the information to her father.

Rosamond expressed sorrow for the worry and suffering she had caused her parents, but offered no reason for her disappearance. She started for home today, accompanied by a detective.

The girl's father said he was convinced she went to Florida alone and unaided and that he regarded her trip as "the whim of a school girl."

FACES ARREST

SIDNEY J. CATTS, SR.

FORMER GOV. CATTS' ARREST IMMINENT

Capias Issued on Accusation of Abetting Counterfeit Plot in Florida.

"FRAME-UP," HE CLAIMS

Pensacola, Fla., April 10 (A.P.).—A capias for the arrest of former Gov. Sidney J. Catts of Florida on charges of aiding and abetting an alleged counterfeiting ring was en route here tonight for service by the Federal marshal of the Northern District of Florida.

Meanwhile, from his home at De Funiak Springs, about 40 miles east of here, the picturesque wartime Governor of Florida and Baptist minister, branded the indictment, returned by a Federal grand jury at Jacksonville yesterday, the result of a "frame-up."

Warrant to Be Served Today.

Service of the warrant was expected to be made at De Funiak Springs tomorrow morning unless Catts decides to come here and surrender himself. He would make no statement about his plans tonight.

"It's all a frame-up, that's all it is," the aged former governor said to a newspaper reporter who awoke him at his home this morning to break the first news of the indictment. "They've been trying to get me all along," Catts added, as the reporter, at his request, because he has lost the sight of one eye, read to him the story of the charges.

Charged With Aiding Scheme.

Catts was indicted for aiding and abetting Julian Diaz, Tampa attorney; Mateo Mir, Armando Dominguez and Madeline Leah Burwell, all of Tampa, in a scheme which Government agents said was intended to make millions in manufacture and circulation of spurious $20 bank notes. They charged Catts with having furnished $5,000 to Diaz to partly finance the operations, for which the former governor was to receive $25,000 in the fake notes for himself.

Although persistently asserting he would make no statement, Catts told the reporter today that "Diaz and those fellows had been trying to 'frame' him for some time.

"They've tried to get me nineteen times before," he said. "You say the bond is $17,500? Well, I can raise a million-dollar bond if necessary." He declared Diaz sought to "frame" him because "I wouldn't let him have any money."

Star Witness in Rum Battle Is Found Dead

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., April 10 (A.P.).—The decomposed body of Bill Bortolini, missing star witness in the investigation of the slaying of Pat Halferty in a rum runners-hijackers battle on New River here last October, was found today on the beach at Floranada.

Bortolini was to have been questioned at a hearing for Ted Merrill, brought here March 15 from Oklahoma in connection with Halferty's death. He disappeared the day before Merrill reached here in custody of officers. Police believe that Bortolini was "taken for a ride" by rum runners. Merrill was discharged for lack of evidence after Bortolini's disappearance.

Tennessee County Forbids Married Men as Teachers

Woman Member of Board, When Rule Is Adopted Ousting Feminine Instructors Who Are Married, Insists It Apply to Both Sexes.

Knoxville, April 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Down here in the hills of East Tennessee, where the evolutionary war between William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow took place, a woman has won a fight to prohibit married men from teaching in the elementary schools of her county.

Several counties of this section refuse to let married women teach, but this is the first time that the ban was applied to married men.

The new mandate, which permits only bachelors and maids, young and old, to instruct rural children in the three R's and kindred subjects, was issued at a session of the Monroe County Board of Education. A resolution had first been introduced to employ no married women in the schools next year. Mrs. Carrie Fain the only woman member of the board, insisted the resolution should apply to married men also. Two men had supported the resolution and two others opposed it. The two who favored the resolution agreed to Mrs. Fain's amendment, and with her vote it was passed.

Five married men and nineteen women already have lost their jobs under the new ruling, Superintendent J. Parks said.

HARDY GIVEN CHECK AS FEE, BOOKS SHOW

EVIDENCE BARS LOWERED

Sacramento, Calif., April 10 (A.P.).—Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy, on trial before the Senate court of impeachment, today heard items read from the ledger of Aimee Semple McPherson's Los Angeles temple purporting to show that he, along with a minister, vegetable men, attorneys, detectives and a singer was paid from the "legal and defense" fund of the temple.

The assembly prosecutors of the jurist are attempting to prove that a $2,500 check he received from Mrs. McPherson was a "fee" paid by the evangelist for Judge Hardy's aid and advice during the time her "kidnaping" case was before the Los Angeles grand jury, about three years ago. The grand jury inquired into charges that Mrs. McPherson, instead of being held in Mexico by kidnapers, as she claimed, in reality was visiting the artists' colony at Carmel, Calif., with her temple radio operator, Kenneth Ormiston.

After the Senate today had voted to "let down the bars on all evidence connected with the kidnaping" case, J. W. Arthur, bookkeeper of the Angelus Temple, read from the temple ledger items listed under "legal and defense" fund. The $2,500 given to Judge Hardy was among them.

The ledger also showed that a Mrs. M. Eisenberger, a singer known as Mrs. McPherson's double, received a check for $35; that private detectives were paid from this fund; that two attorneys, Arthur Veitch and L. W. Hamner, received checks totaling $2,500, and that James E. Howard, a minister of Douglas, Ariz., was paid $150.

Asked as to the minister's connection with the case, Arthur replied:

"He was searching for the shack."

Mrs. McPherson, in her story of the "kidnaping," had told of being held by abductors in a "shack" in Mexico just across the border from Douglas, Ariz.

Plans to bring Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff from Seattle to testify at the trial were discussed by the impeachment managers today. It was agreed she could not be subpenaed out of the State and that she could appear only as a voluntary witness. Her testimony, it was said, might be sensational.

Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff figured prominently as the mysterious "Madame X" in the McPherson investigation by the grand jury. She allegedly admitted that it was she, and not the evangelist, who was on the romantic Carmel visit with Ormiston. Located in Seattle, Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff is reported to have said she would come to Sacramento and testify against Hardy.

Indian Girl and Kin Tilt on Leadership

Uncle Opposes Alice Oshkosh for Chieftain of Winnebago Tribe.

Green Bay, Wis., April 10 (A.P.).—The dispute between Alice Oshkosh and her uncle, Reginald Oshkosh, over the chieftainship of the Winnebago Indian tribe today was characterized as a mere family quarrel by W. B. Beyer, Indian agent at Keshena.

Upon the death of her father, Ernest, Alice assumed the title of princess and claimed the chieftainship of the tribe. Reginald Oshkosh claimed the girl's mother had misled the public to further her daughter's interests. He also declared the girl could not rule the tribe because she was not a full-blooded Indian.

Meanwhile, Alice Oshkosh is going ahead with her plans. In a recent speech she advocated Indian ownership of lands instead of Government trusteeship. She intends to study law in order to help her people, she said.

Berg-Hunting Ship Aids Fishing Fleet

U. S. Cutter Tampa Gives Medical Assistance to French Sailors.

Aboard the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Tampa, April 10 (By Radio to the Associated Press).—The Tampa was afforded the opportunity of varying its humanitarian task of safeguarding the North Atlantic shipping lanes through a chance encounter, east of the Grand Banks, with the French fishing fleet out of St. Malo.

Several members of the crews of three of the French ships were ill or injured and officers and men of the Tampa temporarily halted their search for icebergs to give them medical assistance as well as other aid.

The St. Malo fleet has been on the Atlantic more than a month but has not yet reached the fishing grounds. The French hospital ship, which customarily pays the fleet a visit, is not due for at least another 30 days.

Cuts His Own Throat And So Saves His Life

Copenhagen, April 10 (A.P.).—Anders Hansen, elderly mechanic, cut his own throat to save his life today. Hansen was found with a gaping wound in his throat and was taken to a hospital. When he had been treated and was able to tell his story, he related that he had swallowed a piece of breadcrust the wrong way and was choking to death.

Deciding that he must apply heroic remedies, he drew his pocketknife and made an incision right under the spot where he felt the bulging crust to give himself air. His drastic surgery saved his life. Physicians congratulated him on his luck in avoiding big arteries in the throat, but said they would not recommend his method for general use in such cases.

MICHAELSON CASE PROSECUTOR QUITS

U. S. Attorney in Florida Says Dry Indictment Did Not Prompt Resignation.

CITES POLITICAL REASONS

Jacksonville, Fla., April 10 (A.P.).—William A. Gober, United States attorney for the Southern District of Florida, today confirmed a report that he had tendered his resignation to the Attorney General at Washington, effective when the latter may desire.

In a formel statement tonight, Gober declared the case of Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson, of Chicago, indicted in his district on charges of violating the prohibition laws, had nothng to do with his resignation.

The nearly six months' delay in public announcement of Michaelson's indictment recently brought Gober into the limelight because he had refused to confirm reports of the indictment when questioned four months before the charges were made public.

"The Michaelson case came into the district attorney's office in the usual course of business from the prohibition department," Gober's statement said. "Before action was taken, it was submitted to the Department of Justice at Washington which instructed the district attorney's office to let the case take the usual course.

"It was then referred to W. P. Hughes, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition cases. Hughes presented it to the grand jury which returned the indictment.

"The case took the ordinary course in removal proceedings of Michaelson. There is nothing in connection with the case out of ordinary and the Michaelson case had nothing to do with my resignation.

"Until a case is disposed of in the United States court it is highly improper for a Government official to comment on it."

Regarding his resignation, Gober said, "The only statement I have to make now is that several months ago I announced that under no condition would I seek reappointment as district attorney," and added, "because the political differences of the Republican party in the State an understanding was had that my resignation would be for the best interests of all concerned."

DEATH TOLL NEARS 50 IN ARKANSAS STORM

and a church also was carried away by the storm at Diaz.

Police at Newport received a report that one man was injured at Moorfield, near Batesville, and was taken to a Batesville hospital.

Wrecked Building in Flames.

Springfield, Mo., April 10 (A.P.).—The Missouri Pacific agent at Aurora, Mo., tonight reported that the town of Guion, Ark., about 21 miles north of Batesville, was virtually destroyed, with no loss of life. Between 15 and 20 were injured, however, most of whom were taken by a freight train to Batesville.

The railroad agent also had an unverified report that the town of Moorfield, Ark., was destroyed.

The freight train crew, who removed the injured from Guion reported they stopped at the town of 600 about an hour after the storm struck at 5:15 o'clock, finding all houses and buildings demolished. The railroad station had been overturned and then caught fire, the crew said.

Memphis Hears of Deaths.

Memphis, Tenn., April 10 (A.P.).—The Altman Mercantile Co., an undertaking establishment at Swifton, Ark., reported by telephone at 10:30 o'clock tonight that possibly 40 persons were killed by the deadly tornado that swept an area between Swifton and Alicia early tonight.

It was stated that an all-night effort would be necessary to care for the victims and that an accurate check would be impossible before morning.

Other reports of damage reached here through the Missouri Pacific dispatcher's office, where it was reported that two negroes were killed when a stave mill was demolished at Parkin, and that communication was cut out between Parkin and Wynne.

Blackwell, Okla., April 10 (A.P.).—A terrific wind and hail storm caused property damage estimated at $500,000 and injured at least six persons here last night. The wind unroofed buildings and crushed at least ten residences.

REPORTER IDENTIFIES DEAD BOY AS BROTHER

by an automobile and that the body was at the morgue.

After supper last night Cohen went out on an assignment for his office and perhaps did not give another thought to the body at the morgue until he called his mother when he returned to his office and learned the little brother was missing from home.

He suggested his mother notify the police and furnish them with a description of Irving, which she did. The description tallied with that of the boy at the morgue. "Brown hair and eyes, olive skin," and so on. Bert Cohen went to the morgue and found the boy was Irving.

The truck which young Cohen tried to climb on was operated by Fordyce Leslie Thwing, 21 years old, 13 Wilson avenue, Colmar Manor, Md. The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at the Sibley Hospital by Dr. William A. Ryan. Thwing was released in the custody of his attorney pending the outcome of the inquest, which Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt has scheduled for 11:30 o'clock this morning.

In addition to his brother, Bert, Irving Cohen is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Cohen, and by three sisters, Mary, Frances and Eunice Cohen. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

LAWMAKER DEMANDS STOCK LOSS REFUND

stock in complete ignorance of the business it represented, and that when he discovered the nature of this business he unloaded, although this action caused him, in Wall street parlance, to "take a beating."

Hiram Walker is not the only stock listed of companies that manufacture liquor, and should Representative Dyer prove to be correct in his assertion that such stocks are illegally listed, both the Curb Market and the "Big Board" would have to change their ways.

National Distillers Corporation, which used to be the United States Food Products; the United States Industrial Alcohol Co., which has a distillery in Cuba, and the Fleishman Yeast concern, which makes beer in Canada, all are listed on both the curb and the stock market.

Representative Dyer voted against the eighteenth amendment, against the Volstead law and against passage of the Volstead law over a presidential veto. He also opposed the recent Jones law, which makes certain prohibition violations felonies with maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

JONES REGRETS MEN IN CONGRESS DRINK

New Dry Law Author Says Imbibers Are Fewer and Are on Decrease.

NO EXCUSE FOR OTHERS

Newark, N. J., April 10 (A.P.).—United States Senator Wesley L. Jones, father of the new law which carries a ten-year penalty for prohibition law violation, tonight expressed regret that "there are some senators and representatives who drink." He argued, however, that that was no excuse for the drinking done by those opposed to prohibition.

Senator Jones was the principal speaker at the regional convention held here under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America. He explained the purpose and intent of the law he sponsored. He declared it would not affect the minor violator and questioned the altruism of "a coterie of young lawyers in New York City" who formed an association to defend certain prisoners indicted under the Jones act.

Of congressional drinking, Senator Jones said:

"It is charged that senators and representatives drink liquor. This is given by many of those opposed to prohibition as an excuse for drinking. There are some senators and representatives who drink. I regret it. They and those who hold office and have taken a special obligation to obey and maintain the Constitution and the laws of the land especially should do so. Their failure, however, does not excuse any citizen for violating the laws of h's country.

"In my judgment, a far fewer number of senators and representatives drink now than did 20 and 30 years ago. I have seen far fewer senators under the influence of liquor during the last ten years than I did during the preceding ten years. They will get fewer and fewer as the years go by."

Leviathan to Sell Liquor on Voyages

Executive of New Line Is Quoted as Authority for Wet Order.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The New York Times tomororw will say the flagship Leviathan, of the United States Lines, Inc., sailed today on her maiden trip as a privately owned American vessel under orders providing for the opening of her medicinal liquor supplies for sale to passengers outside the 12-mile limit, and for the taking on of liquor aboard for sale on the westbound passage.

Joseph E. Sheedy, executive vice president of the newly organized United States Lines, Inc., which bought the Leviathan and ten other ships from the Shipping Board, issued the order and assumed full responsibility. The paper will say similar instructions will be given to the other ships unless directors of the new company reverse Mr. Sheedy.

There will be no public bars on the ships, Mr. Sheedy said. Passengers may order liquor and it will be delivered to their rooms. It also may be ordered at meals and drunk in the diningroom or in the smoking room.

Branch Library Sought By Southwest Citizens

Need of a branch public library in the Southwest section of the city was emphasized last night at a meeting of the Southwest Civic Association, which met at the Randall Junior High School. The principal speakers were G. Smith Wormley, principal, and H. H. Banks. Richard C. Brooks outlined a special need for a lighting system on Third street between Maryland avenue and the War College, and a committee was appointed on the matter.

Another committee was appointed to make a report on alleged brutalities of police.

BERLIN'S CREDITORS NOT ABLE TO AGREE

Reparations Parley Hits Snag, Despite Cut in French Demand.

PARIS OFFICIALS HOPEFUL

Paris, April 10 (A.P.).—Stalemate in the negotiations of delegates to the second Dawes committee continued today with the likelihood that several more days of difficult bargaining would be needed to bring together the allied delegates on figures for annuities under a new German reparations settlement.

Experts of the creditor nations met again this morning with Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee. The outcome of the meeting, as far as it could be learned, was only a decision to refer certain points in question between the allied countries to the experts as a basis on which to figure.

Hopes of a decision this week on the amounts and number of German annuities have faded since yesterday. It will require three or four days at least to thrash out the differences between Germany's creditors, it was said among the experts. Considerable doubt has been expressed in some quarters that the allies will be able to agree on concessions that will make an accord with Germany possible.

French Officials Optimistic.

Confidence is still expressed in French official circles that the experts will come to an agreement, but there is undoubted pessimism in political quarters where it is declared that France can not make any more concessions and that if nobody else will do so there is little chance of getting closer to a compromise with Germany. The experts in general share the French official optimism.

Whatever may be the outcome of the negotiations concerning a total amount to be paid by Germany to the creditor nations it is now fairly well established that the annuities of the first few years will be 2,000,000,000 gold marks ($500,000,000).

This development is understood to have occurred as a consequence of a concession by France by which that country agreed to accept between 700,000,000 and 800,000,000 marks out of each annuity in compensation for the devastated areas and pensions.

One Obstacle Removed.

One of the greatest obstacles the allied delegates met in their attempt to scale down their claims was the French demand for 50,000,000,000 francs (about $2,000,000,000) as compensation for the devastated areas and pensions. This, they insisted, should be paid at the rate of 1,000,000,000 marks (about $250,000,000) annually.

Thus, France's concession to scale down its expected remittance on this account to between 700 000,000 and 800,000,000 marks seems to insure the Belgian demand for compensation for worthless German currency left in that country after the war and the Italian claim to share in the reparations proper.

Of the annuities of probably less that 2,000,000,000 gold marks about 1,000,000,000 will be conditionally subject to protection by the transfer clause and will be applied to the account for devastated regions and pensoins. The remainder probably will be paid unconditionally and devoted to settlement of the war debts.

D. A. R. BLACKLISTING CHARGE IS RENEWED

place next week would afford the greatest excitement of this convention, but if Mrs. Bailie carries out her present plans to demand reinstatement, the spotlight will be withdrawn from the candidates' list to the blacklist.

During the April Congress last year, no action was taken on Mrs. Bailie, except to squelch her and deny that there was a blacklist. It was not until she was given a "trial" by the board of management in June that she was expelled.

Among those on the blacklist sent to each Massachusetts chapter were: Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney; Dudley Field Malone; Dr. David Starr Jordan, former president of Leland Stanford University; Frederick C. Howe; John Haynes Holmes, clergyman; Bishop Benjamin Brewster, Episcopal bishop of Maine; Harry Elmer Barnes, educator; Bishop William Anderson; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Roger Baldwin of the American Civil Liberties Union; Frederick Libby, pacifist; Victor Berger, at that time Socialist congressman from Wisconsin; W. E. B. Dubois, negro writer and leader; Sherwood Eddy, of the Y. M. C. A.; William Z. Foster, communist; John Spargo, former Socialist, but recently revealed as a propagandist for the public utilities; Norman Hapgood, writer; Arthur Garfield Hayes, of the American Civil Liberties Union; Irving Fisher, economist; Morris Hilquitt, Socialist leader.

The blacklist affair caused a furore of amusement and indignation throughout the country. One hundred people attended a "blacklist party" given in New York City by the Nation, and an organization to be called the "Sons and Daughters of the Blacklist" was proposed.

Head of Virginia University Backs Fraternity on Liquor

Dr. E. A. Alderman Declares Delta Tau Delta Group Did Not Refuse to Obey Rum Ruling, But Offered Alternate Plan for Enforcement.

Charlottesville, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, said today that the local chapter of the Delta Tau Delta National Fraternity has not refused to cooperate with the university in the matter of liquor enforcement.

He declared that while not in accord with regulations adopted by some of the fraternity houses at the university, the Delta Tau Delta had joined other fraternities here in offering an alternate plan for liquor enforcement, the nature of which Dr. Alderman did not disclose.

Frank S. Hemmick, traveling secretary of the Arch Chapter, recently visited the Neta Iota Chapter of the fraternity here and reported to the national chapter that liquor was used in the chapter house. He has announced that steps are being taken by the Arch Chapter looking to the withdrawal of the charter of the local chapter. Curtis E. Cuddy, of Roanoke, president of the local chapter, and Hamilton Scherer, of Richmond, a senior member, left here last night for New York City for a conference with national officials of the society.

Dr. Alderman declared today that the university administration has no intention of becoming snoopers in enforcing any rules governing the students, and for this reason officials of the institution are seeking student cooperation in enforcing regulations rather than the use of compulsion.

He said that at the suggestion of the administration many fraternities at the university have adopted stringent house rules prohibiting the use and storage of liquor. The Delta Tau Delta, he said, was among the fraternities which declined to adopt such rules, but along with the others submitted an alternative plan for enforcement now under consideration of the administration. Dr. Alderman asserted that although proceedings so far have not reached final settlement he believed that everything would work out satisfactorily.

SHRINKAGE IN FORD SURPLUS REVEALED

Loss of $72,221,498 Shown in Statement; Total Fund, $582,629,562.

FIGURES FILED IN BOSTON

Boston, April 10 (A.P.).—The 1928 financial statement of the Ford Motor Co., filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations, shows a profit and loss surplus of $582,629,562 as of December 31 last, as compared with $654,851,061 for the year 1927.

The indicated decline of $72,221,498 did not take into account any dividends withdrawn during 1928 by Henry Ford, his wife and Edsel Ford, the three owners of the company.

It is believed unlikely however, that any payments were made to the stockholding trio in view of recent exenditures in connection with reorganization of plant and product which caused an indicated loss of $42,786 727 in 1927

Assets shown by the statement were: Real estate, $156,239,206.72; machinery and equipment, furniture and fixings, $152,921,365.82; merchandise, $102,773,-704.55; notes and accounts, received cash, stocks and bonds, patent rights, $275,926,656.10; deferred charges to operations, $1,048,415.15.

The compayn's liabilities were: Capital stock, $17,264,500; accounts payable, $83,900,629.19; reserves, $5,114,-656.22; profit and loss surplus, $582,-629,562.93.

Cafe Owner Arraigned In Affray at Roadhouse

Emilio Torre, Washington restaurant owner, indicted on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with the Green Gables shooting case, was arraigned yesterday in the Upper Marlboro Circuit Court. Torre is charged with having struck Louis Behrens over the head with a bottle. Torre entered a plea of not guilty and was returned to the Upper Marlboro Jail.

GOOD OFFERS CURE FOR CHICAGO'S ILLS

Secretary of War, in Speech to Bankers, Asserts City Has Growing Pains.

PLEDGES WATERWAYS AID

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Secretary of War James W. Good told Chicagoans today their city, afflicted with bootleggers, gangsters and racketeers, is merely suffering with growing pains.

"We know full well Chicago is not as bad as sometimes represented," he said in addressing the Bankers Club.

"Perhaps it is because Chicago so completely and emphatically represents the problems, difficulties and perplexities of modern cities, grown to unexampled greatness in amazingly short time, that it has had more than a fair share of attention to its derelictions."

The remedy for these conditions, Secretary Good advised, was voluntary observance of law, sound administration and determined law enforcement.

Pays Tribute to City.

He eulogized the city, its position at the foot of the Great Lakes, its growth and its future. To see how the debit and credit columns of the city's ledger balance he suggested considering figures that reflected Chicago's progress.

He declared the inland waterways program must be carried forward as rapidly as appropriations from Congress will justify.

"It is calculated that improvements of rivers and harbors has lopped $600,-000,000 annually from the country's freight bills," continued Secretary Good. "Great Lakes improvements, by no means adequate as yet, are saving $200,000,000 in each year's transportation costs.

"Already 50,000,000 tons of freight move annually by the Mississippi River system. And all these figures will seem paltry to the future—not a distant future either—when the ports of the world will send their argosies of trade to the water fronts of the Great Lakes cities, and a tamed and harnessed Mississippi will bear the vastly increased burdens of which it is capable."

Nine-Foot Channel Soon.

The dream of the Midwest of a 9-foot channel from Chicago to the Gulf soon will be a reality, the speaker said. The administration is committed to the program, and so far as the completion of the Government's part in the project is concerned there will be no unnecessary delay.

Secretary Good said the people of the Missouri Valley are entitled to improvement of that river also.

"The farmers of Nebraska and the Dakotas are entitled to the benefit of water transportation equally with the farmers in States bordering on the Mississippi or the Ohio, and the canalization of our rivers will be incomplete without the improvement of the Missouri," he asserted.

Giving assurance that there need be no apprehension that waterway development will harm railroads, which will remain the carriers of finished and fabricated products, Secretary Good called attention to the profits of the Inland Waterways Corporation.

This organization operated under direction of the Secretary of War last year at a profit of more than $257,000. All its capital stock of $15,000,000 owned by the Government, the corporation has pioneered in reestablishing transportation on Western and Southern rivers.

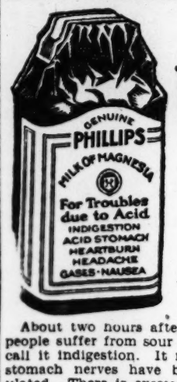
Envoy of Good Will Will Visit Hoover

Chilean Minister of Finance in Capital to Thank the President for Trip.

Don Pablo Ramirez, minister of finance of Chile, and first member of the Chilean cabinet ever to leave that country while in office, will be received at 11 o'clock this morning by President Hoover. Senor Ramirez is calling to thank President Hoover for his recent visit to Chile and to express the good will of the Chileans toward Americans.

This evening the minister will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Don Carlos G. Davila, Ambassador of Chile, in the Pan-American Union Building, at which there will be 200 guests. Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon will entertain Senor Ramirez at luncheon tomorrow.

The visiting Chilean cabinet member has had a remarkable career in his country and his visit to the United States is regarded there as an event of unusual distinction.



When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless does in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

TRADE BOARD HEARS PLEA FOR AIR FIELD

W. W. Everett, Retiring Head, Tells 3,000 Members Need Is Paramount.

DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED

Failure of the next regular session of Congress to start an airport for Washington would be a national disgrace, William W. Everett, outgoing president of the Board of Trade, told an audience of more than 3,000 at the Willard Hotel last night at the annual meeting of the board.

"I can not deplore too greatly the lack of an airport in this city," Mr. Everett said. "It is one of the crying needs of the community. I recommend that the Board of Trade continue its active and vigorous work for this project."

Mr. Everett announced that the aviation committee of the board is at present undertaking to have the world's model airport completed at Gravelly Point by 1932, and to secure for Washington at that time the National Air Races, the annual convention of the National Aeronautical Association and the International Air Exposition.

Committee's Work Praised.

He spoke highly of the work already done by the aviation committee, calling attention to the fact that it undertook the reception at the first airmail flight to Washington at Bolling Field last year. He spoke also of the work that the committee has performed on behalf of an airport for Washington, referring to testimony at Congressional hearings, the distribution of literature and the survey made of airports and airplane factories in various cities of the country.

Mr. Everett's address preceded the election of a new board of directors and the meritorious building awards by Col. U. S. Grant 3d.

The following were elected to the board of directors: George Plitt, Luther W. Linkins, Edward F. Colladay, John T. Bardroff, E. C. Brandenburg, George Miller, Frank S. Hight, C. J. Gockler, Claude W. Owen and Harry Blake.

The meritorious awards were given to the builders and owners whose designs and construction have been chosen by the Municipal Art Committee as outstanding in the past two years. More than 400 entries were made in the competition, with the following winners:

Architectural Awards.

Carlton Hotel, Sixteenth and K streets northwest, owned by Wardman Construction Co., designed by M. Mesrobian; Association Building, Seventeenth and K streets northwest, owned by the Young Women's Christian Association and designed by A. B. Heaton; Mullen Memorial Library, Brookland, owned by Catholic University and designed by Murphy & Olmstead; Chapel cloister and garden, Bladensburg road, owned by Fort Lincoln Cemetery and designed by Horace W. Peaslee; development of Wesley Heights homes, owned by W. C. and A. N. Miller and designed by Gordon McNeil; Reno Tower and District Buildings, owned by the District government and designed by Gordon McNeil (this award was received by Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty); residence at 2425 Kalorama road northwest, owned by C. D. Drayton and designed by T. J. D. Fuller; residence at Twenty-fourth street and Wyoming avenue northwest, owned by Edwin B. Parker and designed by Wyeth & Sullivan.

In presenting the awards Col. Grant said that the movement was the finest thing he knew of to preserve the idea of beauty of the National Capital. The following architects constituted the committee on awards: G. Corner Fenhagen and William D. Lamdin, of Baltimore, and Edward W. Donn, of Washington.

New Officers of the Board of Trade will be elected at a special meeting on Friday.

Scrubwoman, Held 136 Days As Rothstein Witness, Free

Bridget Farry, Detained Long After Men Seized in Case Regain Liberty, Gives Her Views of Prosecutor Banton and Others as She Departs.

New York, April 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The last of the Rothstein witnesses, Bridget Farry, today went the way of all others. She was freed in $1,500 bail. Then, with the eye-filling dignity of a square-rigger under way, 200 pounds of her barged out of St. Joseph's Home and pivoted a reproving fist aimed at its solemn doors.

"Ha!" Bridget, the scrubwoman, announced, not angrily, "Ye can't fool the Irish."

It was the third of her 136th day as the involuntary guest—the most celebrated guest—of District Attorney Banton.

"A long time, me boy," Bridget sighed, "a long time for an old woman like me. Cops about me all the time. An' women cops, at that.

"As for Mr. Banton, it ain't for the likes of me to tell him where to get off. Ain't I done that enough already, now?"

At approximately 6 o'clock—her "coming out" party occurred 20 minutes before—she stood before Judge Mancusco in his chambers.

Judge Gives Her Advice.

He had reduced the bail from $5,000 early in the afternoon. Now, as is the custom, he ordered her to appear for a bit of advice. Dressed in a cheap blue dress, a cotton black coat, Bridget stood before the jurist meekly enough.

"I suppose," he began, "you are glad to be free?"

"Yes, sir," said Bridget; "you bet I am."

"You will remember that you are subject to the call of the grand jury and the district attorney?"

"Yes, sir."

"You must be ready when called."

"Yes, sir."

This from Bridget, who had made the impregnable negative the most prickly thorn in the side of District Attorney Banton.

With her attorney, Samuel J. Resnick, a slender, dapper fellow, showing the way, Bridget moved out of the solemn quiet of the judge's chambers. Then her meekness fell away.

"Ha," said Bridget, "Ha, I'd just like to see 'em put anything over on the Irish. I'd like to see 'em."

"Hurry, Bridget," Mr. Resnick urged, "get into the car quickly. The photographers——"

She accelerated her gait, and when she hove into sight the photographers saw only a bulking blue dress under full steam, topped by a sail which, upon closer scrutiny, turned out to be Bridget's coat in use, temporarily, as a mask.

"No pictures, boys," she mumbled beneath the fold. "Get along with ye and get a chorus girl."

Just Wants a Job.

For lack of any other place, Mr. Resnick said he would take Bridget to his home for the night. Tomorrow, he will help her to find an apartment. Her plans?

"I'm sure I don't know," the lawyer said. "I know, however, she won't go where the other witnesses went."

The esteemed company of gamblers, Nate Raymond, "Titanic" Thompson, "Red" Bowe and the others immediately cleared for Miami and Havana to recuperate from the rigors of their five days in jail.

"No, I guess that Bridget just wants to get a job. You don't know anybody who wants a real, fine, able-bodied scrubwoman, do you?"

LINDBERGH MAY AID MUNICIPAL AIRPORT SITE SELECTION IN CITY

been agitation for an airport a year or more earlier, it was not until Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic that the movement really gathered headway.

When the congressional airport commission concluded its initial hearings Tuesday it was weighing the merits of four or more sites, the outstanding ones of which are Gravelly Point and Chillum, Md.

The Board of Trade is thoroughly familiar with the Gravelly Point site, but until the hearings it had given little or no thought to the Chillum area. So today Larry Williams, chairman of the board's aviation committee, and Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the board, plan to pay it a visit.

J. Edward Cassidy, director of the United States Air Force Association, yesterday made public a letter addressed to Senator Bingham in which he reiterated his opposition to the selection of Gravelly Point asa municipal airport. He charged that the plan was conceived by the War Department in order to get larger appropriations for dredging.

Brownsville, Tex., April 10 (A.P.).—Showing little concern over the momentary anxiety caused in two nations as to his safety, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here unexpectedly at 9:30 a. m., today from Mexico and took off an hour and a half later, presumably on his way to New York.

Kept His Own Counsel.

Col. Lindbergh refused to say what had delayed his trip from Mexico City, which he started shortly after noon yesterday, and he declined to reveal where he had spent the night. It was believed that he had landed at a Mexican ranch in the vicinity of Tampico.

The flier declared it was entirely his own affair and of interest to no one else. He intimated to attaches of the local airport that he might reveal his stopping place to them the next time he visits Brownsville.

When Col. Lindbergh left Mexico City yesterday, ending a visit with his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, it was understood that he would fly directly to Brownsville. Mexican government officials became anxious about him last night when he failed to reach the border and officials of air fields in Texas shared their concern.

At Kelly Field, San Antonio, where Lindbergh received his Army training, officers had discussed sending out planes to search for him this morning in the belief that he might have been forced down. Landing lights were kept burning at the field until late in the night. Mexican officials, unaware of the flier's plans, made a check of landing fields in that country in an effort to learn his whereabouts.

May Disappear Again.

Col. Lindbergh said here that he had made no announcement in Mexico City that he intended to reach the border yesterday.

A hint was dropped by the flier that in a short time he might "disappear" again for two or three days. "But that won't be a sign anything is wrong," he said.

In his plane he carried a camping outfit, indicating that his "unannounced destination" in the near future may be a remote vacation spot.

Col. Lindbergh is expected to be in New York Saturday when the body of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick is returned from France. The ambassador was one of Lindbergh's closest friends, having guided the young aviator through the exciting period following his transatlantic flight.

DOCTOR IS OUSTED FOR WORK IN CLINIC

Chicago Medical Society, in Opposing Health Body, May Drop Others.

HOSPITALS FACE INQUIRY

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Three of Chicago's prominent physicians, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, coroner and former city health commissioner, faced expulsion from the Chicago Medical Society today as a result of the conflict between the organization and public health clinics.

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, philanthropist and one of the leaders of his profession, was ousted by the general council of the society last night because of his connection with the Public Health Institute, which has incurred the displeasure of the society by advertising.

He is president of the Illinois Social Hygiene League, which receives $12,000 a year for caring for patients with limited means referred to it by the institute. The institute is maintained by a group of Chicago's outstanding citizens, among them Marshall Field, Harold F. McCormick and Col. A. A. Sprague, for treatment of social diseases.

Dr. Bundezen, Dr. Rachelle S. Yarros and Dr. Joseph L. Miller, as directors of the Illinois Social Hygiene League, were expected to be the next members to feel the action of the medical society. All three, their friends indicated, would fight expulsion.

Court Fight Predicted.

Court action to reinstate Dr. Schmidt was predicted today.

"The case surely will be taken into court if legal ground for such action can be found," declared his brother, Dr. Otto Schmidt, former president of both the board of education and the Chicago Histolical Society.

The society's objections to the type of health clinic which accepts all classes of patients will take in a much larger field than the few doctors involved, it was believed. The University of Chicago, Northwestern University, St. Luke's Hospital and other institutions receive contributions from the public health institute for research work. These contributions are made out of surplus earnings of the institute, which does not operate for profit.

A split within the Chicago Medical Society also was seen over the question of the clinics, and many resignations were expected. The doctors who oppose the clinics make it plain they with the poor cared for in this fashion, but do not think it fair to cut in on their practice with an unlimited number of clinics taking all types of patients. Dr. Schmidt contends these clinics drive out quacks and thus will eventually aid legitimate doctors.

Astounding, Says Sprague.

"The whole thing is so astounding," declared Col. A. A. Sprague. "If Dr. Schmidt's only crime is the lending of a helping hand to aid in solving the problem of the health of the middle class of people, then it would seem he should have been made president instead of being thrown out of the society."

The statement of the medical society said Dr. Schmidt was being disciplined because of his connection with the institute, and explained that the decision of its ethical relations committee "rested solely upon a violation of the principles of medical ethics." The vote to oust him was almost unanimous.

Manacled Fugitive Is Class President

Police Warned Hand-Cuffed Student of Lehigh Is Not Malefactor.

Newark, N. J., April 10 (A.P.).—Lehigh University freshmen have appealed to New Jersey police to be on the lookout for an irate, excited, disheveled—and handcuffed young man who is "at liberty" in this section.

The freshmen's anxiety is due to the fact that the fugitive in question is acting president of the sophomore class at the university. Kidnaped by the freshmen, he escaped from the automobile in which he was being conveyed to parts sufficiently distant from the campus to establish his—and his class'—inferiority, and incidentally to prevent his attendance at a sophomore banquet.

The "prisoner" wears legal looking handcuffs on his wrists, or did when last seen, and his erstwhile captors wished to be certain this was not misunderstood by such alert policemen as might come in sight of his flitting figure.

Kelloggs Are Guests Of Youngs and Pershing

Paris, April 10 (U.P.).—Frank B. Kellogg, former American Secretary of State, and Mrs. Kellogg lunched today with Owen D. Young and Mrs. Young and Gen. John J. Pershing.

Later Kellogg accompanied Young to the Hotel George V to visit other American unofficial delegates to the reparations experts' conference.

WEST VIRGINIA GIRL APPLE FETE QUEEN

Miss Mary Jo Matthews Will "Reign" at Winchester Festival on April 19.

PRINCESSES ARE NAMED

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 10.—Miss Mary Jo Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Matthews, of Mannington, W. Va., will reign over the sixth annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here April 18 and 19, as "Queen Shenandoah VI," it was announced today at the office of J. Victor Arthur, director-general of the celebration. She will be crowned by Gov. W. G. Conley, of that State.

Miss Matthews, who is a member of the senior class of the University of West Virginia, at Morgantown, is regarded as one of the most beautiful girls of the State, and for the last three years has been the choice of the student body of the university as the outstanding beauty of the university. She is a member of an old and prominent West Virginia family, and her father is identified with various industrial and business interests of the State. She will be the guest while here of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Hack, whose palatial home in the heart of the exclusive residential district is one of the show places of Winchester.

As queen of the festival that celebrates the blossoming of millions of apple trees in the Shenandoah-Cumberland-Potomac district of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and southern Pennsylvania, in which Winchester occupies a central position, Miss Matthews will be surrounded by approximately 70 princesses, appointed from the several States, and chosen for their grace and beauty. There will also be in the queen's court an entourage of guards of honor, heralds, pages, jesters and other functionaries in the household of a ruling monarch.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 10.—The list of West Virginia's "princesses" in the apple blossom festival at Winchester, Va., was completed today with announcement of the appointment of Miss Bessie Harr, of Petersburg, as Hardy County's representative, and Miss Margaret Pinnell, of Piedmont, as Mineral County's princess. The selections were made by State Senators A. L. Helmick and E. B. Reynolds, respectively.

One woman tells another of this new solution to an old hygienic problem

Great relief, both physical and mental, comes with the use of this scientifically perfected sanitary protection.

ACROSS the counter, in offices, in drawing rooms, in country clubs—wherever women meet the world, they are learning new freedom, new composure and ease of mind through the discarding of makeshift sanitary protection. Kotex has changed the hygienic habits of women all over the world.

New advantages

Now come new perfections in this important adjunct to woman's comfort. Each pad deodorizes completely and safely, by a patented process to be found in no other napkin.

A certain bulkiness associated with old-fashioned methods has been overcome, too. Each pad is rounded and tapered in such a way as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection.

Superiorities retained

You may adjust layers of filler as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. The remarkable absorbency of Cellucotton absorbent wadding is perhaps the most important feature. It is 5 times more absorbent than cotton, itself. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,670,587.)

SUPER-SIZE KOTEX

Formerly 90c—Now 65c

Some women find Super-size Kotex a special comfort. Exactly the same as the Regular size Kotex, but with added layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding.

Buy a box of Kotex today. It is 45c for a box of 12 at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtainable through vending cabinets in restrooms by West Disinfecting Co.

CANADA AND AMERICA.

Prime Minister King of Canada has spoken a few words of moderation to excited legislators in the House of Commons, who criticized the government for refusing to undertake drastic tariff changes to offset threatened changes in the American tariff. Mr. King stated that it was the desire of the Canadian government to go as far as possible to promote the mutual interests of the two countries, and that it would be unwise to take any action at this time that might be considered as provocative by the people of the United States. He seeks an extension and increase of British preference, but will deal with each situation as it arises, in the light of conditions at the time.

This friendly and frank statement is of great value to American legislators, if they will apply it to the situation that is about to develop in connection with tariff revision. Mr. King points out that the trade between Canada and the United States is the greatest of that between any two countries in the world. It is the duty of Congress to foster and encourage this trade, and to avoid any tariff legislation that will be regarded by the Canadian people as provocative and unjust. The reciprocation of Prime Minister King's policy by Congress will not only allay the apprehensions of Canadians, but will work to the advantage of the United States as well as of Canada.

Prime Minister King's statement has the added effect of reducing the temperature of superpatriots on both sides of the border who seize upon the I'm Alone incident as an opportunity to celebrate their jingoism. The statesman who has just calmed the tariff waters is not embarking upon still more tempestuous seas, merely to vindicate rights that have never been challenged. He has sent a note to the United States Government, the text of which has not been published, but which, it may be safely assumed, will set forth Canada's position with dignity and composure.

The I'm Alone case can be settled to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, and there is no reason to presume that the United States will fail to meet Canada half way in adjusting the case. The treaty which is said to have been violated by the Coast Guard in pursuing and sinking the Canadian rum runner provides for the adjustment of all claims arising from unreasonable or unlawful action under it. The questions at issue are those of fact and law. A set of facts can be agreed upon, and the law can be applied accordingly. The United States, as a matter of course, will give satisfaction if the acts of its agents were wrong. If the Coast Guard was within the law and the treaty when it sank the I'm Alone it is a foregone conclusion that Canada will not harbor any grievance, bearing in mind that the treaty was made for the express purpose of aiding the United States in preventing the smuggling of liquor.

Reports that Canada is dissatisfied with the treaty and will take steps to terminate it have not been confirmed. If the reports be true, the question of terminating the treaty must be referred by Canada to Great Britain, and not to the United States. The treaty deals with all vessels under the British flag, and not merely with Canadian vessels.

No tariff differences and no rum-running incidents can disturb the solid and lasting friendship of the Canadian and American peoples. They are bound by ties that can not be broken by passing events, and which they will never break of their own accord.

GEN. DAWES AS AMBASSADOR.

The United States is fortunate in having such men as Charles G. Dawes available as its representatives at the most important capitals. The former Vice President goes to London, where he will be called upon to foster and promote good relations between the two leading nations of the world. His unique personality will no doubt appeal strongly to the British public, while his ability to accomplish desirable results should make equal appeal to the British government. Americans could not wish for a more stalwart champion of their Nation's interests.

Direct and frank conference by specially qualified representatives should quickly remove some of the misunderstanding that has prevented the United States and Great Britain in joining more effectively in work for the world's welfare. These nations are sharply distinct, and the identity of language often emphasizes their difference. Their interests mingle and clash at the same time. The successful handling of the tangled skeins of national interests to the mutual satisfaction of these nations is a task requiring the vigilant service of the most competent statesmen. Gen. Dawes is America's best choice. England welcomes him, and doubtless it will always aim to confront him with men of his own mettle. He and they should accomplish much in promoting the good understanding that is indispensable in maintaining good will.

WASHINGTON'S GROWTH.

Officials of the District government, the Board of Trade and the Real Estate Board vision the National Capital as a city of 1,000,000 inhabitants within a few years. At a meeting on Tuesday evening these officials indicated that their organizations are fully aware of the promising future of Washington, and are planning for a city almost twice the present size.

Industrial and business men throughout the United States indulge in "boost talk," making extravagant predictions as to the development of the city or town in which they live. Conditions in dozens of American cities justify optimistic predictions, but many of these forecasts amount to nothing more than propaganda for advertising purposes. This is not the condition in Washington. The growth of the city removes all semblance of advertising from the predictions emanating from the real estate board meeting.

For many years Washington was a straggling town, in spite of its careful planning. Historians agreed, even until recently, that it was a mistake to locate the National Capital on its present site. They supported their argument by saying that Washington is far from the geographical center of the country and from the center of population, and that it is not on the main line of travel. There was some truth in these statements, but they are not true today. That strip of country south of the Great Lakes, running from Illinois to the Atlantic, is most highly developed at present. But within the past few years the South has experienced phenomenal growth, and all indications are that there will be a sweeping industrial expansion in that section. Washington stands between North and South, close to the sea and within easy access of Europe, where America's most important foreign interests lie. Future ages will prove that location of the National Capital here was the most happy choice that could have been made.

Washington is now the thirteenth largest city in America. During the last 70 years it has grown from a town of 75,000 people to a city of between 550,000 and 600,000. Only four of the fourteen largest cities in the country have grown relatively faster during that time than Washington, namely, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Detroit. Since 1900 Washington has outstripped in growth New Orleans, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and perhaps Buffalo. It ranks in the same class, as to population, as San Francisco and Pittsburgh, and is growing faster than either of them. During the last 25 years the population has been practically doubled. Certainly administrative officials and business groups are justified in planning for 1,000,000 inhabitants in Washington in the not distant future.

YOUNG OLD MEN.

At a recent meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine, Dr. Frederick Tilney, professor of neurology at Columbia University, advanced the theory that old age is nothing more than the cumulative effect of toxins in the body. He said that in many cases the brain has vitality to carry it well beyond the 100-year mark, and cited the case of Thomas Parr, who was an active worker at the age of 130 years and died at 154.

This opinion is in sharp contrast with the declaration of Dr. Osler 20 years ago to the effect that men of 60 had outlived their usefulness. The more recent statement has an element of comfort in it for younger men who plan long active careers, but to thousands who have already arrived at old age it is a self-evident fact needing no scientific investigation to discover. Most of the eminent men in American public life at the present time are older than 60 years, and there is no evidence that they could be replaced by younger men without serious loss.

Some one has figured out that the average age of President Hoover's Cabinet is 60 years. That is a striking rebuke to Dr. Osler's dictum, and there is still more convincing evidence. Elihu Root, one of America's foremost thinkers, is 84. Charles E. Hughes, eminent among jurists of this country, will celebrate his sixty-seventh birthday this month. Chief Justice Taft is 71, and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes recently celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday.

The greatest inventive genius in America, Thomas A. Edison, continues his work with the vigor of youth at the age of 82. Dozens of industrial leaders and financiers, who are active in spite of old age, might also be named. It seems that the most important positions in the country are occupied by men who are well seasoned in their professions and have a lifetime of experience behind them. We are constantly hearing about the encroachment of young men upon the older generation, but all indications are that men who have made good use of their years will still retain leadership. Furthermore, science is lengthening the span of life and teaching people how to better care for their bodies and minds. It is logical to believe that the age at which men can perform their greatest service will be advanced rather than reduced in future years.

THE VICE PRESIDENT'S HOSTESS.

The tempest of the teacups subsides, without any fatalities, as the Diplomatic Corps resolves that the hostess of a Vice President is entitled to the social status of a wife. Now that the tumult and the shouting dies it is difficult to perceive how any other decision could have been reached. The real question, however, was, Who should make the decision?

Secretary Stimson met and mastered this question with a little clear thinking. It is not for the Department of State to dictate to embassies and legations the status that shall be accorded to their guests. The department is necessarily the medium through which the precedence of diplomatic envoys is fixed, within each grade, according to seniority in presentation of credentials. But the department has nothing to do with social affairs or with the social status of American citizens. At times Congress regulates the order of precedence of American officials, but this is only for official ceremonies.

The hostess of Vice President Curtis is his sister, Mrs. Edward E. Gann. The Diplomatic Corps having decided to accord to her the status of a wife, the social world will do likewise, without further risk of embarrassment to foreign envoys. The action of the Diplomatic Corps is happy as being in harmony with courtesy and common sense.

The colleges are turning out too many white-collar men and not enough .300 hitters.

Mrs. Pinchot, it is reported, drank some hair tonic, but in view of the fact that hair tonic is taken internally for but one purpose, it couldn't have been Mrs. Pinchot.

Representative Hull demands a return to the cost of production theory of fixing tariff rates, and demands the abandonment of the flexible provision which, he suggests, has had a sinister effect. Maybe that's what has caused the prostration of American business.

OUR CHINESE FOREST POLICY

By FRANK J. D. BARNJUM.

The Chinese, once the most highly civilized people in the world, allowed their wonderful forests to be destroyed before they realized what was happening, and I predict, by the same token, we on this continent will do exactly the same thing.

With the exception of a comparatively small area on the Pacific slope we are today to a large extent cutting more sapling poles that belong to future generations and not to us. We are usurping our children's patrimony. A leading newspaper recently remarked: "What adds to the pity of it is that most of the timber destroyed now is so young as to belong to generations not old enough to protect it." While we have from a commercial standpoint only about six years' wood supply, from a climatic standpoint the tree shortage is already upon us. The rapidly increasing recurrence of floods, droughts and windstorms bears ample evidence of this fact.

I do not mean to say that the last commercial tree will be cut in six years, but I do say that the time will then have arrived when even the layman will be forced to realize that we can no longer annually continue cutting in the United States a solid pile of wood four feet high and four feet wide that would encircle the globe fifteen times and then in addition to this burn 38,000,000 acres and suffer a loss of as much more through insects and disease.

The figures are quoted from Government statistics and are, as to the cut and the amount of the burn, under the mark, as all fires are not even yet reported, neither is the amount of the cut anywhere near the actual figure. These are all net losses in our forests, as wind alone with its increasing recurrence and greater force now destroys an amount equal to the gross growth. While the annual depletion is less in Canada than in the United States, the supply is proportionately smaller; consequently the final analysis will show exactly the same results in both countries.

It goes without saying that we can not continue destroying such a vast forested area without creating havoc with our climate and weather conditions. We are changing the whole physical condition created by nature and are only too rapidly approaching conditions that exist in China, where flood, famine and pestilence hold perpetual sway. The elements of destruction which I have enumerated are compounding all the time. The more we cut the more we burn, and the greater our loss through wind, insects and disease.

The only possible hope for the future is to reduce the cut immediately and at the same time inaugurate slash disposal regulations and effective fire preventive measures. This is not only a national but an international necessity, since climatic conditions know no boundaries. If these regulations were made national or even international, and they should be, it would injure no one. All would be in the same boat, and any added cost would simply be passed along to the ultimate consumer, the public, to whom it rightly belongs and who would benefit beyond measure. No amount of reforestation will even alleviate the situation for the present generation. Trees take too long to grow, though planting on a huge scale is imperative for posterity.

The protective measures already inaugurated will help to reduce the fire loss during wet seasons, but in a really dry hot summer when the sun apparently generates an inflammable gas from the forest litter and with a high wind blowing, such as forest fires help to create, all the protective measures in the world will count for nothing, except perhaps to add to the death toll of the fire rangers. I have seen forest fires when the very air seemed to be ablaze.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Fun in Foggy City.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The appointment of Charles G. Dawes as Ambassador to London will make a precedent. No one who has served as Vice President has afterward been sent abroad to represent the United States. Dawes was unique as a Vice President, and will, in all probability be unique as a diplomat. Long ago he acquired the habit of speaking his mind without paying particular attention to the words he used. There will be fun around Foggy City if he turns himself loose. S. W. H.

What Is Norris? Ask the World Court.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: A new stenographer for Senator Norris, please! How inconceivable that Senator Norris, midst his multitudinous duties, has found time to write a 750-word letter to our new Secretary of State, now deeply engrossed in problems of vital interest to our well being.

This memorable state document of Senator Norris', written with the cleverness of a high school student and becoming dignity, consists of four or five pages of typewritten matter, which must have taken at least several hours of his secretary's time. This gives the American public some conception of the need of our senators for secretaries, the salaries of which, on last analysis, are paid from tax receipts.

Incidentally, the senator's letter, which has no doubt caused him an unusual measure of satisfaction, has once again raised the question in my mind that I believe is also of vital interest to his constitutents in Nebraska. Just what are the senator's party affiliations? Does he himself know? Last June he was for neither Mr. Hoover nor Mr. Smith. Later he made many votes for Mr. Hoover by announcing himself for Mr. Smith. Surely he will not present himself for reelection as a Republican. Perhaps he had better refer the matter of his party affiliation to some impartial body, as a World Court, for example. Let them ascertain whether he is now a Democrat, or some other kind of a crat.

I sometimes wonder whether the senator is using the same degree of caution as the bigamist who very discreetly chose wives of the same name to avoid any slip of the tongue.

J. K. LOCHMAN.

Lombard, Ill., April 8.

Government Radio Station.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Nye is preparing a bill authorizing the construction of a Government radio station for the general use of executive departments, to broadcast congressional debates and for use of all political parties during campaigns. From time to time in has been suggested that facilities be made available for the broadcasting of congressional debate. At present the Department of Agriculture broadcasts on regular schedule, and time and weather reports are sent out nightly. This is the first proposal, however, that there be established a Government station for the broadcasting of official information of general interest.

A great deal of information is collected by Government departments that would interest the radio audience. It would be of inestimable value to the country were congresional debates on important matters disseminated widely. But the suggestion that a Government station be made available for such broadcasting, may be seriously questioned. Would such a station command an audience?

Broadcasters have learned that material put on the air must be leavened with a dash of entertainment. A Government station would be a business station; it could not command the services of orchestras or artists, and its audience would be composed of the comparative few to whom governmental matters are of personal importance. The station would be expensive; the size of the audience it would interest would not justify the expense of construction and operation. A Government radio station would occupy a position in the broadcasting field similar to that occupied in newspaperdom by the Congressional Record.

The most economical and efficient way the Government can get on the air is by utilizing existing networks. It would be a splendid idea if an appropriation were made with which time on the air could be purchased whenever it were deemed advisable to broadcast to the public.

W. A. DONALDSON.

The Lash You Feel Is the One You Have Often Used.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

LET us suppose you are having one of your best days. You are free of ills; you do your work with uncanny skill; everybody seems to think well of you, and you are at peace with yourself and the universe.

One of earth's trouble makers appears and quotes an idle remark made by one of your acquaintances—a criticism of you, doubtless spoken lightly and thoughtlessly, but now, in the retailing, barbed and poisoned with malice.

The words affect you like one of those sharp twinges of pain that startle you with their intensity and leave you alert and gasping.

The sunshine of your day is gone. Your spirit droops. Your work becomes a burden. All the world seems unfriendly. You are limp and weak, as though the words had contained a poison.

"What have I ever done to him," you cry, "that he should do this to me?"

As a matter of fact you have done nothing to merit hurt and this acquaintance had no thought of hurting you. If you had been present, he would have spoken no word of criticism.

He was one of a group discussing you, casually and without purpose, and he spoke as he did to amuse the others. His remark was witty and the other rewarded him with a laugh. He meant no harm.

You have done the same thing—many, many times. Whenever you are one of a group, you join the others in idle mention of those who are not present. And you seldom, if ever, guard your tongue as you would if the absent one were present.

How many of your thoughtless or cleverly cruel remarks have been repeated and thus have darkened the sun of acquaintances who had no reason to expect a hurt from you.

All men gossip, as women do—unknown men and famous men, ignorant men and learned men—and their idle words are repeated to wound the unsuspecting, as you have been wounded when least expecting hurt.

Why do men do it? What reward have they?

If you were one of a ship's company, sailing across a sea to meet certain death, would you be thoughtlessly cruel to your doomed fellows?

We are all under sentence of death—fellow voyagers doomed to the same fate—and the journey ends quickly.

I cannot understand why men have so little compassion when the world is so greatly in need of pity.

LUCK PLAYS A PART.

Isaac Newton, the great scientist, owed his greatness, in part, to luck, writes Frank Thayer in Thrift Magazine. The chance visit of an uncle was the incident that started young Newton to the university where he perfected himself in mathematical science.

Illness was responsible for Cecil Rhodes going to South Africa, where he developed his genius as an empire builder. The stories of the part played by luck in the lives of the great are legion.

Henry Ford's success is unusual. There are likely many as smart men as Ford in the automobile business. Such astounding success and power as he has attained are out of the ordinary. Luck seemingly touched Henry Ford and followed him all through the development of his motor car and his various interests.

The unusual business success, the success that seemingly transcends the ordinary channels of industry and commerce, undoubtedly is dependent upon some chance, some friendship with a great man, some fortunate turn of the stock market.

Men associated with Andrew Carnegie, Charles Schwab or Thomas A. Edison, at least many of them, have found unusual success. While association has aided these and many other men, it must be noted that the success that has counted most on the average has been founded upon merit. A captain of industry may and often does delegate authority to younger men, who accept the responsibility and execute their tasks with knowledge and ability.

Summarization of this luck theory leads us to believe that luck does play an important part in the outstanding success. Calvin Coolidge is lucky. The Boston police strike drew national attention to this Northampton attorney and State politician.

Luck may have its bearing, but on the whole luck is about evenly divided for and against a man or his success. Often intelligence can turn luck in one's favor.

In this connection no truer words were ever written than those of Edward Gibbon when he wrote, "The winds and the waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators."

Luck may bring a young writer to the attention of a publisher, but luck alone could not be responsible for the many successful books of Kipling, Dickens or Wells.

HELP FOR THE CLAM.

When it opens its eyes the clam does not look upon a friendly world, observes the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. To the hazardous contrary. Indeed, the infantile death rate of these humble but worthy creatures is prodigious. Their mortality in recent years has gravely threatened an important industry—that of pearl button manufacture. Well, if we may say so, a Hoover of the clam has appeared in the person of Prof. Max Ellis, of Missouri University. The first two or three weeks, by far the hardest in the career of a clam, are to be made secure by a process the professor has perfected which will provide an abundance of food and thus foil the grim adversary, starvation. As a result there will be an ample supply of clam shells, the raw material of pearl buttons, which have all but disappeared from many of our Mississippi Valley streams. The pearl button has contributed incalculably to the comfort and joy of our loftier civilization. As to its utility, we merely assert it. Ornamentally the pearl button is a talented performer, in a splashing repertory. Rakish, jaunty, demure, dazzling, now opalescent, now immaculate—really, it runs an almost illimitable gamut of effects. We surely owe a lot to the clam. Prof. Ellis, may we say, has vindicated the higher education. Yes, sir. Our universities are well worth maintaining, not merely from the esthetic viewpoint, but as a matter of walloping economics.

PRESS COMMENT.

Signs of Old Age.

Ohio State Journal: We have reached an age where we'd rather be right than President, or even wrong, for that matter, especially since we heard about the medicine ball.

Pity the Reformers.

Hillsboro News-Herald: If any professional reformers get in Heaven what we want to know is, what will they do when they have no one to reform. It looks like Hell is the place where they will be needed.

He Should Have Guessed.

New Orleans States: We have just read of the case of the man in Washington, D. C., who didn't know there was any prohibition law. If he had gone out of town on a visit instead of staying in it all the time somebody would have told him.

What Purpose?

Houston Post-Dispatch: It is hard to discern what if any useful purpose is served by trying to drive an auto at a speed in excess of 200 miles an hour. Of course, it makes one's cigarette testimonial worth more, but even when one man has proved that he can go that fast and live he has not proved that any one else can do it.

BIRD AIRWAYS.

The American Forestry Association has discovered that birds, like humans, produce occasional globe trotters, says the New York World. Flight rules are sometimes disregarded by ordinary back yard birds.

"Tracing the airways of the birds by means of numbered leg bands," the association says, "has become an avocation for more than 1,400 well-informed amateurs operating under the direction of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey. About 45,000 birds, representing 437 North American species, have been marked with bands and returns from about 25,000 have been received and tabulated."

Mallard ducks mostly follow a route from Mackenzie, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, Canada, southward to Louisiana, and Texas, along Mississippi.

The record flight was made by an Arctic tern, that flew in about three months from Red Island, Labrador, to Natal, South Africa, a straight-line distance of 10,000 miles. A banded robin, was traced from Crystal Bay, Minn., to Pachuch, Mexico, approximately 2,100 miles. It made the trip in eighteen months.

Underwood & Underwood.

MR. AND MRS. F. EBERHART HAYNES.
Before her marriage yesterday Mrs. Haynes was Miss Frances Gore, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Albert Gore.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned on princess lines, with long tight sleeves finished with rose point lace cuffs, and a long train falling from the waist. The veil of tulle fell from a cap of old rose point lace. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

The maid of honor was Miss Anna Southard Larner, who wore a gown of peach-colored chiffon, made with long tight sleeves and a long skirt with an uneven hemline. She wore a small peach felt hat and carried delphinium and roses.

Miss Eleanor Bryan Smith and Miss Katherine Amory were the bridesmaids and wore frocks like that of the maid of honor in powder blue, with hats to match. They carried bouquets of sweetheart roses.

The best man was Mr. J. Marvin Haynes, and the ushers were Mr. Eugene English and Mr. Philip Larner Gore.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast and reception at the Carlton, when the bride and bridegroom received, assisted by their parents. Mrs. Gore wore a gown of black chiffon, trimmed with flowered chiffon, with a black hat and a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Mrs. Haynes wore a gown of navy blue georgette, with a hat to match and a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Haynes started on a motor trip to White Sulphur Springs, the bride wearing a tan crepella dress with a tan tweed coat, trimmed in beige fox, and a beige and brown felt hat. They will make their home in Washington.

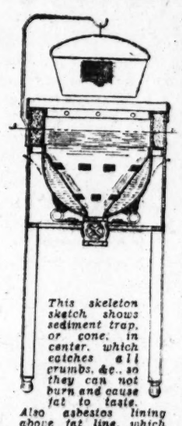
Economical Dependable

Pitman Economy Frying Kettles

Only one kettle is now necessary with one lot of frying fat with the new Pitman Economy Fryer. All kinds of food can be cooked one after the other without the taste or odor from one permeating the other, assuring a saving of 30% in fat as well as floor space. An even temperature is assured at all times with the thermostatic control. A patented double edge flange stops the fat coming into contact with the flame, eliminating chances of fires.

The Pitman has no welded joints to leak and is the only fryer that has a circulation of fat and requires no service after installation. All parts are easily accessible for cleaning.



This skeleton sketch shows sediment trap, or cone, in center, which catches all crumbs, &c., so they can not burn and cause fat to taste. Also asbestos lining above fat line, which prevents fat from burning or smoking at the top edges.

CANADIAN DEPLORES U.S. 'PRESUMPTION'

Speaker at Rotary Club Cites Radio Board's Allocation of Wave Lengths.

RUM AND TARIFF TOPICS

Relations between Canada and the United States, especially as they concern radio, prohibition and the farm tariff, were frankly discussed yesterday by Arthur O. Smith, Washington representative of the Southam Newspapers of Canada, before the Washington Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Willard Hotel.

Terming the allocation of wave lengths to Canadian stations by the United States Radio Commission "sheer presumption," Smith said Canada eventually would take the matter into her own hands. "This is a deliberate effort to infringe upon the sovereignty of a neighbor country," he said.

In regard to prohibition, the speaker declared that Canada does not look upon the question as one of trade or right, but of international comity. The northern nation, he said, is willing to cooperate with the United States, but believes this country's laws should be enforced by herself.

While Canada regards it as the sole right of the United States to fix her own tariff schedules, Smith said that the proposed tariff for farm relief probably will result in a serious disturbance of the balance of trade between the two countries, now $450,000,000 in favor of the United States. This tariff, he declared, would so hurt the Canadian farmer that it would be a natural move for Canada to seek to open up new markets through trade treaties and preferential tariffs.

Forty-seven visiting Rotarians, two of them from Canada, were present at yesterday's meeting. Arthur J. May presided in place of President George Whitwell, who was on a vacation. A. L. Harris, municipal architect of the District, was a guest.

Chicago Graft Jury Dismissed by Court

Member Found to Be Brother-in-Law of Official Under Investigation.

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—The special grand jury impaneled to investigate alleged graft and waste in the Chicago Sanitary District was discharged today by Chief Justice John J. Sullivan, of the Criminal Court, on the ground that it was unfit to serve because of a legal slip, for which no one was blamed.

The jury's investigation was halted abruptly Monday, when it was discovered that Thomas C. Keegan, one of the jurors, was a brother-in-law of Timothy J. Crowe, who was president of the district during the period of alleged irregularities. Prosecutors announced they would present their evidence to the regular grand jury.

"We do not charge Keegan's presence on the grand jury to anything but an accident," Justice Sullivan said.

Keegan failed to reveal his kinship, which would have automatically excused him, when he was sworn in. Justice Sullivan pardoned the omission on the grounds of timidity in the presence of the court.

REPLY ON I'M ALONE SINKING DUE IN 2 DAYS

American shells used to halt a Norwegian craft, suspected of having liquor aboard, whereas it developed the ship was carrying only bananas.

The British government is following the developments in the I'm Alone case with especial interest in view of the fact that Great Britain will not tolerate any general American policy based on an assumed right to sink ships on the high seas in cases where they may be suspected of having attempted to violate the prohibition laws of the United States.

The French government will await the outcome of the I'm Alone case before taking steps to collect damages against the United States for the victim of the sinking, who was a French subject. Another grievance on the part of France appears to be looming in connection with recent activities of prohibition authorities in New York upon the occasion of departure from the United States of transatlantic vessels of the French Line. Prohibition agents have apparently signaled out French vessels for especial treatment, it is claimed by French Line officials.

From the standpoint of international law the specific question raised by the Canadian note is whether or not America has the right to begin a pursuit outside of American territorial waters, which are measured by 3 miles according to the specific terms of the rum-smuggling treaty. Both Great Britain and Canada deny the right to begin pursuit outside the 3-mile limit and then to "justify" the sinking of a ship on the high seas.

"Hour's Steaming" Factor.

America has been accorded the privilege of searching a suspected ship within an hour's steaming distance of the shore by the terms of the treaty, and from the American standpoint this raises the question as to whether there is not by implication a right of pursuit if the suspected vessel refuses to submit to search after being hailed within an hour's steaming distance of the shore.

Upon the view which America adopts respecting this feature may depend the fate of the Canadian rum-smuggling treaty, although there is already a popular demand in Canada for scrapping this pact, irrespective of how the diplomatic representations over the I'm Alone case result.

Farm Tariff Protested.

With relations between the United States and Canada none too cordial and with the unfortunate effect of the I'm Alone case adding to future difficulties, there are signs of more friction over prospective tariff legislation in the United States. Senator Borah has received an appeal from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce of the United States predicting disruption of cordial relations if tariff duties on agricultural products from Canada are raised. The letter predicts reprisals "from the Canadian government in kind which might prove disastrous in the extreme."

Senator Borah has replied in part as follows:

"I shall support reasonable duties when I think they will be helpful to our own people—not that I love Canada less, but that I love the United States more."

Heifetz Cuts Finger; Omits Violin Recital

Oklahoma City, April 10 (A.P.).—Jascha Heifetz, the violinist, cut his forefinger yesterday when he impulsively started to retrieve the fragment of a tumbler which had slipped from his hand and shattered in a wash basin.

A scheduled recital here last night was canceled and Heifetz departed for Los Angeles with his wife, the former Florence Vidor, screen actress.

SOUTH PLEDGED AID BY TEXTILE COUNCIL

Defense Fund to Be Raised; Wennonah Strikers Ask Union Recognition.

TROOPS LEAVING MILLS

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The executive council of the United Textile Workers of America today pledged the organization's support to striking textile workers in the South.

They notified union textile workers in the South that a defense fund would be raised for their assistance. The council outlined a policy, including a 48-hour week, standardization of wages, and abolition of night work for women and children.

Charlotte, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—Quiet continued in the textile strike sectors of the two Carolinas today as the workers at the Wennonah mills at Lexington, N. C., definitely joined the ranks of the National Textile Workers Union, and one unit of National Guard troops was withdrawn from Gastonia, N. C.

The Wennonah employes, who walked out Monday as a protest against a wage cut and said they were not unionized, today presented four formal demands on the mill management with one being recognition of the National Textile Workers Union. The other demands were: Return to old wage scale for weavers, loom fixers, carders and slashers; 50 per cent increase of wages for spinners and doffers; abolition of all speeding up and doubling up of work.

At Gastonia, Adjt. J. Van B. Metts ordered the cavalry troop from Lincolnton to return to its home station. At the same time the Shelby infantry unit was notified to be ready to leave for its home station tomorrow.

To replace the guardsmen, five units of whom have been guarding the Loray mill of the Manville-Jenckes Co. since a near riot was threatened there last Wednesday, the sheriff of Gaston County today organized a body of 35 special officers, most of the men being World War veterans.

At Forest City, N. C., the 800 workers of the Florence mill remained idle, demanding a 20 per cent increase in pay after mill authorities last night granted demands to abolish a recently inaugurated efficiency system, discharge the efficiency expert and not discharge any of the strikers.

The situation at Pineville, N. C., was unchanged.

At Greenville, Anderson, Union and Woodruff, S. C., where several thousand workers are idle in protest against efficiency systems, the situation also was unchanged.

Cuban Band of Mercy Opposes Bull Fights

Havana, April 10 (A.P.).—A protest against bull fights, said to be held every Sunday at Los Zapotes Farm, near here, was filed with the Cuban interior department today by officials of the Band of Mercy.

Bull fighting in Cuba was barred by a military law drawn up under the provisional governorship of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood. The Band of Mercy accusation that the law is being disregarded is the first on record since early days of the Cuban republic. Interior department officials promised punishment of those found guilty under the criminal code.

Funeral of Chase Is Set for Today

Retired Army Officer Will Be Buried at Arlington With Full Honors.

A military funeral will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at Arlington Cemetery for Col. George Howland Chase, retired, who died suddenly Monday at his home, 1632 Rhode Island avenue northwest.

The honorary pallbearers will be the following justices of the Supreme Court: Willis Van Devanter, James Clark McReynolds, Pierce Butler and W. G. Brantley and Col. Arthur O'Brien, Col. J. W. Davidge and Joseph Clapman, the latter of Philadelphia.

Col. Chase had lived in Washington about sixteen years. Prior to the World War he was with the Midvale Steel Co., of Philadelphia, being an authority on the scientific end of steel manufacture. During the World War his knowledge of the manufacture of steel was put to valuable use. After the war he remained a colonel in the Reserve Corps.

Col. Chase was 62 years old at the time of his death. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Ida Chase, and a son, George Howland Chase, jr., both of this city.

COL. JONES' FUNERAL TODAY

Two Pastors Will Conduct Rites at Residence.

Funeral services for Col. E. Lester Jones, director of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, who died here Monday, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 2906 P street northwest.

The services at the home and at the grave will be conducted by the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor emeritus of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. John C. Palmer, pastor of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery. The honorary pallbearers are Senator Claude Swanson, Senator Wesley L. Jones, Representative Walton Moore, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, Charles C. Carlin, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, Capt. R. L. Faris and Dr. Gregg Birdsall.

RITES FOR A. H. GAWLER.

Funeral of Former District Policeman to Be Held This Morning.

Funeral services will be held at Gawler's chapel on Pennsylvania avenue at 10 o'clock this morning for Albert H. Gawler, a former member of the District police force and at one time doorman of the Columbia Theater, who died Monday in Providence Hospital.

Mr. Gawler had been in failing health for some time. He would have been 74 years of age on April 24. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Bessie Madeira Gawler; a daughter, Mrs. Marie I. Daum; two brothers, Joseph Gawler, of Yakima, Wash., and William Fearson Gawler, clerk in the local Police Court. He is also survived by two grandchildren.

MRS. JANE TAYLOR'S RITES.

Services Will Be Held in Bethel Cemetery Tomorrow Afternoon.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Popkins Taylor, who died yesterday after a long illness at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Popkins, in Groveton, Va., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Bethel Cemetery, Alexandria, Va.

She is survived by her parents; two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Haislip and Mrs. J. B. Popkins, and four brothers, George L., Ludwood A., Thomas W. and Earl L. Popkins.

FINE FOR CHILDREN
Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely know family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active, healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

THE TRAIL OF A WOODEN IDOL.

CHAPTER V.

Alice and Mrs. Sam Escape.

Alice and Sophia escape from the old hotel and take refuge in an old house. There Sophia finds a friend—Wek Doon—who is in charge of a lot of smuggled Chinamen. He hesitates over helping them because Alice belongs to the Secret Service.

MRS SAM led Alice downstairs. They came to the little wicket door. To their disgust, it was locked. Mrs. Sam fumed. "This is an outrage. Why are we locked in?"

"I'll knock on the door and see if we can bring any one," said Alice. "But why do we have to go out?"

"There is another way of getting where I want to go, but it is locked and I have no keys."

"I've a bunch of skeleton keys that will open almost any door," said Alice. "Good! I have the key to the outside entrance, and we might make our escape that way."

"We might try it. I have my revolver and I'm not afraid to risk it," agreed Alice. "We could carry off the wooden idol and so fool Ah Sam. If you take it back to your father I'm sure he will forgive you." Of course, she had no such intention at all. But the first thing necessary was to get away from Ah Sam.

Alice pounded on the door and after a little the man Black opened it.

He carried a revolver in his hand and spoke gruffly. "What do you want?"

"We want to get out and walk around a while. We are tired of being shut in," answered Mrs. Sam.

"Can't be done," growled Black. "It's against orders."

"And how long are we to be kept in here?"

"Till Ah Sam comes back, I suppose. How am I to see the boss before that?" And Black laughed and slammed the door in their faces.

"Well, that didn't work," said Alice. "Shall we try the other road?"

Sophia hesitated. "I guess I won't."

The day dragged along. A dull haze overhung the ocean and the sun grew warm. It looked to Alice as though a storm was coming. It came during the night. The wind blew a perfect gale; there was thunder and a heavy rain. Alice finally slept.

She was awakened by Mrs. Sam, who stood by the bed fully dressed. "I have made up my mind to pull out of here if you will go along with me. I'm going back home and I will take the wooden idol with me. I was dead wrong to go back on Pa as I did."

"Well, that is sensible. I'll get right up. The only thing is, can we get by Black and his partner?"

"We can try."

Alice soon joined her, and Mrs. Sam led the way downstairs.

"There is only one way out, and that is through Pa's storeroom. Everything else is locked up solid."

They stopped long enough to drink a cup of tea and eat the remainder of the last night's supper. Mrs. Sam kept the box with the wooden idol right with her all the time. As soon as they had finished eating she led Alice into the cool cellar. At the end of this was an old wire meat safe which occupied the whole corner. This was, in fact, a secret door, and Mrs. Sam showed Alice a keyhole in one side of it.

Alice went to work with the keys and soon had mastered the lock. The safe swung open and revealed a large square room beyond containing a number of packing boxes and trunks.

"Not much to see here," said Mrs. Sam, "but there is a big value here. Pa never brings anything up to New York until it's sold."

They passed into a long, dark passage and through another door which Mrs. Sam opened. They were now in the cellar of the ruined barn, which stood in the rear of the hotel. They gained the open and found the wind still blowing a perfect gale, but the rain had stopped. Black and his fellow guard were nowhere to be seen.

"The coast seems clear," said Alice. "Shall we follow the road?"

"Let's take to the road, anywhere so long as I get safely away with the wooden idol."

They hurried on. The sky was growing black again and another storm was evidently coming up. When it did come it was worse than the storm of the night before. The rain held off until after they had sighted an old unpainted farmhouse a little way ahead. It looked as though some one might be living in it, for a thin stream of smoke was ascending from the chimney.

Sophia Finds an Old Friend.

"Who on earth can be living in such an old barn?" asked Mrs. Sam. Just then a prolonged peal of thunder caused her to run. Alice kept pace with her and they reached the door of the old house. Waiting for no invitation, they bolted inside, and were treated to a surprise which nearly took their breath away. The floor of the main room, where a fire burned in an old coal stove, was covered with sleeping Chinese, all in American clothes, with their bundles.

"Oh, my!" gasped Mrs. Sam. "We're up against it now, all right." There was no chance of escape now, for the rain was falling in torrents. At this moment one of the Chinamen came out from another room and stood in the doorway looking at Alice and Mrs. Sam.

"Who are you?" demanded the Chinaman in his native tongue. "How did you get here?"

"We lost our way and were overtaken by the storm. We came in here for refuge," responded Alice glibly.

"Is that your wife?" demanded the Chinaman, pointing to Mrs. Sam.

"Yes."

"You have come to a bad place. You are seeing something you have no business to see. Perhaps you are a detective. How do I know?" responded the Chinaman.

"That is nonsense."

The Chinaman suddenly shouted. "Wake up! Wake up! Strangers have come. Perhaps they are spies. Awake!"

Many sprang to their feet, some drew their revolvers as they came crowding about Alice and Mrs. Sam. The man who had spoken checked any further movement.

"Wait, men," he said in his own language, "we must go slow." Then addressing himself to Alice he said, "What brings you here?"

"It was just accident. We were overtaken by the storm. Allow us to remain and we shall be deaf, dumb and blind to all we see."

The leader seemed about to yield, but the others were doubtful. "They think you are a white man in disguise," was the reply. "You will have to be prisoners until we get out of this."

Surrounded by the threatening group the examination of Alice began. They discovered, first, that she wore a wig and when this was removed they could see she was a white woman. He pushed his search further and uncovered Alice's Secret Service shield. That settled it. She could not convince them she was not there on business.

"I understand," cried the leader. "Probably you two were in a party who were on the watch for us and in some way got separated from them. Is that it?"

"No, it's not so," replied Alice. Then at a venture she went on to ask, "Is your agent Mr. Jonathan Jenkins?"

"Yes!" cried the leader.

"Well, then," she said, "this lady is Sophia Jenkins."

"I thought I knew her," cried the leader.

"And you are Wek Doon, who used to come in my father's pawnshop on the Bowery when I was a little girl."

"That's right."

"Oh, Wek Doon, don't let these men do us any harm, will you? I am so afraid."

"There will be no harm done to you, certainly; but how about this secret service woman?"

"Listen, Wek Doon. Ah Sam is a villain. He deceived my father about the time of your landing. We came down here before the storm and Ah Sam went away to meet the steamer. Do as I tell you and you will probably get your tug. You want to take these men to New York in it, I suppose?"

"No; we are going to a place in Delaware. But I hardly know whether to believe you or not. Isn't there a wooden idol mixed up in this?"

Wek Doon seemed to hesitate. Then he turned to his companions and reported that he was going with Sophia to the hotel and ordered them to remain quietly where they were until his return. They had not gone far before they noticed a volume of smoke rising above the trees in the direction of the hotel. Wek Doon would go no further and went back to the old house.

It was not until nearly 10 o'clock when, finding that no one put in an appearance, Wek Doon again started with Mrs. Sam and Alice for the hotel.

Another chapter of this thrilling serial appears in tomorrow's issue. Don't miss it! Old King Brady is on the trail of the hideous wooden idol.

THE CIGAR STORE LUNCH.

(Copyright 1929, by the Associated Newspapers.)

A great chain of cigar stores is to put in luncheonettes. It is announced. When this comes about it will be possible to get something to eat anywhere except in a hardware store, coal office or shoe shop.

A few years ago when a man wanted a quick lunch he sought a lunchroom. Then the drug stores went into the food business. They began with sandwiches and coffee, but speedily worked up to soups, salads and roasts. Today when a man stops you on the street and asks where there is a drug store you never can tell whether he is in a hurry to get some rubbing liniment and a bottle of iodine or a plate of clam chowder and a piece of pumpkin pie.

The old-fashioned drug store proprietor was always a trained apothecary whose chief interest was rolling pills and crushing herbs. Over the store there hung an aroma of medicines. The modern proprietor is more apt to be a food specialist who gets a kick out of thinking up new salads, and the predominant drug store aroma is that of burning toast.

Big department stores began catering to the inner man some years ago, the 5 and 10 cent stores in most cities have lunch counters today and now that the corner cigar store is to have an affiliated lunch counter it seems but a matter of time before a hungry citizen may get a sandwich and a cup of coffee in a bank, brokerage office, haberdashery, plumbing supply store or florist's shop.

The cigar store luncheonette will, of course, give coupons.

Two with a cup of coffee, five with a cheese sandwich and ten with a vegetable plate.

After you have eaten two or three hundred times at a cigar store you will have enough coupons to get yourself a motorcycle, a radio set, a couple of bird guns or a banjo.

QUIET, automatic, made entirely of steel . . . this General Electric is indeed the "refrigerator of the future"!

The engineers and scientists of the Research Laboratories, having solved the most important problem of electric refrigeration—that of the mechanism—next turned their attention to the designing and building of this infinitely superior, warp-proof refrigerator cabinet.

It is a small-family model, built entirely of steel—as strong as a safe. It cannot warp. All its joints are electrically welded . . . as strong as the steel itself.

The cabinet is finished in a special coating that has all the beauty and sheen of porcelain, but will not crack, chip or check. It has a new type of insulation material, used in exactly the correct amount to maintain correct temperature, well below the 50 degree danger point.

Like all General Electric Refrigerators it has an easily accessible temperature control whereby the user may accelerate the freezing rate of ice cubes when desirable.

NEW LOW PRICES NOW IN EFFECT ON ALL MODELS

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL.

As this is written, Wednesday noon, I have just finished a long telephone conversation with Jimmy Carrier of the Rialto Theater, during which he confided many important facts pertinent to the reopening of the Ninth street house.

Universal, it seems, is understandably and properly disinclined to risk the uncertainty of booking its major sound and dialogue features into local houses of representative first-run standing already booked solid with comparable attractions of their own production or that of allied companies, so will again throw open the doors of Tom Moore's "Temple of the Muses" on Monday night, April 22, with an international premiere of "Show Boat."

"Show Boat," of course, is Universal's reputedly stupendous sound, dialogue, singing and dancing adaptation of the Edna Ferber story, already glorified by Florenz Ziegfeld in a fabulous musical version viewed by Washington even before it went on to wow Broadway as its season's outstanding smash. Its premiere presentation in the Capital will be a benefit performance for certain worthy projects being carried forward at Walter Reed Hospital, and the audience, it is expected, will include the leaders of Washington's official, social and diplomatic life.

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal; Florenz Ziegfeld, famous producer; Helen Morgan, one of the stars of the Ziegfeld production of "Show Boat," who incidentally will in all probability croon a group of her celebrated songs from the top of somebody's piano, and Laura La Plante, star of the camera-microphone edition of the Ferber best seller, are expected to lend the occasion the glamour of their presence.

"Show Boat" is being brought into the Rialto for an extended run engagement and is only the first of several notable specials to be similarly exploited at Ninth and G. The second, according to present plans, will be RKO's release of "Syncopation," the talking, singing, dancing hit in which Waring's Pennsylvanians comprise one of the unusual entertainment units. Morton Downey, Paul Whiteman's lyric tenor discovery, has an important role, as have also Barbara Bennett, daughter of Richard Bennett, noted actor, and former dancing partner of Maurice, and Bobby Watson, the male modiste of "Irene."

Following this will come "Broadway," audible camera version of the stage hit of the same name. And so on.

It may be of interest to know that William A. Johnston, owner and publisher of Motion Picture News, a leading trade paper of the industry, had this to write home about "Show Boat" when he viewed it recently in Miami: "'Show Boat' is a knockout and will rank among the ten best pictures of the year. Action is swift and the acting is of the highest order. The backgrounds are spacious and colorful and Laura La Plante is a revelation. The sound drama of the story has been skillfully retained." Old Doctor Johnston makes very few mistakes.

This seems to be telephone day. Another message just received conveys the information that John Irving Fisher, whose drollery seems to have caught on with the cognoscenti, will continue a third week as master of ceremonies at the Fox, and that the 40 Fox Melody Masters, under the conductorship of Leon Brusiloff, will once more take the stage to furnish a rhinestone-mounted background for the stage show to be inaugurated on Saturday.

Or maybe it isn't background they are to provide—perhaps it is foreground. Mr. Meakin choked over his blindfold test just then and I muffed the part concerning the precise manner in which the artists in the revue are to be brought farther down stage to strut their material in more intimate relationship with the cash customers, but something looking in that general direction is being steamed up.

Thelma Parker, whose personal triumph far exceeded the public acclaim bestowed upon the Savoy Musical Comedy Co., fostered by Charles Emerson Cook, during its ultimately disastrous season at the Belasco and a cataclysmic week or two at Keith's about inauguration time, will revive her individual popularity next week by presenting an interval of dance on the stage of the Palace in which her partner in the Terpsichorean goings-on will be Wesley Eddy himself.

This will afford the idol worshipers an unprecedented opportunity to blister the palms in noisy extollation of two deservedly perennial favorites of the local boards. In fact, I suspect there will be cheering.

Incidentally, I am happy to chronicle that M. J. Cullen, managing director of the Loew interests in this city, who saved his winter flu for early spring consumption, is up and about—not to say at 'em—again.

Replying to many inquiries: yes "The Canary Murder Case," at the Metropolitan next week, and "The Wild Party," at the Earle ditto, are both all-talking pictures. In the latter Clara Bow sounds about as you would expect her to, knowing what you do, and the former Louise Brooks sounds not much of any.

I wish I could train that robin to pull weeds out of the yard instead of worms! If he thinks he and his old lady are going to nest in my umbrella tree for nothing, he's crazy!

Canadian Legation Expense Defended

Premier King Praises Work of Vincent Massey in Washington.

Ottawa, April 10 (A.P.)—Expenditure of $500,000 by Canada on its legation in Washington was defended today by Premier Mackenzie King in an address in the House of Commons.

Speaking in defense of the administration budget from attacks by Conservatives, Mr. King pointed out that all foreign ministers in Washington live in buildings owned by their countries. Complaint of the expenditure had been made by Hugh Guthrie, an opposition leader.

Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to Washington, said the premier, deserved praise from all parties and from the country for the manner in which he has represented his country. He said Mr Massey had placed his own private fortune at the services of his country and received in salary only a small portion of what he spent.

$800 Fire in Cleveland.

Cleveland, April 10 (A.P.).—More than $800,000 damage was done today by a fire that swept through the five-story Buckeye Building at East Fourth street and Prospect avenue here. The fire started on the third floor from an unknown cause.

Sudden need for extra help can be met by an ad in the classified columns of The Washington Post.

Architect Is Named To Plan Courthouse

Cass Gilbert to Submit Specifications to Commission by May 15.

Cass Gilbert, famous New York architect, has been employed to draw preliminary plans for the new United States Supreme Court Building, it was announced yesterday. He also will supply estimates of cost and models, and report to the Supreme Court Commission on or before May 15.

The land for the new building also has been acquired by the Federal Government. It is bounded by East Capitol street, First and Second streets and Maryland avenue. A street is to be closed.

Architect of the Capitol Lynn, who is a member of the commission, said yesterday that he hoped legislation authorizing money for the new building would be enacted at the extra session, and the money made available at the opening of the regular session, beginning in December.

COMING TO THE THEATERS

POLI'S.

The Metropolitan Opera "gala season" of grand opera in Washington is now but one week away, when Gatti-Casazza's incomparable stars will bring, for three performances, all the splendors of the finest grand opera that America or that any land can assemble. "Manon" opens the series, with Lucrezia Bori in the title role, and with Gigli, DeLuca and Rothier in the cast of the single French opera of the season, on Wednesday evening, April 17. Hasselmans conducts. The operas are at Poli's.

Washington will be privileged to hear four notable casts, in the three operatic events. For the second evening, those famous "twins" of opera will be given with unrivalled stars in the casts. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," as a double bill, will be given on Thursday evening, April 18 Rosa Ponselle, Philine Falco, Marion Telva, Tokstyan and Lawrence Tibbett make up the cast for the first opera. "Pagliacci" brings Edward Johnson as Canio; Editha Fleischer, Giuseppe Danise, who is said to be above reproach in his singing of the "Prologo;" Angelo Bada and George Cehanovsky. Vincenzo Bellezza will conduct.

"Aida," for the Saturday matinee, April 20, will be a gorgeous spectacle, the entire corps de ballet with Rita De Leporte, being seen here for the only time. Again Rosa Ponselle has the prima donna role, with Giacomo Lauri-Volpi, Marion Telva, Mario Basiola as Amonasro, Ezio Pinza, Alfio Tedesco and Aida Doninelli. Serafin will conduct.

Four of the greatest vocal scores will be heard in Washington, with greatest opportunities for the singers. From the French is one of delicacy and finesse, with three soul-stirring Italian works that throb out the greatest arias of Italy. Like Atlanta, today, Washington is making the coming of the "Met" a big civic affair. Rarely can one hear, together, so many great artists, while the large chorus and an orchestra of 65 complete the roster. Tickets are now on sale at Mrs. Wilson-Greene's concert bureau in Droop's.

NATIONAL.

For the week beginning Monday, April 15, the National Theater Players will present the comedy mystery thriller, "The Skull," a play which Washington has never seen. The National Theater Players will be the first company ever to produce this play in repertoire.

Written by Bernard J. Owen and Harry E. Humphrey, two master stage technicians, "The Skull" is said to be "The Bat" of the present day. It throbs with startling scenes and situations. The background is an abandoned church near Greenwich, Conn. Except in one of the Shakespearean plays, there has been no such use made of a church as in this powerful melodramatic mystery thriller.

Extraordinary characters are sketched in "The Skull." An old professor, who is a hypnotist on the side, and The Skull, whose identity is not revealed until the final curtain, are outstanding. Also there is a group of men and women who become "inextricably enmeshed in the happenings of the old church."

Two matinees, on Wednesday and Saturday, will be played during the run of "The Skull," heralded as one of the finest mystery plays of the present-day theater.

BELASCO.

Stephen Phillips' romantic drama, "Paolo and Francesca," will be presented by Jane Cowl and a notable cast at the Belasco Theater next week. The large and appreciative audience which welcomed Miss Cowl's one matinee performance of the play here last spring indicated the widespread interest in this poetic drama of yesteryear, and she now definitely adds it to her classic repertory.

Philip Merivale, Katherine Emmet and Guy Standing are featured members of Miss Cowl's large supporting company, which includes Jessie Ralph, Joyce Carey, Lionel Hogarth, Hale Norcross and Robert Lowe.

STRAND.

At the Strand Theater next week several new faces will greet visitors to Wava White and her "Red Hots." No matter how well established choruses are, they are never the same from season to season, but "Red Hots" seem to prove the exception, retaining its choruses from year to year. They are an aggregation of singers and dancers as well as good lookers. The principals are Agnes McCormack, Billy Gordon, Bert Scott, Gordon Rydeen, Milt Frankford, Wava White, the latter two being featured. Thursday evening will see the usual wrestling match between local favorites.

MUSICAL FAIRY TALE.

The Girl Reserves of the Young Women's Christian Association will present "Cinderella," a musical fairy tale in three acts by Harvey Worthington Loomis, in Barker Hall, Seventeenth and K streets, tomorrow and Saturday nights, and Saturday afternoon of this week, under the direction of Imogene B. Ireland and Alice Sigworth Morse.

The operetta is given under the general direction of Miss Elsa M. Petersen, chairman of the Girl Reserve department, and the Girl Reserve secretaries, Miss Mabel R. Cook, Miss Dorothea McDowell and Miss Katherine Moritz. The proceeds will be used to send to the summer conference at Lake Kiskiminitas, Pa., and to Camp Kahlert, girls who otherwise would not have a vacation.

OFFER ENDS SATURDAY

There's Time Enough Left Yet if You Make Haste.

There isn't very much left of this week, so those who have not been fortunate enough to come into possession of one of these new Dictionaries should make haste.

The offer positively ends Saturday, and if you do not get yours by that time, you will get left. So that's that! Tell your friends to hurry if they want one. There's time enough now, but next week will be too late.

You know about the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue, so clip it, and act at once. Only one coupon now.

Were Your Kidneys Ever Injured?

Severe illness of any kind usually has some harmful effect on the kidneys. Many cases of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, High Blood Pressure, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble can be traced to an attack of grippe, pneumonia, influenza, scarlet fever or diphtheria. If you have had any of these diseases you will be wise to investigate the condition of your kidneys—and to give them the soothing tonic benefits of Nature's famous kidney agent, Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark. Physicians recommend it as an aid in preventing and treating all kidney disorders. "Ask your doctor." Phone us for a case today. We deliver.

Children

play their way across... and so do you

The stewardess speaks English as well as French. ✣ But the Punch and Judy show, the sand box on deck, the dishes served in the children's dining room, the pictures on the playroom wall... talk the international language of childhood everywhere.

Children are at home the minute they come on board a French liner... safe, happy, amused every minute. ✣ You don't feel you're neglecting them when you amuse yourself... reading, dancing, going to sleep untroubled in your deck chair. ✣ It's a holiday for all of you... which is just what an Atlantic crossing should be.

The "France," the "Paris" and the "Ile de France" together form a Weekly Express Service between Paris, London and New York. ✣ The cabin liners, "De Grasse" and "Rochambeau", take a little longer... and cost a lot less. ✣ Children under ten, of course, go for half fare. ✣ Pets... if the children want to take them... have a thoroughly royal time.

Make this week-end one of pleasure—

it's apple blossom time in the Shenandoah

Are you tired of four walls and a ceiling—tired of the town and its streets? Then take to the open road. Motor down the valley of the Shenandoah to the Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Virginia. Hundreds of miles of paved highways skirt pink and white orchards. Spring air—rich with the perfume of the budding trees.

You'll forget your cares by the many winding streams that come from nowhere to run gurgling by the foot of the blue-fringed mountains.

Go the "Standard" way. Write for a "Standard" map and for road directions. Fill up, as you motor, at the bright red "Standard," or the silver ESSO pumps. Good motor fuels, these. Bubbling with the life of spring. Obliging, alert service to make your way a happier one.

If you can't enjoy the Apple Blossom Festival, or the Magnolia Gardens at Charleston, S. C., drive through the country anyway. Play in the spring—at its fullest. Let "Standard" be your guide. Wherever you go remember that "Standard" Gasoline and "Standard" Motor Oil will help you pull the longest grades. For those who want a perfect anti-knock fuel there is ESSO—full of Giant Power. Speedy service and courtesy are yours at every "Standard" station.

"STANDARD" TOURING SERVICE

Write today to the "Standard" Touring Service, 26 Broadway, New York City, for free, accurate, up-to-date information and road maps. Be sure to pick the right road and arrive on schedule. It's a pleasure to help you, as we helped more than 30,000 others last year. Let "Standard" be your guide.

Inventor of Microphone Gets Medal

Presentation to Berliner Will Be Made Tuesday in Philadelphia—2 Are Mentioned for Honor to Best Diction Announcer.

Emile Berliner, our fellow citizen, who originated the microphone, making possible the commercial use of the telephone and subsequently an essential part of radio broadcasting, has been awarded by the Franklin Institute the highest honor Philadelphia can bestow—the Franklin Medal. The presentation will be made in Philadelphia Monday.

Berliner's ushering in of the telephone and radio age, through his discovery of the electrical characteristics of the loose contacts and his application of them to telephony, is but one of three great scientific achievements of his which the Franklin Institute is to honor 59 years after his arrival from Germany as a poor immigrant lad.

His two other great inventions now commemorated are his development of that type of talking machine which uses a disk, on which the sound is recorded by a laterally cut groove, and his contributions "to the production of proper acoustical qualities in architectural structures."

A distinguished British scientist, Dr. Charles Thomson Rees Wilson, professor of natural philosophy, of Cambridge University, already a recipient of the Nobel Prize, will be honored by the Franklin Institute on the same occasion.

The competition for the awarding of a gold medal to announcers for good diction over the radio by the American Academy of Arts and Letters has now drawn to a close. The announcement of the winner and the presentation of the medal will take place in New York April 23.

A report reaching Washington has it that Norman Brokenshire, well known here, and now with Station WABC, is being favorably considered by the academy committee, whose membership includes George Pierce Baker, of Yale; Booth Tarkington, John H. Finley, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and others. The name of John B. Daniel has been mentioned also as one of the winners.

There is sometimes a shade of sadness in the letters received by radio stations. Just recently Paul McCluer, announcer of WENR, Chicago, asked the audience whether he should discontinue playing "The Big Tin Pan Parade," which has been a special feature on Saturday mornings. Among the answers received was one from Mrs. Violet Nelson, Cicero, Ill., who wrote: "For months my little 3-year-old son and I listened to your hour, and his favorite number was 'The Big Tin Pan Parade.' He was learning to sing it, and then he fell ill with pneumonia.

"For hours he was delirious and in his delirium kept mumbling parts of the song. His last words, before he died were the words of the song. He was my only child and now, as I sit at home alone and hear the number played, it seems that Buddy is still with me, sitting beside me and singing, as he used to do. I am hoping you will continue the number in your program."

With the celebration of the second anniversary of the Roxy Theater, a tabulation of figures for the year reveals the fact that Roxy's radio activities for that period cost more than $5,000 in postage stamps alone. Approximately $3,000 was fastened on replies to individual fans. More than $2,000 was required for postage on pictures of the "Gang."

Along with the letters that come to Roxy for information about a composition that may have been played on a particular date, or to ask for a number to be played on a future days, are thousands that request facts concerning the artists themselves. Roxy has made them curious about those he introduces.

Toscanini, the great conductor, dropped into the broadcasting studio in New York recently to hear Lucrezia Bori sing and at the same time watch Josef Pasternack conduct.

"This is my first visit to a broadcasting station," he said. "And I can only stay fifteen minutes because Mme. Toscanini is ill."

But instead the conductor stayed until the evening's broadcasting was over. He stood in the center of the control booth, his hands thrust deep into his pockets, his head bowed, his black eyebrows knitted in a fierce grimace. He seemed fascinated by the instrument board where the operator controlled the volume of the orchestra and Mme Bori's voice.

At the close of the program Mme Bori mentioned to the radio audience that the maestro was present. Toscanini's face reflected astonishment, then it took on the air of a small boy betrayed, as though some one had broken a solemn promise.

New tubes for old

Loss of volume, quality and distance are usually signs of worn-out vacuum tubes. Once a year they should be replaced by a new set of RCA Radiotrons.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN.

April 11.

MARGARET OF NAVARRE, famous in the history of France as a protector of Protestant ministers and as a patroness of men of letters as well as a writer of ability, was born this day, 1492. She was a sister of King Francis I of France and was brought up in the court of Louis XII. She married Henry d'Albret, titular King of Navarre. She never reigned as queen there but resided at the French court and kept her own court at Nerac and Pau.

Her letters have been published in modern times.

Other noted women born this day include Mary White Covington, American social worker, 1865, and Elizabeth Firth, American singer and actress, 1884.

Hymn Sing Arranged on Air Tonight

Quartet on WRC at 7. Four Noted Violins at 9. Community Kitchens to Be Discussed on WMAL by Ida Bailey Allen.

A Midweek Hymn-Sing, sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches and the National Broadcasting Co. will be broadcast through WRC at 7 o'clock. Rhoda Arnold, soprano; Frederick Vettel, tenor; Hazel Tuthill, contralto, and Arthur Billings Hunt, barytone and director, will be heard in solo and quarte. arrangements of familiar hymns.

Irving Berlin is honored in a song cycle of his most familiar works to be broadcast by the Hoover Sentinels at 8:30 o'clock. "Alexander's Rag-Time Band," played by the Hoover Orchestra; "Blue Skies," by the quartet; "Russian Lullaby" and "All Alone" as solos, by Miss Jessica Dragonette, and "All Alone," by Miss Dragonette and Leo O'Rourke, are included. Among the selections for the orchestra during this broadcast are "Leave Me a Beautiful Melody," "Weary River" and "You Were Meant For Me."

A special arrangement of Friml's "Indian Love Call" for four muted violins will be heard in the broadcast by the Seiberling Singers at 9 o'clock. James Melton, tenor, will sing "O Paradiso" from Meyerbeer's "L'Africana," and "Just a Little Love, a Little Kiss." The Seiberling Singers will contribute "Venetian Love Song," and the Rasbach music for Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

The Old Counselor's advice during the Halsey, Stuart program at 10 o'clock will be interspersed with the following selections by a novelty orchestra:

"Dance of the Marionettes," Gusney; "Glorious Spring" from "Music in May," Reubens; "Invitation to the Dance," Weber; "Moment Musical," Schubert; "Kashmiri Song" from "Four Indian Love Lyrics," Woodforde-Finden, and a selection from "The Royal Vagabond," Goetzl.

The National Broadcasting and Concert Bureau Hour will be presented at 10:30 o'clock, followed by a half hour of Slumber Music.

The United States Marine Band will be on the air for an hour from WRC starting at 9 o'clock this morning. An organ recital will be broadcast at 12:10 o'clock. Another band concert will be heard when the Army Band is presented at 4 o'clock.

Helen Oelheim, contralto, will be heard in two solos as a feature of a varied musical program that is to be presented in the Sonora Hour at 9:30 o'clock from WMAL. Miss Oelheim will sing the "Cossack Love Song" from the "Song of the Flame" and "Land of Romance," an outstanding melody of the musical show, "Castles in the Air."

"The Musical Foursome," a novel program with the locker room of a golf club as its setting, will make its debut as a weekly feature of the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10:15 o'clock. In the first broadcast the four young men, Bill, Ernie, Al and Bob, will be heard in "Moonlight Bay," "You're the Cream in My Coffee," "On the Banks of the Wabash," "A Room With a View" and "Moonlight and Roses."

Fritz Kreisler's composition, "Tamborin Chinoise" will be given a symphonic jazz interpretation by the Columbians, directed by Freddie Rich, at 10:30 o'clock. "Ragamuffin," a novelty number, will be interpreted by the 42-piece aggregation, and in their second effort, "I'll Never Ask For More" they will be assisted by the Recorders, a popular male quartet.

What would be the effect of community kitchens throughout the United States? Would they strengthen or undermine our social structure? Would they bring down or raise the cost of living? These are some of the questions that Ida Bailey Allen will discuss at 10 o'clock this morning from WMAL.

This talk is followed by the Melody Musketeers and the Topaz Trio.

Mary Newton and Helen Wallace, of the National Theater Players, are scheduled for some songs and music before the microphone at 6:30 o'clock from WOL. This program will be preceded by a group of popular piano solos by Jerry Jernigan. Florence Jane Adams, the child impersonator, will entertain the audience of WOL at 6:45 o'clock. The usual Carlton dinner concert will be broadcast at 7 o'clock, with an interruption at 7:11 o'clock for "Amos 'n' Andy."

Two hours of dance music will complete the day's program.

The station will be on the air with the usual features during the morning hours. "Should Mother Go Gadding," is the subject which Peggy Clarke will discuss in the Talk to Parents at 11 o'clock.

WJSV will present several features at noon, signing off until 6:30 o'clock when the Civic and Classified program will be presented. There will be several short features during the evening, the program closing with an hour's entertainment by the Columbia Trio.

President Herbert Hoover's first message to Congress, which will open the extraordinary session at noon, on Tuesday, April 16, will be read to a nation-wide audience of the Columbia system including WMAL, by Frederic William Wile, almost simultaneously with its delivery by the reading clerk of the House of Representatives. The rules of the United States Senate prohibit broadcasting from the Congressional Chambers, so permission was obtained from President Hoover for Frederic William Wile to begin to read it to the radio audience five minutes after the reading clerk of the House of Representatives begins in the Capitol.

Dare Interprets the Mode

A youthful frock developed in a red and white checkered wool, with white collar faced with light blue, and red borders at hem and cuffs. (Courtesy of the Maison Jenny, Paris.)

THE battle of the coiffures goes merrily on!

Every day or two some one announces that longer hair is now a la mode for Miladi—but many (and perhaps the majority) of Lovely Ladies go right on wearing their hair as short as ever.

According to all predictions, Miladi's hair should now be in waves, curls and ringlets, showing at the neck and ears under the brim of her hat—but she is once more proving (to put the old French proverb into American phraseology) that she wants what she wants when she wants it, and that when she doesn't want it she doesn't accept it, predictions or no.

• • • •

However, let's not be too arbitrary in the matter. Despite what we have just said, there are indications here and there that hair will be longer one of these days, even if not so speedily as some have imagined. At least we have gotten away from the completely mannish coiffure "a la garconne."

And since the present evening mode demands a feminine appearance, a Parisian creator has just brought out a lovely transformation of rose silk and bands of silver intermingled!

• • • •

No mess, no fuss, very little expense, and surely ridiculously little time compared to the results you are sure to achieve with our detailed directions!

Directions in this week's leaflet for making lovely bookcovers—you know, the kind that cost $20 a look in little art shops—and you need only send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet!

Let's occupy one of those vacation days beautifying our lives for all time, by covering our favorite books, and making some dainty boxes for cigarettes, cards—and all the other things that boxes are for. Our directions tell you exactly how.

• • • •

Permit me to make another yell about bloomers!

Far be it from me to wish to make you self-conscious, but if that is the only way, so be it. I am so disgusted with glimpses of feminine pulchritude, and nonpulchritude! Short skirts demand bloomers.

Short skirts are appropriate for sports wear and tailleurs, you know, and with these it is so simply disgusting not to wear bloomers. Let your flair for dainty step-ins and teddies be confined to your afternoon and evening wear, but for heaven's sake, American women should quit being the laughing-stock of the whole world, and the butt of innumerable not so nice jokes at our expense, in all languages. Don't believe it? Ask hubbi-.

• • • •

Not for nothing have Poiret, Louise-boulanger, Redfern and others introduced the matching coulottes into sports wear and tailleurs. The perfect finish for a short-skirted ensemble is matching bloomers, or coulottes. Other and finer lingerie is worn under it, of course. But perfect freedom and lack of self-consciousness is possible only with the knowledge of perfect grooming—and the winds that blow, the auto steps that step, and all the other things that contrive to make a lovely lady show more of her cuticle than she wishes shown to a gaping public are all robbed of their viciousness.

• • • •

L'le At-Pos-Mere.

The broiled lobster of a woman (not lady) who wore short skirts and no bloomers, and sat in a deck-chair—which necessarily inclines the knees above the hips.

And the German, Spanish, French English, Japanese, Chinese and Malay jokes that were coined on that boat—ostensibly at her expense, but actually at the expense of all women!

• • • •

And then a pretty little Jenny dress to save the day—of red and white checked woolen, edged in red, and with an audacious little white collar touched with pale blue!

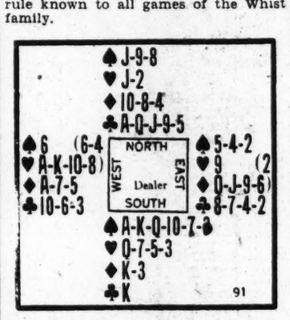
WORK ON BRIDGE

Mr. Work has prepared a booklet giving detailed information concerning the correct way to play Progressive Auction Bridge. This booklet will be sent to all readers without charge. Mr. Work will also answer without charge any Bridge questions. Requests must be accompanied by an addressed, stamped, return envelope, and addressed to Mr. Milton C. Work, care of this newspaper.

CONTINUING the series of "Misplayed Hands I Have Met," I give today one in which the correct play involves breaking what many people believe to be the most sacred rule known to all games of the Whist family.



South Declarer, Spades trump. West led the King of Hearts and when East played the Nine, West took it to be an encouragement card and continued with the Ace on which East discarded the Deuce of Clubs. West could now be sure that East did not desire a Club lead; but whether he wanted another Heart lead for the purpose of over-ruffing Dummy, or a Diamond lead for the purpose of making the King, West could only guess. West decided to try the Ace of Diamonds and, although East did not have the King, he deemed it advisable to encourage a second diamond lead by playing the Six instead of the Deuce; it looked better for West to continue Diamonds rathen than open any other suit. Declarer's King won the second Diamond trick and of course he had no difficulty in making the remaihing tricks and game. If West had led anything but the Ace of Diamonths at trick 3, it would have been still worse for him because Declarer would have discarded his two Diamonds on Dummy's Clubs and made five-odd.

Could the game have been saved?

The Correct Play.

At trick 2, East should have sensed the danger that South might discard losing Diamonds on North's good Clubs; and realized that the Diamond suit should be led by East up to Dummy's weakness rather than through it by West. East could also see that a third Heart lead by West would be useless because East could not over-ruff Dummy. So East should have committed the mortal sin of trumping his partner's Ace so as to lead the Diamond to trick 3. It will be noted that this play would save the game, regardless of whether South plays the King of Diamonts or ducks.

VIII. A LONG, THIN COUNTRY

NOW we come to a country of very strange shape. It is called Chile and is very long and very thin. The average width of Chile is barely 100 miles. At some points it is less than 50 miles wide.

Loading nitrate with help of cranes.

Now let us see how long the country is. We shall pretend that we can pick it up and carry it to North America. We lay the northern end so that it just touches the shore of Hudson Bay. Then the rest of Chile will run down past Ottawa and Hamilton into the United States. It will stretch from Buffalo to Florida, and there will still be plenty of land left.

The remainder of the land would be enough to be laid across Cuba, and the southern end would stretch nearly to the Panama Canal!

The people of Chile are lucky because nature gave their land great beds of nitrate of soda. This nitrate is found on mountain sides.

Nitrate is stored in a kind of ore known as "caliche." The caliche is blasted out with gunpowder, and the broken pieces are hauled to a nitrate plant where they are crushed and then soaked in water. The water separates the nitrate from the rest of the caliche.

In that part of Chile (the northern part) it seldom rains. That is a good thing for those who own the mines, since a heavy rain on a nitrate bed would ruin it. The government taxes nitrate which is sent out of the country, and thus obtains much money for use in paying for schools and other public works.

Santiago is Chile's capital city. It is a good-sized city (containing about 600,000 persons) and has a fine climate. It is on flat ground except for a great hill in the center which is used as a public park. That hill was formed thousands of years ago by lava and ashes cast up by a volcano. Now it is covered with grass, bushes and trees.

What Today Means to You

APRIL 11

By MARY BLAKE.

"ARIES."

IF April 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you today are from 8 a. m. to 10:15 a. m., from 1:30 p. m. to 2:45 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon, and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:45 p. m.

The signs today are very favorable for all business enterprises, and much material success can be safely anticipated if you concentrate on the particular class of work that appeals to you. Look out for squalls in the family circle!

Children born today will have the desire to do things and to be "in" things, and by determination will force their way through in spite of handicaps. They are destined to accomplish much. They will possess considerable self-poise and independence.

You are easily discouraged and easily depressed—at once the despair and the joy of your friends and associates. There are times when you are sitting on top of the world looking for brighter and larger planets. When in this mood, you fearlessly attempt anything, and you like everybody and everybody likes you.

At other times you are crushed beneath a Sea of Worries, overcome by self-pity and have little confidence or liking for either yourself or companions. No one knows in which mood you may be found.

It is true that you will meet with your share of disappointments, and that at times the sunshine will be hidden from your view by fogs of sorrow or doubt; but you must remember that our backs are fitted to our burdens and that you need never bend. The sun is always shining behind the clouds and every fog will be lifted.

When in the right spirit you are a most capable, energetic worker, but when you are blue your interest and efforts lag, and you do not do yourself credit. You are a real sportsman and nature lover. When you are given an opportunity to play in the great outdoors, you are merry at heart and a true "optimist." You are a friend to all animals.

Successful people born April 11:

Edward Everett, statesman and author.

Samuel B. Ruggles, lawyer of New York.

Charles W. Couldock, actor.

Henry G. Marquand, philanthropist.

POP THINKS THOSE THIRD-CLASS TOURIST SHIPS MUST MAKE A LOT OF STRANGE BEDFELLOWS.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

INVALID AND FULL LIFE.

IN May, 1928, Dr. Henry F. Gilbert died at 60 years of age. He was an outstanding composer of music, being recognized as the great expounder of American native music. He had laboriously delved into the spirit of Indian music, negro music, American folk music, and other musical philosophies and expressions, some indigenous to the soil, some dug up out of the racial memories of isolated groups of settlers and some molded by American climates and other environmental influences.

He taught himself to find the urge in these melodies and then to interpret their culture to his fellow men. He contributed much to a musical race or nation consciousness in our country. He accomplished all of this in spite of an organic weakness which is almost beyond belief.

His friends knew him as a man of poor health and feeble endurance. He had been an invalid since birth. He easily became breathless. If they were observing they noticed a peculiar bluish-red, dusky hue in his face and a clubbing of his fingers. His physicians knew that he had a congenital heart disease. There was a large opening between the left verticle and the right and the left verticle was very large.

The first part of the artery which ran from the heart to the lungs was obliterated, the aorta received blood from both verticles and distributed blood to the lungs as well as to the system at large. In other words, instead of having one side of his heart acting as a pump for the lungs and the other for the remainder of the body, this man had two arterial systems and his two blood supplies mixed up in an impossible manner.

Babies born with this congenital deformity are likely to die in infancy. If infancy is survived the afflicted person is likely to live a brief life of invalidism and to die in early youth. The greatest age ever attained by any person with this defect, prior to Dr. Gilbert, was 36 years. He, therefore, broke the record by 24 years.

Doubtless in his early childhood his parents were told he had heart murmurs and organic heart disease. Doubtless hundreds of physicians at one time or another had warned him. However, he heeded no warning. His ever-present shortness of breath warned him enough. He could easily have justified himself in a life of idle useles invalidism. Instead of that, he worked to his full capacity, lived a worthwhile life and, finally, died of apoplexy, a disorder not directly related to his congenital heart disease.

BRIDGE PLAYER'S PLEA

Stranger at my back, I pray,
Do not tell me how to play;
Do not nudge me as a lead.
Moments undisturbed I need.
Watch me if you must and will,
But I beg of you be still.

Friend or foe, behind my chair,
Mine must be the loss to bear;
Mine the gain if gain there be.
And although three hands you see,
I prefer my chance to run
Unadvised by any one.

Sit you down and watch the game.
But that impulse to exclaim
Where and how a trick I missed,
Please, I beg of you, resist!
If the four hands I could view
I could be as wise as you.

EARLY LOSSES CUT BY LATE RECOVERY

Stock List Closes Fairly Strong After Day of Erratic Trading.

U. S. STEEL LEADS RALLY

New York, April 10 (A.P.). — The stock market was buffeted about by abrupt changes in speculative sentiment today, as the bull forces were unable to attract a public following, in the face of a repetition of yesterday's 10 per cent call money.

A sharp rally near the close reduced many of the day's losses and left the list generally somewhat higher, although presenting a very uneven picture. Total sales fell off toward the 3,000,000-share level.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and mounted to 10 with moderate calling of loans. Time money showed no signs of descending from its perch of 9 per cent.

Although the fact that Gov. Young, of the Federal Reserve Bank, is sailing for the Pacific Coast tomorrow quieted fears of any drastic action by the Federal Reserve Board in the near future, the credit controversy was revived by the action of the New York clearing house banks in raising their service charge for placing loans for out-of-town banks.

Minimum Charge Is Fixed.

A minimum charge of ½ to 1 per cent per annum of the amount of the loans was determined upon. Heretofore they have charged but 5 per cent of the interest received on the loans.

Business news accounted for some of the erratic shifts in sentiment. Although the United States Steel Corporation reported unfilled orders as of March 31 at 266,377 tons higher than on February 28, the steel trade reviews injected a note of uncertainty with the intimation that steel makers are beginning to wonder how long the present feverish activity can last.

An upturn in crude oil production last week, canceling the previous week's decrease, was balanced by reports that gasoline consumption was getting into its spring upturn. Merger of Marland and Continental was reported as nearing consummation.

Custom smelters again reduced the price of copper about 2 cents a pound, bringing it around the 20-cent level, although large producers still held to the 24-cent quotation.

Woolworth directors proposed a 2½ for 1 split-up. Wright Aero reported record orders and earnings for the first quarter.

Sharp Breaks in Forenoon.

Speculative confidence was unsettled by a number of sharp breaks during the forenoon. Kolster Radio dropped nearly 13 points, to a new low at 31, in contrast to the 1929 high of 78¾, in falling attributed to weakned margin accounts. It regained about half its loss in short covering. Hupp Motors broke about 5 points, to a new 1929 low Wright tumbled 12½ points, but regained its loss after its favorable report on first-quarter operations.

International Telephone was again under pressure, selling off about 9 points, but cutting its loss in half later. International Paper dropped 7 points on its 1928 earnings statement. Adams Express dropped 20 points in a small turnover and Motor Products 13.

United States Steel was slow in responding to the unfilled orders report, issued at noon, but promoted the general rally in the last half hour with a jump of more than 4 points. Steels generally were firm, with the exception of Sloss Sheffield, which lost 6½ points on report of reduced earnings last year.

Coppers Are Bid Up.

Coppers were bid up on the theory that the indicated stabilization of the red metal price around 20 cents had been discounted. Greene Cananea jumped 6 points. Oils were also brought forward, on the reports of the rising gasoline demand. Pan-American issues jumping more than 4 points to new highs.

Merchandise and office equipment shares were strong. Underwood, Elliott Fisher, Burroughs, Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck mounted about 5 to 8 points. Woolworth mounted on the news of the split up, but reacted later in profit taking. Crex Carpet jumped 5 points to 40, a new high. American & Foreign Power gained 6 points on its foreign expansion developments, and Baldwin jumped 9½ on recapitalization prospects.

Commodities were inclined to heaviness, cotton losing from 60 cents to $1.05 a bale in profit taking, and grains sagging on the Government crop report.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and inclined to ease, with sterling and the franc each a shade lower.

NATS RESUME SERIES WITH GIANTS AT HOME TODAY

Hilltop Golfer Winner at Pinehurst

Wilson Beats Homans in Upset; Held Is Also Defeated.

Voigt and Dawson Are Victors in North-South Matches.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—Upsets were the order today in the North and South amateur golf tournament and three of the favored failed to survive the first round of match play.

Eddie Held, of New York, former public links champion, was defeated in an extra hole match by B. F. Merriman, of Waterbury, Conn., a former North and South champion, on the nineteenth green.

Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., Princeton star, lost to Richard Wilson, of Pinehurst and Georgetown University, after a match that took twenty-one holes to decide.

C. Ross Somerville, Canadian champion, was the victim of a scintillating spurt on the part of John D. Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., Chapman came home in 34, to round out a 70, two strokes under par, and win by two up.

Voigt Defeats Swope, 3 and 2; Dawson Stops Tailer, 4 and 3.

The defending champion, George Voigt, won his match by a more comfortable margin, defeating R. H. Swoope, of Philadelphia, 3 and 2. John Dawson, of Chicago, the medalist, defeated R. S. Tailer, of Freeport, R. I., 4 and 3, and W. C. Fowns, jr., of Pittsburgh, eliminated Norfleet P. Ray, of Toledo, Ohio, 2 and 1.

Phillips Finlay, hard-hitting sophomore from Harvard, came through by a hair's breadth after J. S. Knight, of Akron, Ohio, had carried him to the eighteenth green.

C. S. Eaton, of Winchester, Mass., won his place as the eighth member of the quarter finals crew with a 2 and 1 victory over E. D. Thompson, of Rothesay, N. B.

Gardner Retains Time Lead in Bunion Derby

Waynesburg, Pa., April 10 (A.P.).—The eleventh day of pavement pounding today brought Pyle's cross-country pedestrians to this southwestern Pennsylvania town, with Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., leading the pack to the line. He jogged the Uniontown-Waynesburg installment of 33 miles in the transcontinental hike in 4 hours, 46 minutes and 10 seconds.

The lead in elapsed time was retained by Ed Gardner, Seattle negro, who finished in a tie for third place with Pete Gavuzzi, of England, in 5:11:30. His total elapsed time now stands at 68 hours, 11 minutes and 10 seconds.

The second place finisher today was Troy Trimble, who came from Bakersfield, Calif., in order to walk home. He required 8 hours, 1 minute and 45 seconds by shank's mare from Uniontown, where the bunion entrants passed last night.

Sam Richman, of New York, who tied for fourth place yesterday with Ed Gardner on the Cumberland, Md.-Uniontown, lap, arrived in fourth place today in 5 hours, 13 minutes and 45 seconds.

McCarthy, Golf Star, G. U. Court Captain; Malevich, Grid Ace, to Lead C. U. Boxers

Intercollegiate Links Champion Leader in 2 Sports.

MAURICE J. M'CARTHY, 21-year-old junior of Flatbush, Long Island, yesterday was elected captain of the Georgetown University Basket Ball Team for the season of 1929-30 at a meeting of the Hilltop varsity letter men. Thus, McCarthy gained the unusual distinction of being captain in two sports, for he also leads the Georgetown Golf Team, and at present holds the national intercollegiate links title.

One of the most earnest players who ever carried the Blue and Gray of his alma mater into a sports contest, McCarthy, in the eyes of his teammates, is the ideal type for a leader. During the past basket ball season his unflagging efforts aided considerably in the scoring of many Georgetown victories

Playing guard or forward in eighteen games, McCarthy scored 129 points to stand fifth among the high scorers in District college ranks. He was picked Cardinal Athlete Gains Captaincy of Ring and Grid Teams.

A SECOND captaincy has been bestowed upon Jack Malevich, versatile Catholic University athlete. Already named captain of the 1929 Cardinal football team, it was announced yesterday that he will lead the boxing team next winter. He will combine the duties of manager with those of captain in boxing.

Malevich, 22 years of age and a native of Eveleth, Minn., where he was an all-around star in high school sports, has been a member of the Catholic boxing team for three years, during which time he has won all but three of his bouts in the light-heavy and heavyweight classes. During the past season he won three out of four. His weight is close to 180.

In football, Malevich plays at full back and is the low, hard-running type of ball carrier who depends more on the power of his drive than on changing pace to gain ground. His bull-like rushes are hard to stop.

Scholastically, Malevich ranks among the first ten of his class. He is a junior. Though he consumes much of his time in athletics—participating in track and field events as well as football and boxing—he has never been found deficient in his studies.

COLTS AT BERKLEY SPRINGS.

Berkley Springs, W. Va., April 10 (Special).—The Cumberland (Md.) Colts of the Middle Atlantic League, for the third successive year, will do their spring training here, it was announced today. A squad of 30 players will report to Manager Johnny Byrnes here April 26. The season opens May 9.

French Singles Title Goal Of Tilden and Hunter

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The tennis singles championship of France, which never has been won by an American although the French have captured our own national title three times, will be the first objective of Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter when they begin their European campaign next month.

Announcing the itinerary today, Hunter said he and Tilden would sail from New York on the Aquitania May 8, going directly to Paris and playing in the French title event on the dirt courts at Auteuil beginning May 18.

Besides trying for the singles crown now held by Henri Cochet, Tilden and Hunter will pair together in quest of the doubles championship which has gone to America only in 1926, when Vincent Richards and Howard Kinsey, now professionals, achieved the feat.

In preparation for the European invasion Hunter said he would play in the Mason-Dixon tournament at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., next week. Tilden, however, plans no tournament tennis before the European trip.

Harris Seeks New Detroit Shortstop

Hopes to Put Through Deal Before Opening Tuesday.

Cubs and Houston Tie After 15 Innings; Score, 4 to 4.

DETROIT, Mich., April 10 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers are in the market for a shortstop, one who can step into the line-up in Cleveland next Tuesday and not leave Bucky Harris feeling as though he were conducting a doubtful experiment.

Harris revealed today in Shreveport, La., that he definitely has decided Heinie Schuble will not do in the short position and that Gheringer is a second baseman exclusively. Nolen Richardson, while superior to Schuble, has developed a propensity to fumble at critical moments.

Rumors were heard here today that Frank Navin, the Tiger president, is negotiating with the Yankees for Mark Koenig and with the White Sox for Bill Hunnefield. Either would prove a lifesaver to Harris and the Bengal infield.

Cardinals Trim Latest Farm Addition, Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 10 (A.P.).—Three home runs were not enough to enable the Fort Wayne Central Leaguers, latest addition to the St. Louis Cardinal farm chain, to defeat their "big brothers" in an exhibition tilt here this afternoon. Cardinal bats lambasted the ball all over the lot and the Red Birds won, 11 to 5. Miller, Reider and Nadolson hit for the circuit for Fort Wayne. Douthit also poled a homer.

Late Spurt Enables Braves to Sweep New Haven Series.

Norfolk, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—The Boston Braves made a clean sweep of their four-game series with the New Haven Eastern League professors here by winning today's game, 11 to 2. Loftus held the National Leaguers in hand during the five innings he pitched, but Kamp, a left-hander, failed to keep up the good work. Taylor and Bell, both of the Braves, got homers off his delivery. The Bostonians left tonight for home on the Baltimore boat and will open their stay in Boston Friday with a game against Holy Cross.

JOHNSON MAKES DEBUT HERE AS MANAGER; GIANTS RALLY TO TIE NATS IN FIFTH, 2 TO 2

Rain Halts Battle at Beginning of Sixth; West Hits Homer.

Rice Spiked, May Be Out 3 Days; Barnes Twists Knee.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 10.—The weather man this afternoon broke up the best game of the current series between the Nationals, and Giants, with the teams deadlocked at 2-all. Dark clouds were in the offing when the contest started and it was halted for a few minutes in the third inning before being called off altogether at the end of the fifth.

Not only did the Nationals fail to add another triumph to their long list, but the day also brought two injuries—Red Barnes slightly injuring his knee in practice before the game, while Sam Rice was spiked by Lindstrom while sliding into third base in the second inning. Rice's ankle and foot were cut. He probably will be out of the game for three or four days. Joe Cronin started at shortstop because Manager Johnson gave Ossie Bluege permission to join his wife at Raleigh and motor to the Capital.

Fred Marberry and Frank ("Dutch") Henry did the pitching, and the latter had a slight edge, granting but four to seven credited the Giants. Ott obtained three of these, with Sam West leading the Washington attack by virtue of a home-run clout in the third inning.

Best Defensive Features Supplied By Hayes and Cronin.

The best defensive feature was furnished by Hayes and Cronin, the second baseman starting a fine double play which Cronin and Judge completed to end the second inning while a Giant was crossing the home plate.

The Nats used the first three innings to forge into a two-run lead. After being retired in order in the first, Rice gave them a start by opening the second with a double to center. He advanced to third on Cronin's sacrifice fly to right and registered on Hayes' single which followed a pass to Judge. Spencer rolled to Jackson, and Umpire Brennan allowed a double play, claiming that Hayes roughed Reese covering second.

West, supposed to be weak against southpaw pitching, personally accounted for the other run, cracking one over the short right-field fence with the sacks empty and one out in the third.

The Giants furnished no opposition in their opening round, but threatened in both the second and third. Ott opened with a one-baser in the second and carried on to second when Goslin toyed with the ball. Following Terry's out and a pass to Jackson, the Hayes to Cronin to Judge combination contributed a nobby double play. Henry opened round three with a single, and later Reese followed suit, but Marberry was able to scatter the hits, and these bingles did his cause no harm.

Doubles by Farrell and Reese Give Giants Run.

Ott gave the National Leaguers hope when he opened the fourth with a double, but he died on second, while Marberry cracked out a two-bagger in

Almost the Naked Truth

By JAMES S. COLLINS

NEW YORK, April 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Almost every "war" correspondent who has watched the Nationals in action this spring has his typing fingers or finger calloused from writing home about the improvement in the team, which had been given low rating in the early winter books.

The rejuvenated Joe Judge, who was supposed to be ready to be shoved on the dumbwaiter on its next downward trip two years ago, is spry around first as a landlord collecting his rents. Jack Hayes at second is making the boys wonder where he has been hiding out all this time. Ruddy Myer at third is making Clark Griffith look like a robber for giving the Red Sox only five players for him. You'd think Ossie Bluege invented shortstop the way they are raving about his performances.

The outfield of Goslin, Barnes and West, with Rice as No. 1 reservist, shapes up as a group of first-class patrolmen. Braxton, Jones, Hadley, Liska, Marberry, Brown and Burke seem to have an adequate idea of what it is all about in the box. To be sure, the boys aren't throwing any hats in the air over the work of Tate, Spencer and Ruel behind the bat, but it seems to be pretty well agreed that they will do.

It may be that a lot of this brilliance is of the morning-glory variety that will shrivel in midsummer sun. It may be that some of the boys are looking at the Nationals through rose-colored glasses, because to a man they are pulling for the ancient and honorable Walter Johnson to ring the bell in his first season as a big league manager. But it really looks as if that "first in peace, first in war and last in the American League" gag would stay in the mothballs a while longer.

Everybody Took Shot at Curing Goose Goslin's Lame Wing.

One of the biggest reasons for senatorial optimism is the resurrection of Goose Goslin's throwing arm. In throwing a discus or something last spring the Jersey man threw his arm out with it. As usual, he was hitting viciously and could not be spared from the line-up. So the Senators presented the unusual spectacle of a left fielder barely able to toss a ball into the infield. Every time a ball was hit into the Goose's territory Reeves, the shortstop, dashed out to relay the throw. Goslin's disability probably cost the club many games, but these losses were more than offset by his work with the stick. When the official batting averages were published, Lo! Goose Goslin's name led all the rest.

During the season, of course, President Griffith spared no expense in trying to mend the Goose's wing. Almost everybody in the country who pretended to know anything about arms had a shot at treating it. Surgeons, osteopaths and chiropractors tinkered with it; it was rayed, baked and massaged endlessly and still it remained as useless for throwing purposes as a greyhound's hind leg. Master Goslin helped all he could by sacrificing a tonsil and a tooth or two and by carrying a rabbit's foot and other potent charms. He was about to call in a hex doctor when he ran into Strangler Lewis, then champion heavyweight wrestler. The Strangler, like every one else, had a prescription ready.

"Cut out eating meat and that arm will come around," he told Goslin. "I had the same trouble myself and that's how I cured it."

The Goose did as bidden and whether or not his vegetarian diet is responsible, he now is able to throw the ball with his old speed and precision. The substitution of a thrower for a made Venus De Milo in left field is making itself felt in every game.

Ryder Cup Golfers Embark for England

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—With marked enthusiasm even in the face of a drizzling rain falling on their ship, the Ryder Cup Golf Team today sailed away for England to defend the international professional team championship.

All the ten players making up the United States team left home with high hopes of victory over George Duncan's British outfit, "after a battle."

Walter Hagen, captain of the homebred pros of the United States, declared none of the players was overconfident, but certainly there was no lack of confidence as the Mauretania steamed away. In addition to Hagen, the team was made up of Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, Al Watrous, Al Espinosa, Ed Dudley, Joe Turnesa and John Golden.

Display of Talent Is Awaited by Fans at Home.

Team Won 20 of 24 Games; Liska Will Start on Hill.

AFTER more than six weeks of long-distance "rooting," Washington fans will get an opportunity of judging for themselves just what kind of a baseball machine Manager Walter Johnson has welded together, for the Nationals and Giants continue their series today and Friday at Griffith Stadium.

Today's game is cheduled to start at 3:30 p. m.

Washington no doubt has taken with a grain of salt the glowing reports sent here as to the strength of the team, and many probably withheld judgment saying, "They've played a lot of easy ones, wait until they tackle the Giants." Now they are tackling the Giants, have looked better by comparison, and are starting the final half of the series with a lead. As a matter of fact, they have won every series played except one—With the Birmingham Barons—and broke even in that, which only went two games.

Today Manager Johnson plans to start Adolph Liska on the hill, while McGraw doubtless will counter with Joe Genewich or Larry Benton, National League ace of 1928.

Liska Only Regular Among New Faces in Line-Up.

As far as new faces are concerned, Johnson has few to show to Washington fans, as his present combination practically is made up of players who have worn Nat livery before. Adolph Liska, Archie Campbell, Roy Spencer, Charlie Gooch and Spencer Harris are the newcomers, and Campbell and Harris are not exactly strangers, as they have appeared in Griffith Stadium before, Campbell as a Yankee and Harris as a White Sox.

Of the new Nationals, only one might be termed a regular, as Johnson is mighty fond of Liska and his subway shoots. Catcher Spencer appears to be evenly ranked with Ruel and Tate, while Harris, Gooch and Campbell figure to see action only in relief roles.

But while many of the faces have been seen in Washington, there has been a number of changes in conditions which will interest the cash customers. At third, for instance, will be "Buddie" Myer, who flivvered as a shortstop and was sent down the river to Boston. Since then he has developed into a first-class third baseman, and his acquisition has practically made the Nats' infield.

Goslin Ready to Show Home Fans Old Throwing Power.

Bluege, experts predict, will show the best shortstopping in the league during the coming season. He now looks as though he were born for the job. Hayes, at second, has improved fully 100 per cent, while the old reliable Joe Judge is acting as youthful and peppy as ever at first.

Goslin, with his throwing arm nicely oiled up for home fans, is back in left field, but two speedy youngsters have grabbed themselves the other outfield jobs, temporarily at least. West's hitting has been somewhat of a disappointment, but Johnson declares that he is still confident that the great little fly chaser is a natural batter and will come through. A flaw in his stance at the tee has been discovered and the coaches are now working on him in the hope of correcting it.

With Tate looking better than he ever did and hitting hard and at timely moments, and Roy Spencer, obtained from Indianapolis, Muddy Ruel has such capable assistants that he will have to travel at top speed to retain his No. 1 ranking, while the one questionable department—pitching—looms unexpectedly strong.

Only Hadley of Regulars Not Ready to Go Route.

Braxton, Jones, Marberry and Liska are ready to go the route right now and to give a good account of themselves. Hadley is only a few days off, due to a short setback because of ailing "puppies." Johnson believes that Brown and Burke are going to give him a lot of good pitching, while Hopkins' work has proved to be a pleasant surprise. Campbell, a curve ball pitcher, is slow in rounding to form and just how much help may be expected of him remains to be seen.

As to utility strength, the Nats have it from all angles. While not playing

Macks' Pennant Hopes Struck Blow by Lack of Strong Starting Line-Up

Herewith is the eleventh of a series of articles dealing with the pennant prospects of all major league teams by sixteen baseball experts of the staffs of sixteen leading newspapers.

By ED POLLOCK
(Baseball Expert, Philadelphia Evening Ledger).

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—A sore arm, a wrenched back muscle and a rheumatism attack owned, respectively, by Shortstop Joe Boley, Pitcher George Earnshaw and Outfielder Al Simmons have served to dim the pennant prospects of the Athletics who had been conceded a royal chance to end the monopoly of the New York Yankees on American League representation in the world series.

The Athletics still have their eyes directed in the general direction of the pennant, but the latest blow—the incapacitation of Simmons for an indefinite period—has been the most cruel setback that Connie Mack has experienced this season. Simmons has supplied the team's batting punch for several seasons, and the prospects of getting away to a flying start in the struggle to top the Yankees are far less bright.

Boley's arm is an annual complaint, but it seems worse now than in preceding springs, despite the rest and good care he has given it here. The high winds which have prevailed through all of Florida this year have had a deal to do with the arm retaining its stiffness.

Earnshaw May Be Idle Until Middle of May, Is Outlook.

Earnshaw, who last year was acclaimed as one of the best right-handers in the game, injured his back in preliminary training at Hot Springs and did not report at the Southern camp. He went directly from Hot Springs to Philadelphia a few days before the Mackmen began their barstorming trip North.

The full extent of Earnshaw's injury is not known to Mack, but sufficient details have reached the lean leader to make him believe that his burly right-hander will not be available for duty on the firing line until the middle of May or later.

The personnel of the club has changed very little since last year. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker have been dropped from the roster, and Homer Summa, who was purchased from Cleveland, has been added.

Aside from Simmons, Boley and Earnshaw, the Mackmen, who a year ago overtook the Yankees only to fade out of the race after a sensational spurt

BUTTER JOHN DEFEATS AUCILLA IN BOWIE FEATURE

Favorite Runs Second by A Head

Meridianese Gallops Away With Juvenile Affair.

Poly Turns in Third Straight Victory in the Fourth.

By CHARLES A. WATSON
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BOWIE RACE TRACK, April 10.—Although a cold, drizzling rain and a muddy racing strip marred the program at Bowie today, the surprisingly large crowd that braved the rigors of the unrelenting elements were rewarded in seeing a thrilling battle in the featured Midway Purse, which ended in a brilliant victory for Mrs. C. Crane's Butter John over C. C. Smithson's Washington-owned Aucilla.

Butter John, with Jockey A. Robertson aboard, displayed a keen liking for the going. The 3-year-old son of Hildur-Lightfoot responded courageously in the stretch drive to take the measure of the much-touted Aucilla, quoted at 1 to 2 in the betting, by a head. Jockey R. Workman used whip, spur and heel to keep the Washington-owned favorite in front, but the winner outgamed the son of Broomstick. Edisto, from the Seagram Stable, finished third, four lengths in front of Gadalong.

Edisto and Butter John delayed the start of the seven-horse race with fractiousness at the barrier. All the field broke well but Edisto, which was standing flat-footed when the webbing rose. Aucilla, with Jockey Workman in the saddle, set the early pace, but gave way to Sun Persian, an early speedster, as they neared the paddock turn. The latter led down the far lane but forgot to turn for home and went to the outside fence. Here, Aucilla went to the front followed by Sun Persian, Gadalong, Butter John and Edisto.

Coming into the stretch Sun Persian again went wide and Butter John moved into second place. With a tremendous burst of speed Robertson put the New Orleans campaigner in front just before the finish was reached to snatch victory in a close decision at the end of the mile and sixteenth struggle.

Poly Scores Third Straight Victory in the Fourth.

Poly, racing for his new owner, L. B. Bradfield, scored his third straight victory. The 5-year-old Polymelian horse triumphed in the Clifton Forge Purse, a companion piece to the feature. Poly and Jockey E. Benham led the Wild Rose Farm's Charmarten to the wire by a length and a half, with Hot Time, racing for J. T. Watts, finishing third, 5½ lengths behind the winner. Mollie Elizabeth was fourth.

A perfect start sent the field away on the 6-furlong journey. Hot Time, under Jockey A. Pascuma, went to the front, followed by Poly and Charmarten. Nearing the stretch run Benham put the Bradfield horse in the lead and galloped away from the field to the finish. Hot Time tired in the stretch drive and finished a poor third.

The Aspirant Purse, carded as the secondary feature during the afternoon, caused the form players to suffer a severe blow as George W. Foreman's Equation, gelded son of Donnacona—Alice Haigh, romped off with the event, paying 11 to 1. Three lengths behind flashed W. F. Polson's Buddy Basil, when an accident robbed Roodles of the place position. Third to cross the line was Matin's Minister, an even-money choice.

Meridianese Makes Runaway Of 4-Furlong Opener.

P. H. Faulconer's Meridianese, with Jockey J. McTaggart in the saddle, made a runaway affair of the 4-furlong dash, which ushered in the day's racing. Violeta, from the Nevada Stock Farm, finished second, with Pay Well, under the colors of R. W. Carter, third.

McTaggart shot in front with Meridianese at the rise of the webbing and opened up a long lead to hold the advantage over the other nine starters to the wire. Violeta, off tardily, raced around the field into the stretch and finished gamely under a drive, but could not overcome the long lead of the winner. Sweet Tidings exhibited a flash of speed, but gave up in the stretch run. Andra, recent Florida sensation and one of the favorites, unseated Jockey R. Leishman rounding the turn for home and Louis B. was so badly cut down in the jam that he had to be destroyed. Jockey Leishman was uninjured.

Santorio, Odds-On, Beats Cabellsdale, in Duel.

Santorio, an odds-on favorite, and Cabellsdale staged a thrilling stretch duel in the second number, the Ridgeway Purse, with the former gaining the decision under a vigorous ride by Jockey E. Legere. Cabellsdale, with Jockey "Sonny" Workman in the saddle, finished second, a length behind the Keeneland stud's winner. The balance of the field was badly strung out with Coaster leading the bunch to grab third money.

Workman sent the Breckenridge Long Cabellsdale out to a comfortable lead during the running with the favorite a length away. Nearing the turn for home Legere called on Santorio and the gelding responded gamely to finish full of run and earn the victory, which was run over the 6-furlong route.

M. B. Pierce's Sun Sweeper, saddled by J. McKeever and paying the handsome odds of $27.40, was the winner of the sixth race, gaining the decision from Mrs. E. Jackson's Royal Charge by a head. Royal Charge paid $68.30 for the place position. Third to cross the line was Mrs. A. Swenke's Perseth.

Sun Sweeper, at home in the muddy gue, set all the pace from the rise of the gate and held on with determination under a well-judged ride by W. Imig. Golden Tinted raced well in the early stages, but quit after going a mile.

Standing up well under a long drive, Polar Sea, with Jockey E. Stretton in the saddle, gained a half-length victory in the closing race that proved to be the most exciting event on the entire card. Second to flash across the finish line was Kosciusko, with Jockey F. Dainty astride, a length and a half in front of Old Kid and Faddy, which finished noses apart for the third and fourth money, respectively.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—EQUATION, $23.90, $9.90, out; BUDDY BASIL, $3.90, out; MATIN'S MINISTER, out.

EQUATION liked the going, raced PRINCE BOZO and ROODLES into defeat, then drew away to win easily. BUDDY BASIL, outrun for first five furlongs, came very fast. MATIN'S MINISTER was badly outrun all the way, but finished third after ROODLES lost rider in the last hundred feet. PRINCE BOZO ran a good race. ROODLES closed gamely on inside, but Leonard fell off about twenty feet from finish.

POLY BEATS CHARMARTEN AT 6 FURLONGS

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Clifton Forge. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:03. Off at 4:03½. Winner, I. B. Bradfield's ch. h. 2-YEAR-OLDS RACE TODAY AT BOWIE

Kindergarten Purse Draws Crack Field of Juveniles.

THE first major event for 2-year-olds in Maryland will be run today at Bowie when an excellent field is scheduled to go to the post for the running of the Kindergarten Purse, a dash of 4 furlongs.

Several well-thought-of youngsters are named for the juvenile event which will afford turf patrons a chance to get a line on some of the candidates carded to start in the $10,000 Aberdeen Stake, to be run at Havre de Grace next week.

Although the track will be muddy, Harry Payne Whitney's swift-running Swatter is expected to carry off the purse. The contention will in all probability come from Sand Fiddler, Play Ball and Wild Apple. The McLean entry of Charioteer and Uptown Lad are of unknown quality but they may surprise and not run as greenly as they did a few days ago when they made their first start.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lotridge and Miss Lillian Stoddard, of Brooklyn, N. Y., were visitors yesterday. The familiar figures, well known around the metropolitan tracks, were en route home from Miami, where they have been spending the winter and frequenting the race courses.

There has been much activity about the claiming box, in the secretary's office, during the present Bowie meeting. No less than 21 thoroughbreds have changed hands thus far, with 17 being rejected. This makes a total of 37 claims registered by horsemen desiring to increase their stables. Iraq, Queenston and Easy Money found new owners in Dave Hurn, James Arthur and H. C. Rummage, who made respective claims for these platers out of the last race Tuesday. Each were obtained for $2,500.

Joseph McLennan, racing secretary at Bowie, announced yesterday that the Chilean champion, Tutti Frutti, will start in the Prince Georges Handicap, carded as the closing day's feature.

The Maryland Racing Commission has approved the names of George Brown, jr., Baker Waters and Herman Conkling to serve as stewards at the forthcoming race meet of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association. Joseph McLennan, Henry Morris and John P. Turner will act as placing judges.

W. A. Crawford claimed Violeta out of the first race for $2,500.

The Maryland Thoroughbred Sales Co. conducted a sale in the paddock today with Dr. J. H. McCarthy acting in the capacity of auctioneer. The following horses changed hands. Gay Rock, $1,100; Rock Light, $750, and Sun Pie, $500, all going to B. Carson. Ernie Hall dropped $450 for Spanish Flyer. Black Caddy was sold to B. White for $750, while Follette went to M. Kelly for $575. Rumpelstiltskin brought $425, going to B. Harrington and Ragtown went under the hammer for $200, to C. F. Jenkins. Wonder Lou was sold for $975 after Buddy Basil and Jake were withdrawn for lack of bidders.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT L. COLLYER

POLICE!

Call out the reserves. There is "murder" in the air out in Maryland this aft. Members of the dynamite brigade are ready to apply the torch in the second spasm. "Good thing" is none other than WATKINSON, which was formerly trained by Clarence Turner. The former jockey is not lending a little advice to help the coupe along.

RENDEZVOUS should start the ball rolling with a victory in the opener. This maverick has an inside post position, which should be of much benefit. SUPERSEDE is on the outside and may not get to start. The others do not appear dangerous.

A poor lot will shoot for the kale in the third and RED SPIDER may last the route in the heavy going.

SWATTER ran a great race the only time out and is highly regarded by the Whitney Stable connections. He will have his work cut out for him, however, in order to show SAND FIDDLER and PLAY BALL the shortest way home in the juvenile affair, which is termed the Kindergarten Stakes.

DONNAY was unquestionably short last time. At the weights, the Rancocas racer is entitled to the call over ESSARE in the fifth. The others appear to have scant chance in this event.

LUCKY PLAY has been dropped in with his own kind in the sixth and should roll home.

For the closing event string along with WAFFLES. This racer has the speed of the party and should make every post a winning one.

Shoot, rattle and roll.

English Writers Expect Reigh Count to Win

Newmarket, England, April 10 (A.P.). The American colt, Reigh Count, was given a good hard mile gallop today in the presence of John Hertz and a number of friends who traveled down here specially for the occasion.

Ridden by Chick Lang, Reigh Count went well and the onlookers, including Trainer Bert Mitchell, were pleased with the performance. Sporting writers are expressing the opinion that too much notice should not be taken of the colt's failure in the Lingfield Handicap last Saturday or great disappointment felt if he does not win the Nemberry Spring Cup this Saturday. It is pointed out that the horse was brought over primarily for the Ascot Gold Cup classic and probably will make a better showing in that event for which he is being carefully trained.

CAPITAL CITY LEAGUE PENNANT RACES TAKE SHAPE

Two Sections In Meeting Tonight

Unlimited and Senior Teams to Gather at District Building.

Insect and Junior Nines Satisfied With Present Rules.

No changes will be made in the rules this season governing the insect and junior sections of the Capital City League, sponsored by The Washington Post, it was decided at a preliminary organization of these two divisions last night. The rules and regulations in effect last year proved satisfactory, the teams represented agreed.

Six teams announced through their representatives that they will seek the junior title. Two of the best-known insect organizations, the Corinthians and Lionels, announced their intentions to compete in the youngest class. Numerous others are considering entering these two sections and will announce their intentions in the near future.

The junior teams represented were the Ty Cobbs, Hadleys, Corinthians, Powhatans, Lionels and Fairlawns. All of these clubs have demonstrated their prowess in previous championship campaigns, and their number will be augmented considerably before the title race gets under way.

Secretary Atkinson Receiving Applications of Teams.

Applications for franchises in all divisions of the Capital City League are now being received by the secretary, H. J. Atkinson, at The Post sports department. Teams with players under 14 years of age are eligible to compete in the insect section. Those with players under 18 years of age are eligible to enter the junior section.

Initial organization of the senior and unlimited divisions will be effected tonight at a meeting of representatives of teams considering entering these sections in room 2 of the District Building at 8 o'clock. Each club is urged to have at least one representative and not more than two at this meeting.

An opportunity will be afforded team representatives to make any suggestions which they think may be for the betterment of the league. It is probable that the same rules will govern play in these divisions as last year.

Teams entering the senior section are not permitted to use players over 21 years of age. The unlimited teams do not have to meet any age limit requirements.

Officials of the league are planning to start the season about the middle of May. In order to do this, they must limit the time for receiving entries. Announcement will be made in the near future as to closing dates for team entries in the various sections.

A. A. U. Boxing Titles After Tourney Finals

112 pounds—Jimmy Kerr, Grand Rapids, Mich., outpointed Augi Curtis, Los Angeles.
118 pounds—Ray Lopes, Boston, Providence, outpointed Mos Butch, Pittsburgh.
135 pounds—Steve Halaiko, Buffalo, outpointed Joe Bernal, San Francisco.
147 pounds—Leslie Baker, Boston, outpointed Eric Lawson, New York.
160 pounds—Ray Lopes, Boston, won on a foul from Ray Trambile, Rockford, Ill.
175 pounds—Martin Levandowski, Grand Rapids, Mich., outpointed Harry Allen, Brockton.
Heavyweight—Elmer Howard, Philadelphia, outpointed Ralph Ficucello, New York.

LIBERTYS MEET.

All members of the Liberty A. C. Nine and new candidates are requested to attend a meeting tonight at 718 Taylor street northwest at 7:30 o'clock.

The Libertys are to open their season Sunday with Johnny A. C. at Mount Rainier. The team has several open dates on its calendar. Pop Kremb will book games at Columbia 4165-J after 6 o'clock.

HAWKS TO DRILL.

The Brentwood Hawks are scheduled to practice Sunday at 10 o'clock on their diamond. All candidates are requested to report, as the team opens its season the following Sunday.

The Hawks are seeking games with unlimited teams. Arrangements may be made at Hyattsville 610-W between 5:30 and 7 o'clock.

SIGN NEW PLAYERS.

With the signing of Players Rankin, Kessler, Collins and O'Connell, the Providence A. C. Nine promises to present a strong line-up in unlimited competition this season. A game is sought for Sunday. Call Manager O'Toole, at Lincoln 6809 tonight.

The Providence manager would like to hear from Players O'Connell, J. L. Taylor, Collins and Grogan.

D. C. Netman Loses North-South Match

Pinehurst, N. C., April 10 (A.P.)—Tamio Abe, Japanese Davis Cup player, and Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., high favorites of the galleries at the North and South tournament here, fell by the wayside today before the driving attacks of John Van Ryn and Marcel Rainville, the Canadian.

Van Ryn, who is fifth ranking player of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, eliminated the noted Nipponese entry by the one-sided score of 6—1, 6—2, thereby advancing to the semifinals tomorrow.

Allison, former intercollegiate champion and picked by many as the probable winner, was unable to compete with the slashing service and backcourt volleys of Rainville. He was defeated, 3—6, 6—4, 8—6.

Sadadazu Onza, Abe's teammate, and Jack Wright, Canadian outdoor champion, will complete the semifinals cast. Onza today took the youthful Eddie Yeomans of Washington, D. C., 6—3, 6—3, while Wright defeated Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., 2—6, 6—1, 6—4.

Golf, Court Schedules For High Schools Listed

Golf and basket ball schedules yesterday were announced by the Washington Inter-High School Athletic Association. The championship golf series will open this Saturday and the basket ball series will commence next January 7.

Each team will meet each of the others once in golf, while the usual two games each of the rivals will obtain in the court series.

In the opening golf matches, Tech and Central will oppose Saturday on the Indian Spring Club course, with Eastern meeting Western on a course as yet unnamed.

Six players will compose a team and each contest will consist of a best ball match between three foursomes and individual matches.

Following are the schedules:

Golf—April 13, Central-Tech, Eastern-Western; 20, Business-Western, Eastern-Central; 27, Business-Tech, Western-Central; May 4, Eastern-Tech, Central-Business; 11, Tech-Western, Eastern-Business.

Basket ball—January 7, Central-Eastern, Tech-Business; 10, Central-Business, Western-Eastern; 14, Western-Tech, Eastern-Business; 17, Western-Business, Central-Tech; 21, Tech-Eastern, Central-Western; 24, Central-Eastern, Tech-Business; 28, Central-Business, Western-Eastern; 31, Western-Tech, Eastern-Business; February 4, Western-Business, Central-Tech, Tech-Eastern Central-Western.

Eagle Sextet Winner In Washington League

The Eagles A. C. Sextet won the championship of the Washington Recreational League last night by defeating the Aloysians, 30-16. The Eagles were the District finalists in the South Atlantic A. A. U. Tournament this year.

GIANTS AND NATS BATTLE TO DRAW

the Nats' fifth, but was caught trying to stretch the blow.

The Giants used their half of this frame to knot the count. O'Farrell started the trouble for Marberry by doubling to the scoreboard in left center. The next two batters could help none, but Reese then doubled him home. An excusable error by Cronin, a poor peg after a fine stop of Lindstrom's roller on the far side of second, gave the Giants a chance to get their other run, for Ott then followed with a liner-single to left.

A second heavy downpour hit the park after this rally, and this time Old Jupiter Pluvius managed to deliver a knockout punch. A capacity crowd booed the decision as the sun later came out, but the umpires rated the going too heavy.

SEEK BATTERYMEN.

The Red Arrows Nine, a newcomer to senior and unlimited ranks, is seeking the services of two experienced pitchers and a catcher. The team is being equipped with new uniforms.

Candidates wishing to sign with the team are requested to call C. A. Holden at Main 6040, branch 35, during the day or write him at 1135 Third street northeast.

INSECTS DRILL TODAY.

"Lefty" Joy, manager of the All-Star Insect Nine, desires all of his candidates to report for practice today at 5 o'clock on the Plaza diamond.

MACK HAS PITCHERS READY FOR SEASON

which carried them from second place thirteen and one-half games behind into the lead within a period of six week, are all in good condition.

Form of Quinn, Ehmke and Rommel Pleases Mack.

While the club has not been strengthened materially by new talent, the improved early season form of the pitchers has been very encouraging to Mack.

John Picus Quinn, 41-year-old spitballer, looks as good this year as he ever did in the opinion of a no less authority than Kid Gleason. Howard Ehmke and Eddie Rommel, two more veteran right-handers, are in better shape than they have been for several seasons. Rube Walberg, fireball portsider, also is ready, and Lefty Grove will be before the season begins. Bill Shores has been showing plenty of stuff, too.

Grove's middle finger on his pitching hand has given him some trouble. The flesh has worn away from the nail but he has been resting the digit, at the same time keeping in good physical condition in order to get away to a good start when the first bell rings.

Although obviously elated over the form of his flingers, Mac will not talk pennant. He admits, however, that his only worries are Summers, Earnshaw and Boley.

Hassler Will Play Shortstop If Boley Is Unavailable.

Connie has Joe Hassler to throw into the shortstop position in case Boley is unable to get away with the gun. Hassler, always a good fielder, has been showing well at the plate.

The rest of the infield is still unsettled, although Ossie Orwell will probaby be at first base with Jimmy Foxx, a converted catcher at third, and Max Bishop at second. Earlier in the training period Orwoll was not showing well at first, and Mack contemplated employing Foxx as a first baseman, with Nick Borrelli, former Muhlenberg football star and an infield "find," at third.

Among the reirult pichers, Carroll Yerkes and Stewart Bolen, southpaws, and George Malicky and Bill Breckenridge, right-handers, have the best chance of being retained.

Two college stars, Redman Hume, Southern Methodist hall back, and Bill Scott, Mercer College luminary, failed to make good in their tryouts as outfielders.

NATIONALS RESUME WITH GIANTS HERE

regularly, Sam Rice may be used as a pinch hitter. Stewart can play almost any infield position and probably is the best base runner in the game today. Joe Cronin has been hitting and fielding at such a clip that it will be hard to keep him on the bench, while Gooch is good at short and third and fast learning to play a good game at the doorway. Harris is helping Rice protect the outfield, and he is fast, a sure catch, and a good pegger, and with the reputation of being a good batter.

Good Hitters and Speed Among Nats' Assets.

While the Nats have not the hitting power of the Yankees, when figured as sluggers, they have a number of good hitters, and plenty of speed afoot. And Johnson figures that their tighter defense will to a great extent lessen the relative difference in power. With 20 victories and 4 defeats charged against them in the exhibition season to date, Johnson must have a good team, and fans will hardly recognize the chattering, peppy combination which takes the field against the clan of McGraw today as practically the same which was such a disappointment last season.

One of the nicknamed athletes on the Washington pay roll is Second Baseman Minter Carney Hayes. Previously he had been called "Bama," Jackie and Skeezicks. Coach Milan has now wished "Sonny Boy" on him, and it looks as though this one will stick.

ST. JOSEPHS TO DRILL.

The St. Joseph Baseball Team will stage a practice tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. on the Plaza diamond. Unlimited teams seeking games are requested to write Manager Ginotti at 407 Fourth street northeast.

Grand Stand Coaches List Annual Banquet

The first annual banquet of the Grand Stand Coaches Club, organization of local sports fans whose faces are familiar at practically all events and who, talking direct and play the game from the sidelines, will be held next Wednesday at the Bannockburn Golf Club, starting at 7 p. m. The date herewith announced is final, according to Secretary Cy Macdonald. Earlier dates were discarded when it was found that they conflicted with scheduled games at which many of the guests of honor had to appear.

Coaches of Washington high schools and colleges will be the honor guests and, according to Secretary Macdonald, they also will be the ebutt of many jokes, for it is planned that the hosts will enjoy their innings unrestrained.

Romanoff and Mahmout Clash at Strand Tonight

Wrestling followers of the District are promised speedy action tonight, when George Romanoff and Young Mahmout come to grips on the mat at the Strand Theater. Mahmout is the son of Yussef Mahmout, the "Terrible Turk," who stalked through the heavyweight ranks several years back. The junior Mahmout is said to be a pattern of his father and can handle himself well under all situations.

Tonight's match will begin as soon as the regular theater performance ends.

The Junior O. U. A. M. Nine has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Maryland Park Diamond.

MARYLAND U. NINE 10 TO 4 VICTOR

Virginia First Victim of Old Line Team; Milburn Star.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 10. Bunching hits with Cavalier errors, Maryland easily defeated Virginia here today, 10 to 4, in an eight-inning contest, ended by darkness.

The Old Liners collected twelve hits off two Virginia twirlers, including a drive over the left field fence by Leshinsky and a double by McGann.

Demaroo, who started on the mound for Maryland, was wild and gave way in the second inning to Milburn, who held the Cavaliers to four scattered hits.

Maryland broke a 4-to-4 tie in the fourth. With one down, McGann doubled and counted on Higgins' hit over second base.

Long Relieves Marshall and Hits Radice With Pitched Ball.

Here Long sent in to relieve Marshall in the box, opened by hitting Radice with a pitched ball. Leshinsky beat out a bunt, filling the bags, Higgins was nipped at the plate, but Radice tallied on Goodman's fumble of Kessler's roller. Leshinsky and Hetzel registered on Gaylord's Texas leaguer.

Maryland's final run came in the eighth. Leshinsky was safe on Goodman's bad peg to first, went to second on a wild pitch and counted on Hetzel's drive to right field.

The fielding feature was Dent's running catch of Hetzel's short fly in the sixth. Derr fielded sharply for Maryland.

Giants' Seconds Are Beaten By Albany, 7-4.

Durham, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—The Albany Team of the Eastern League turned on the New York Giants' second division here this afternoon and hewed out a win by 7 to 4. Both Johnson and Oliver were in good form for the winners, allowing only eight hits.

Pitcher Boney hit a homer over the right field fence with Witry on for the Giants in the fourth. Fitzgerald, Albany center fielder, made a home run inside the park in the seventh.

J. C. C. BOXERS MEET K. C. TONIGHT

Center to Defend Winning Streak; Ball Stars to Attend.

THE undefeated Jewish Community Center Boxing Team tonight will defend its cherished record again when the Knights of Columbus glove tossers, seeking to avenge an earlier beating, invade the Sixteenth Street Auditorium for a team match of six bouts. The swinging will commence at 8 o'clock.

Due to the inability of Andy Cohen, of the New York Giants, to appear, the show, which originally was given his name, will be shown as "Shanty Hogan Night," in honor of the husky catcher of the Giants, who will be an honored guest.

In addition to Hogan, the guests of honor will be Joe Judge, captain of the Nats, and Nick Altrock and Al Schacht. Cohen at present is playing with the Giants' second team in the South.

The Casey boxers must win at least four bouts to break J. C. C.'s long winning streak in team matches, while the Center representatives need only win three to break even and save their record a black mark.

Fisher Supplants Decola as Opponent for Lesser.

Prospects of unusually interesting duels are found in the Tardugno-Barber and Miller-Coveleskie bouts. Neither Tardugno nor Miller, both of whom wear J. C. C. colors, have met defeat locally.

Humphrey Decola, bantam weight of the Knights of Columbus, will not fight Joe Lesser, as originally announced. Ray Fisher will face the clever Hebrew boxer, who recently returned to the Center fold, following a term of six months' service with the City Club Team.

Following is the program:

112 pounds—Joe Lazarus (J. C. C.) vs. Mickey Harris (K. C.).
118 pounds—Joe Lesser (J. C. C.) vs. Ray Fisher (K. C.).
126 pounds—Mike Tardugno (J. C. C.) vs. Nevin Barber (K. C.).
135 pounds—Jocko Miller (J. C. C.) vs. Leo Coveleskie (K. C.).
147 pounds—Gus Mirman (J. C. C.) vs. Billy Barry (K. C.).
147 pounds—Bob Simon (J. C. C.) vs. Charley Beckett (K. C.).

Referee—Capt. Harvey L. Miller. Judges—Reese and Hughes. Timers—Doc Green and Lou Little. Announcer—Jimmy Lake.

Johnson Chosen Head Of Tennis Association

Winfree Johnson, director of public athletic activities of the Department of Public Buildings and Public Parks and for a number of years closely associated with local tennis activities, was last night elected president of the Washington Tennis Association. He succeeds Louis I. Doyle, who was elected honorary president, a post held last year by Dwight F. Davis, former Secretary of War and donor of the famous Davis Cup.

Clarence M. Charest, former District champion, was reelected vice president and John Ladd was elected secretary and treasurer to succeed Robert E. Newby.

The meeting was in the nature of a "get-together" session. The only action taken by the association was the selection of October 24 as the date for the annual fall meeting and dinner.

MOUNTS GET BUSY.

The Mount Rainier unlimited nine is scheduled to drill Sunday at 10 o'clock and at 3 o'clock on their field.

Manager Reiman predicts another successful season with the following players in line: Fitzgerald, Mosedale, E. Bauman, Weidman, Dewhearst, F. Bauman, McMahon, McDevitt, Duckertt, Middleton, B. Bellman, Waters, Waples and Buscher.

IROQUOIS MIDGETS MEET.

The Iroquois Midgets will meet tomorrow night at the Jewish Community Center at 8 o'clock. All candidates are requested to attend, especially pitchers. The Iroquois are booking games for Franklin 1027, between 6 and 7.

FAIRLAWNS SEEK ACTION.

A game to be played Sunday at 3 o'clock on Fairlawn Field is wanted by the Fairlawn Juniors. Only uniformed clubs need apply. Call Manager Beall at Atlantic 4132.

Hilltop May Schedule Track Meet by Cable With Team in Sweden

GEORGETOWN University has proposed a telegraphic track and field contest with the University of Uppsala, of Uppsala, Sweden, the leading Scandinavian university. A track contest of this nature is unprecedented in the history of international athletic competition.

Word of acceptance from the Swedish institution is expected here almost daily, the proposal having been mailed over a month ago by Erik Kjellstrom, Georgetown athlete, whose home is in Koping, Sweden.

Kjellstrom originated the idea with the end in view of developing permanent athletic relations between American and Swedish universities.

The events of the contest would be run off on the same day at the respective home fields of the two schools and results would be exchanged in cablegrams. All events of a regulation track and field meet excepting the low hurdles, which is not included on the Swedish athletic curriculum, have been suggested, according to Kjellstrom.

If the proposal is accepted, the date of the meet will be fixed on a day late in May.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Love and Serenity."

DEAR Miss McDonald: Since you have helped others so wonderful I have come to ask your advice in my problem.

The best friend I had asked me to marry him and I promised to do so. We are not engaged, for I do not believe in long engagements. He is 25 and I am 20 years old. At one time I thought I loved him. But lately I think I do not love him. I am always very happy when we can spend the day or evening together, but when he is away, sometimes for two or three weeks, I hardly miss him at all. And yet when he phones I am glad to hear his voice.

Dear Miss McDonald, this love and friendship means everything in the world for me. If I should lose that, I would not know what to do. For he is the only one who really cares for me since my mother died and that was when I was 8 years old. My stepmother says I am old enough to know what to do and refuses her advice.

I like him an awful lot. Enough to marry him. But will this affection last? Miss McDonald, I have worried myself sick about that. Won't we get tired of each other? He is so very good to me and I hate to disappoint him. This summer I am going away for a long time and when I come back he wants to know when I am going to marry him.

Won't you please give me your advice? Shall I marry him? I do not know what to do, since my father and mother do not try to help me.

Thank you ever so kindly.

VERDA.

Why "get sick worrying," Verda child? Just go away telling yourself that you are through, that you do not really love the man and are free to seek some one else—and in a month's time you will probably know that you love him.

Love is the reaction of one person to another. Hence it is of as many types and kinds as there are people. The silent man does not begin to spout poetry overnight because he loves. The practical, composed woman does not become coy and kittenish because she has found her man. You probably knew some girl who cried herself to sleep clutching her lover's latest letter in her hand. You are a bit dismayed that you can not do the same. Well, she would probably shriek at sight of a mouse, where you would go calmly in search of a piece of cheese and a mouse trap. People are not bananas. They are not standardized—yet. Mercifully we have variety. And while we have love will manifest itself in many ways—all different.

There are people who can almost truthfully stand up and promise to love one and one only unto death. They are like that. They probably never in all their lives sent back a hat, or a suit, or a pair of hose they had purchased. And they probably will never want to send back what they chose voluntarily and solemnly before God and man at the altar. But the rest of us are of lesser clay. The thing we want today we are ready to return with thanks tomorrow—even when we just "loved" it.

Stop worrying, Verda, your way of loving is as good as any other way. You will probably live happily ever after. Love is not an earthquake, a tidal wave and a train wreck for every one, even though it is all three rolled into one for some of us. Cheer up, Verda. Love sometimes is serene.

YOUR BOY—YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, Sc. D.
The Parent Counselor.

SERIOUS MINDED YOUTH.

BOYS and girls of high school age are accused of not being serious-minded, of not showing any interest in earning money and of not giving serious thought to a vocational career. If one believed all he heard he would be convinced that boys and girls loaf away their time in high school, that their only interests are in the opposite sex, dancing, drinking and athletics.

Whenever I get hold of such critics—and they come around rather often—I tell them to march straight into any high school and see the work these youngsters do on their school papers and annuals, the manner in which they conduct school assemblies, the ways and means they use in raising money for extra curricular activities and the quality and quantity of posters, dresses, cooking dishes, stories, shop projects and a score of other school activities they turn out.

And when some critic of working boys and girls comes carping around—Oh, boy! If I had 5,000 arms they would all be busy holding these critics by the nape of the neck making them see just what these working youngsters are doing in partially supporting their families, in savings accounts, in providing luxuries for their parents, in further study, in good reading and so on. I'd march these critics into our factories, offices and stores and show them how ambition, straight-forwardness and willingness show up in these young workers.

Know what I am talking about? Most assuredly! The evidence flows to my desk in the shape of hundreds of letters from high school and working boys and girls who are more interested in self-improvement than in any other subject, barring none. In youth the "Get There Spirit" is eternal.

But my young friends, we've got to prove all this to the older readers of our corner by reporting in this series of surveys of the Social and Moral Conditions prevailing among boys and girls of high school age.

(Remember I use the phrase "high school age" solely as a convenient term to identify the age-group from which I expect to receive replies and comments to the questions which follow.)

When you send in your answer to the series of today's questions you will want to sign your name to the clipping or to any letter you write, because I am offering personal and direct advice and printed material in assisting you in these problems of vocational aptitudes and readjustments. Working boys and girls will omit answers to some of the questions. Obviously not every question will interest every boy or girl. Get your pencils, boys and girls. Let's go:

1. Name .....
Address .....
Age ..... Sex .....
2. Are you thinking about taking a correspondence course? .....
Name the subject.....
3. Have you ever seriously thought of the profession of writing? ..... Do you want advice? .....
4. Does your mother want you to become a teacher? ..... And do you want to become something else? (Name it).....
5. Have you been bitten by the aviation bug, and, if so, do you want assistance? .....
6. If you are a stenographer, are you interested in becoming a private secretary? .....
7. Are you interested in the future of the radio and whether it offers you a career? .....
8. Are you interested in knowing about the possibilities of chemistry? ..... Do you want any advice on the wisdom of quitting high school and attending a commercial college? .....
9. Have you dramatic ability? ..... Or musical? ..... Or artistic? ..... And would you like some suggestions as to these careers? .....
10. Are you interested in law? ..... Or medicine? ..... Or certified public accounting? ..... Or electrical engineering? ..... Or drafting? .....

For what other vocation do you want advice from me? name it.....

Now, my young friends, I am going to put your answers to two uses: First, to write you a helpful personal letter. Second, to compile the answers in this most important survey, which is attracting such wide attention, as proof of your interest in serious things. It may be two weeks before you get my reply because of the time it will take to study your particular needs.

BOND PRICES MOVE SOMEWHAT UPWARD

Carrier and Some Foreign Issues Display Pronounced Strength.

TRACTIONS AGAIN SOFT

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Under stimulus of strength in the rails and some of the foreign issues, the bond market made a little upward progress today, although trading volume continued to hover around the $9,000,000 mark.

Both first and second grade rails, measured by the Associated Press average price of 10 bonds in each class, shared in the improvement. As a result, the combined average of 40 bonds finished the day with an advance of .04.

The rails reflected the better earnings of the railroads. Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s, on a turnover of 225 bonds, was conspicuous with an advance of 3 points to a new high price ob 47½. The consolidated 6s gained more than a point. Other strong spots were Canadian National Railways 4½s, Erie refunding 5s and New Haven issues.

While price movements were narrow and turnover small, gains were liberally scattered through the foreign list, particularly among the South American and Italian obligations. Foreign offerings have been decreasing of late, with the result that the listed issues are getting a little more attention from American investors.

The convertibles, in sympathy with stocks, were irregular. International Telephone 4½s again was the most actively traded issue on the list, and on a turnover of 450 bonds lost nearly 2 points. Anaconda Copper 7s picked up a point after its recent slump. International Cement 5s also sold up a point.

After early rallying tendencies, New York City Traction securities moved downward again. The Interborough obligations, with exception of the convertible 7s, touched new low levels, losing 1½ to 3 points.

Sensitive to the current stringent money rates, United States Government obligations were weak. Losses ranged from 1 to 15-32.

INVESTMENT HOUSE OPENS NEW BRANCH

Strabo V. Claggett & Co., Inc., Establish Offices in the Washington Building.

STOCK PRICES EASE OFF

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A local branch of the investment banking house of Strabo V. Claggett & Co., Inc., Boston, has been opened in the Washington Building, and Mr Claggett, head of the company, is expected here today to inspect it.

E. Joseph Aronoff will be resident manager and associated with the branch are a number of men formerly with F. H. Smith & Co. Among these are C. King Pierstone, Charles V. Bradley, Horace Ashton, R. M. Plake, formerly manager of the Baltimore office of F. H. Smith & Co.

Mr. Claggett, a direct descendant of Myles Standish, was born in Montevideo, Minn., in 1892, and spent his early life as a farm laborer, railroad trainman and shipyard mechanic. He worked his way through Stanford and Harvard Universities by selling advertising space and aluminum cooking utensils.

At the outset of the World War he served as head of the membership division of the food administration, under Herbert Hoover, until called for active service as a second-class seaman in the Navy. He was later ordered to this city for duty in the contract section of the Navy Department.

After the war he entered the bond business as a salesman. In 1923 he was appointed vice president of McClelland, Claggett Co., Inc., and in July, 1924, formed his own firm with a branch office in New York.

Special Credit Bureau.

Practical completion of plans for establishment of a special credit bureau, which has been under consideration by the District of Columbia Bankers Association, are approaching completion, it was announced yesterday. Formation of the bureau being discussed as a third important step of the association in widening the scope of its activities, since the last annual convention.

This program began with establishment of a fiduciaries' and auditors' section, which is operating successfully and was followed by organization of a safety deposit section which also has proved valuable. The chief function of a credit bureau is the detection of duplicated borrowing and elimination of abuses of bank credit privileges.

Prompt Response Requested.

Prompt response to the request that reservations be sent promptly to Claude H. Woodward, Mount Vernon Savings Bank, chairman of the transportation committee for the Montauk Beach convention of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, has been urged by C. H. Pope, general convention committee chairman.

Discussing the value of the convention, Chairman Pope said ever since 1919, when the association held its first convention, each succeeding year has shown steady improvement and developed greater interest in the constructive work done by its members for the mutual benefit of all the banks.

Problems in the banking business, he explained, are identical and common to all bankers, and the better they understand them the nearer they will be held to a practical effective and uniform treatment of them.

The conventions, he declared, have proved to be the medium through which this uniform treatment became possible, only because District bankers have reached a stage of cooperation heretofore unknown.

"We have reaped a harvest in many ways by working together at these annual meetings and we know the advantages gained through making closer friendships with our brother bankers. This in itself is worth while, but to those who contemplate attending this year the program committee reminds that the topics selected are of greatest importance at this particular time."

Gas Light Stock Reacts.

Washington Gas Light stock reacted yesterday on the Washington Stock Exchange. It opened at 109, two points below Tuesday's sale price, ten shares going at the new mark; ten more shares were traded at 108½, and twenty more at 107.

National Mortgage & Investment preferred represented the peak of trading amounts, sales of 200 shares at 5¾, last quotation, being listed. Fifty-five shares of Washington Railway & Electric preferred were traded in, twenty shares going at 97½, a fractional drop from Tuesday; five at a fractional rise, and thirty at 97, three-eighths lower than the last sale of the day before.

Department Store Sales Gain.

Sales of department stores in the local territory in March showed the largest gain in any of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts, according to announcement from the Federal Reserve Board yesterday.

Total sales were 6 per cent larger and average daily sales 10 per cent larger than the corresponding month a year ago, according to preliminary reports from 489 stores. In the Richmond or local district the increase for March was 9.1 per cent, as compared with March, 1928. Thirty-five stores reported a gain in total business, while nine showed decreases. Richmond led the Chicago district, nearest competitor, by 1 per cent.

Bank Women to Meet.

A meeting of the newly elected board of directors of the Bank Women's Club of Washington will be held Saturday evening at the home of Miss Mary Jane Winfree, the president, 1517 Twentieth street northwest.

Program for the open meeting of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, April 18, in the auditorium of McKinley High School, Second and T streets northeast, was announced yesterday. President James A. Soper, of the chapter, will preside, and present certificates to students who have finished midyear courses. The Security Club of the American Security & Trust Co. will present the play, "The Whole Town's Talking." Dancing will follow.

Curb Review

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Trading on the New York curb market showed a substantial increase in volume today but the price movement continued highly irregular. Marking up of the call money rate from 8 to 10 per cent, with indications of a tight credit situation for the rest of the week, checked a general rally, and tended to restrict outside participation.

Oils failed to participate in the rally in those issues on the "big board," the increase in crude oil production last week apparently being a restraining influence. Quiet accumulation has been apparent in a few issues in anticipation of seasonal increases in the price of gasoline, and on predictions of record-breaking gasoline consumption this summer.

Ford of Canada issues turned weak on the announcement that delayed delivery would be permitted in the class B contracts because many transactions in those issues had been made under the impression that it was the "A" stock that was being traded in. Inasmuch as there was only a limited supply of the "B" stock available, a rush to cover short contracts in that issue sent the price sky-rocketing from 56½ to 172 within the past week. The stock closed yesterday at 135, dropped as low as 97 today and closed at 107 for a net loss of 28 points. The old stock broke 75 points to 1100 and rallied to 1115.

American & Foreign Power warrants and Northern States Power A. with extreme gains of about 7 and 5 points, respectively, part of which was lost, were the features in the public utility group. Recent liquidation of power and light stocks has been influenced, in part, by the high carrying charges on the shares that are accepted as loan collateral, and the low dividend yield basis.

American Rolling Mills, responding to favorable dividend rumors and merger prospects, ran up about 8 points to a new high record at 106, and then yielded slightly on realizing. Grigsby Grunow rallied about 5 points from yesterday's low, and Bohn Aluminum advanced more than 4 points on reports of expanding earnings. Outboard Motor B and Pitney Bowes also sold at new high levels for the year. Tri-Continental Corporation was marked up to a new high at 36 on the announcement that Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National Bank, had been elected a director, but lost all its gain. Most of the other investment trusts pointed upward.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The first heavy buying for spring has appeared in the gasoline market. Prices have strengthened and a market of 7½ to 8 cents a gallon for casing head gasoline is anticipated in April. Sinclair, Beacon Oil and Cities Service have bought considerable material for April delivery. Large export orders for North Texas gasoline, placed late last month, served to reduce available supplies in that area and the Oklahoma and Kansas markets have tightened from one-eighth to one-quarter of a cent per gallon. Kerosene was held strong at around 6¾ cents.

Shipments by Celanese Corporation of America in the first quarter were three times those of the same period last year and profits in the first three months of 1929 were 60 per cent over profits of the corresponding interval in 1928, according to George H. Whigham, chairman of the board. The company's plants are at Cumberland, Md.

Indicated earnings of Butte Madison Mines Corporation for the current year will be more than $1 a share, according to the quarterly report of J. M. Jackson, general manager and secretary of the company. A recent strike of 20 per cent lead is said to have increased the average yield of the mine 50 per cent.

Baldwin Locomotive Co. has sold its property in Chicago carried at the end of 1928 at $474.216. The company purchased the property in 1912.

Northeastern Power Corporation of New York, in its first consolidated annual statement, reports net income for 1928 of $10,748,761, equal to $3.73 a share on the stock. This income includes a net profit of $7,833,798 received by the corporation from the sale of its entire holdings of New England Power Association common stock.

Wright Aeronautical Corporation reports that the first quarter of 1929 was the best in its history, with gross business amounting to about $5,000,000, compared with $1,488,000 in the 1928 period. Net for the first quarter was about $550,000, or $1.83 a share, as against $470,897 for the same interval last year. Unfilled orders on the company's books are said to approximate $12,000,000.

A. R. Erskine, president of Studebaker Corporation and chairman of the board of Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., has announced formation of the Studebaker-Pierce-Arrow Export Corporation to conduct the overseas business of the two companies. The new corporation will have its headquarters at South Bend, Ind., and will manage the various Studebaker subsidiaries and general sales in the overseas market for passenger and commercial cars.

Guaranty Trust Co. of New York has received $2,000,000 in gold coin from Argentina, making total receipts of $3,000,000 on the present movement.

Directors of McKesson & Robbins Inc., organized last year as a consolidation of a group of wholesale drug companies, have voted a 25 per cent increase in the dividend rate on common stock by declaring a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis, compared with $1.60 previously. It is payable May 10 to stockholders of record April 20.

The Swedish Match Co., which, with its subsidiary, the International Match Corporation, now operates in more than 35 countries, reports an increase of more than $2,000,000 in net profits last year. The total was $13,121,700 against $10,837,013 in 1927. Earnings have increased steadily since 1921, when they were about $2,226,000.

CITIZENS SUPPORT EDUCATION BOARD'S $3,000,000 PLANS

25 Organizations Advocate Lump Sum; 21 Hit City Heads' Revisions.

CARUSI PLEA FOR EARLY STAND ON ISSUES WINS

Various Improvements Urged by Associations' Envoys; Playgrounds Topic.

The Board of Education will include a request for $3,000,000, to be used for buildings and grounds, in addition to the sum necessary to provide for the current expenses of the public schools, in their estimates to be sent to the District Commissioners in the next two weeks. This announcement was made last night at a meeting of school officials with representatives of about 60 civic organizations, in the Franklin Building.

Twenty-five civic organizations, including citizens' associations and parent-teacher groups, petitioned school officials to include the $3,000,000 lump sum for buildings and grounds in their next estimates, providing the total request for appropriations is not in excess of one-third of the total revenue of the District from all sources. Last year's taxes amounted to approximately $42,000,000, with the public schools receiving approximately $11,000,000.

Improvements Are Requested.

More than two score requests for estimates to provide for new buildings and sites, playground space, auditorium and assembly halls and installation of better facilities in the public schools were made last night by those present at the annual meeting of school officers and citizens.

Twenty-one citizen groups also favored the transmission of school estimates by the District Commissioners to the Budget Bureau without being blue penciled and with only recommendations by the Commissioners as to the maximum sum to be allowed.

Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, who presided urged all civic groups to make known their desires in school matters before action is taken, so as to relieve the board members from the embarrassment of being criticized on the score of seemingly lone action.

Pupils Lack Playground.

Representatives of the Cranch-Tyler Elementary School group, in requesting school officials to ask for an appropriation for playgroud space, pointed out that children attending these two schools are forced to use the streets in the vicinity of the buildings as playgrounds.

A. H. Gregory, president of the Stanton Park Citizens Association, declared the furniture in the Peabody School, which has been in use continually for 50 years, is in a dangerous condition and in need of immediate replacement.

School officers attending the meeting included Isaac Gans, Henry Gilligan, Dr. J. Hayden Johnson, members of the Board of Education; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent.

Park View Garden Contest Launched

Citizens Association Offers Prizes in Drive for Clean Community.

The Park View Citizens Association last night inaugurated a clean-up gardening campaign for the community at a meeting in the Park View School. Prizes will be awarded for the best garden and lawn in the community, it was decided.

Police Lieut. J. M. Walsh, of the Tenth Precinct, and Capt. Harmon Chapman, president of the District Firefighters Association, spoke to the citizens of the importance of keeping the community free from collections of refuse the articles that are both unsafe and unsanitary. Mrs. M. C. Lancaster, president of the Federation of Garden Clubs, also spoke.

A group of pupils presented a one-act play under the direction of Miss Maude Burklin, a teacher at the school. Representatives of the Park View Women's Club, Georgia Avenue Business Men's Association and the Park View Parent-Teacher Association attended the meeting.

Police Find 750 Quarts Of Liquor in Garage

Acting on a tip received by Sergt. O. J. Letterman, of the police vice squad, Detectives William Burke and William Lafin, of the Eighth Precinct, together with Letterman, last night confiscated 750 quarts of corn whisky found in a truck in a garage at Fourteenth and V streets northwest.

The truck in which the liquor was found was not in running condition. The owner of the garage said he did not know who had left the truck or for what reason. License tags on the truck failed to reveal any clews to the owner of the liquor. The 750 quarts were stored at the Eighth Precinct Station.

R. S. Norris Appointed Assitant to Mitchell

Raymond S. Norris, 6318 Meadow lane Chevy Chase, Md., who maintains a law office in Washington, has been named one of four new special Assistant Attorneys General to handle prohibition prosecutions, it was announced yesterday by the Department of Justice. Mr Norris was with the Department of Justice six years ago, but left that post to enter a private enterprise.

Other new appointments are William J. Froelich, Omaha; D. Heywood Hardy Mouston, and Nelson H. Carver, Nashville. Four or five more special assistants will be named later.

Lieut. Cummings Resigns From Navy.

Lieut. Edward J. Cummings, of the Medical Corps of the United States Navy, assigned to duty with the Naval Dispensary here, has resigned. It was announced yesterday at the Navy Department. Lieut. Cummings has been in the Navy eleven years. During this time he has served at the Naval Hospital here, the hospital ship and the Naval Dispensary. His home is in Boston, Mass.

Two New Park Policemen.

Melvin H. Leach, 25 years old, 3713 Twelfth street northeast, and Arthur D. Cook, 27 years old, 62 T street northwest, have joined the United States Park Police Force.

$195 Stolen from Store.

Isaac M. Taranto, of 1017 New York avenue northwest, told police yesterday that his store there had been entered through a rear window during the preceding night and robbed of $195 in currency.

POLICEMAN, LIT UP, IS "STOP-GO" SIGN

Schotter, Human Red and Green Semaphore, Experiments as Traffic Light.

TESTS NEW APPARATUS

Motorcycle Policeman W. A. Schotter, attached to the Traffic Bureau, who stepped into the glare of publicity when he stopped the Siamese Embassy rum truck three weeks ago, last night stepped into the glare of automobile headlights at Connecticut avenue and M street northwest, lighted up like a Christmas tree, with red and green stop and go lights on his arms, chest and back.

He stood like a human semaphore directing traffic at the intersection for fully an hour, wheeling squarely to right or left as he blew the familiar quick blasts on his policeman's whistle. At his direction street cars, automobiles and pedestrians passed by when he faced them with the green lights on his arms or stopped when he confronted them with the red lights on his chest and back.

Schotter, who is chairman of the Policemen's Equipment Association, was making an unofficial test of the lights, which were designed and patented by John Thomas Powell and Edwin T. Powell, of 1731 Fourteenth street northwest. He was off duty last night until 7 o'clock this morning.

The lights were attached to his person by a broad tan belt with double shoulder straps, and were supplied with electricity from two dry cell batteries in leather cases hung from a belt stretched around his waist. Edwin T. Powell, present to watch the first test, said that the batteries would keep the four lights burning for 18 hours without changing. They will be tested again in two weeks, with police officials present, he said.

Arkansas Debater Wins G. U. Contest

Loda Takes First Prize in Law Club Tilt; O'Reilly Is Second Choice.

Alfred J. Loda, of Arkansas, won the fourth prize debate between the leading law clubs of the Georgetown University School of Law last night, and John Joseph O'Reilly, of the District of Columbia, took second place. As the winner, Loda will take part in the final debate next month for a faculty prize.

Both Loda and O'Reilly were members of the team that was given the decision in the argument of a trial case in moot court. The former is a representative of the John Carroll Law Club, and O'Reilly is a member of the Ashley M. Gould Club.

Opposed to them in the court trial were Raymond Joseph Doyle, of Connecticut, representing the White Law Club, and Anthony Nicholas Sadlak, of Connecticut, speaker for the Pierce Butler Club. Leo Nugent McGuire, of the District of Columbia, acted as clerk of court. The committee of judges was composed of John William Guider, of the class of 1926; Francis Carroll Stetson, '26, and Francis Calvert Brooke, '27.

Man Swallows Poison After Wife Leaves Him

Joseph Hardy, 23 years old, was found suffering violently from poison in his room at 1530 Thirty-fourth street northwest late yesterday afternoon by roomers in the house. Fire Rescue Squad, No. 1, and an Emergency Hospital ambulance were summoned.

Hardy was given first-aid treatment by the rescue squad and removed in the ambulance to the hospital, where he was reported to be improving. He told police of the Seventh Precinct, they said, that he drank the poison because his wife had left him.

BOOTH CENTENNIAL OBSERVED IN CAPITAL

Two Meetings Celebrate the 100th Birthday of Salvation Army Founder.

FORMER FRIENDS ATTEND

Sharing in a world-wide memorial service commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, District of Columbia army officers and corps members last night held two meetings.

Brig. and Mrs. John Sprake, of Richmond, Va., who have been associated with the Salvation Army for 42 years and were with Gen. Booth during tours of both England and the United States, were present at the meeting at corps headquarters, 606 E street northwest.

Pictures showing the progress of the army in the District of Columbia over a period of 40 years were exhibited at an open air meeting at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

An added feature of the program at the corps headquarters was the reception over the radio of a speech in New York by Commander Evangeline Booth, daughter of the founder of the army, on her father.

Services in 83 Countries.

The services in memory of Gen. Booth were conducted yesterday in 83 countries, and colonies. Speakers preached the gospel of the army in 17 different languages.

London, April 10 (A.P.).—The centenary of Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, was celebrated at Albert Hall tonight. The big structure was crammed with enthusiastic Salvationists. The principal orator was Stanley Baldwin, prime minister. He was accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin.

The program included a pageant, illustrating the rise and progress of the army. On the platform were Gen. Edward J. Higgins, present commander, and Catherine Booth, granddaughter of the founder. Messages were received from all parts of the world, the most hearty cheers being accorded those from Lucy Hellberg, of the Scandinavian army, and Evangeline Booth, daughter of the founder, and commander of the army in the United States and its possessions.

Thanks God for Booth.

In his address, Mr. Baldwin said:

"Since you think it right that some one outside your organization should speak about your founder, then it is eminently fitting that those words should come from the prime minister of this kingdom. Just as no history of the eighteenth century would be complete if it failed to deal with the effect of the life of Wesley, so no history of the nineteenth century would be complete if it omitted reference to the influence of William Booth, of England."

In his peroration Mr. Baldwin said: "Tonight we have to thank God for William Booth, for a man whom all Christendom today recognizes as one of the world's great religious leaders."

Hoover Will Receive Wholesale Lumber Men

Members of the National-American Wholesale Lumber Association, in convention at the Mayflower Hotel, will be received at 12:30 this afternoon by President Hoover as the feature of the day's program. A banquet will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at which Representative Charles A. Eaton, of New Jersey, will be the principal speaker.

W. E. Humphrey, of the Federal Trade Commission, addressed the association yesterday while Ben S. Woodhead, of Beaumont, Tex., president of the organization and W. W. Schupner, secretary, were other speakers. A golf tournament at the Congressional Country Club tomorrow will close the program of the convention.

GIBSON, DUE TODAY, EXPECTED TO SCAN CHANGES IN POLICE

Burlingame Retired and Pratt Became Chief Since Inquiry of House Committee.

EVENTS MAY CAUSE HIS REPORT TO BE REVISED

Had Planned to Recommend Transfers in Department and Delved in City Policies.

Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, is scheduled to arrive in Washington today, and it is expected that he will set out immediately to familiarize himself with what has happened in the Police Department since he last was here.

As chairman of a special subcommittee assigned to investigate the municipal government, Gibson conducted an exhaustive investigation in the affairs of the Police Department and he now is preparing a report to submit to the House District committee.

Two Important Events.

Since the Seventieth Congress adjourned and Gibson and other members set sail for Panama two events of outstanding importance have occurred in the Police Department—the acquittal and subsequent resignation of Capt. Guy E. Burlingame following charges made by Helen Blalock, a palmist, and the elevation of Henry G. Pratt to succeed Edwin B. Hesse as major and superintendent of police.

These events may or may not cause Gibson to revise his report to the full District committee, depending on what he was going to say in his report.

Changes Were Contemplated.

It is known that Gibson and the other members of the subcommittee were seriously thinking about recommending changes in the personnel of the department, but their decision, if one was reached, was not made public.

It was the Gibson subcommittee that demanded of the Commissioners that they take action in the Burlingame case and prior to that it was the subcommittee that forced the Commissioners to consider charges of drinking against Maj. Hesse—charges of which he finally was absolved.

At its last meeting before the end of the Seventieth Congress the subcommittee also discussed the question whether or not there should be a change in the form of the local government.

Apartment Failure Will Go to Jury

Indictment to Be Requested Against A. M. Suit in Cooperative Scheme.

The story of the failure of the Parkway Apartments as a cooperative project a year ago will be related to the District grand jury with a view to obtaining an indictment against Arthur M. Suit, promoter, and others concerned in financing of the project, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday announced.

Complaints of losses by several buyers of apartments in the building resulted in the issuance of a warrant charging Suit with larceny after trust. Following a nation-wide search, he was arrested in February at Harvey, Ill., and returned to this city. Pending a hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, which has been repeatedly postponed, Suit has been at liberty under $2,000 bail.

Failure of the apartment project and subsequent foreclosure sale of the building was a subject of inquiry by the Gibson subcommittee of the House District committee. The entire transaction was denounced by the investigators. Complainants in warrants against Suit were Mrs. M. J. Bain and W. J. Manning, who purchased apartments in the building. Assistant District Attorney William C. Gallagher has been instructed to place the case before the jury and it is believed the prosecutor's office has obtained information from Suit, who has repeatedly denied accusations against him, that may implicate others in the project.

Lions Club Hears Talk On School Leadership

"Principles of Leadership" were outlined by Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, before the Washington Lions Club yesterday in the Hotel Mayflower.

Dr. Cooper spoke on the qualities necessary for successful college presidents and school superintendents. He said the superintendents of public schools in many instances are failures because of the lack of some necessary quality, and that excuses of deposed school executives are usually poor. Bertrand G. McGinniss and Howard R. Palmer were elected to membership. Robert L. McKeever, the president, presided.

Dentist's Wife Asks Separate Maintenance

Suit for separate maintenance and support from Wilbur S Benedict, widely known dentist, of the Farragut Apartments, was instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Benedict, of 1326 Vermont avenue northwest.

They were married July 31, 1921, according to the complaint, and have one child, whose custody the plaintiff seeks. Benedict has an income of $25,000 a year from his dental profession besides owning property valued at more than $125,000, according to the wife, but he allows her only $5 a week for expenses she says.

3, Arrested in Dayton, Admit Capital Holdup

Three men arrested in Dayton, Ohio, have confessed to the robbery of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store at 1504 East Capitol street, of $60 March 30, according to information received yesterday by Washington police.

Four men were arrested by Dayton police through information sent from Washington. They are J. E. Parsons, Dick Newlan, Carl Gray and Donald Hoke. All but Hoke are said to have confessed to the holdup. They will be returned to Washington.

Alleged Taxicab Thief Is Held on Three Charges

Charges of assault with a dangerous weapon, robbery and reckless driving were placed against James Henry Collins, colored, 21 years old, of 1710 Tenth street northwest, yesterday after the cab he was driving overturned on Pennsylvania avenue near the Peace Monument.

John R. Clark, colored, of 321 Third street southwest, told Policeman R. N. Kesslering, of the Eleventh Precinct, that Collins took his cab from him at the point of a pistol.

CONGRESS IS URGED TO ACT ON UNIONS' WAGE RAISE PLEAS

Contractors Say Plan of Six Labor Groups Will Affect U. S. Building Jobs.

INVESTIGATION SOUGHT; MASS MEETING SLATED

Plumbers Expected to Join Tilesetters, Stone Masons and Other Units.

A request that Congress investigate the demands of six building trade unions here that the wages of workers be increased was filed yesterday with Representative Zihlman, of Maryland, by a delegation representing the Builders and Manufacturers Association of Washington.

The delegation, which was headed by F. L. Smith, a contractor, plans to call this morning on Senator Smoot, of Utah, and ask him to start an investigation on his side of the Capitol.

Ross H. Johnson, secretary of the Builders and Manufacturers Exchange, declared yesterday that if the demands of the six building trades are met, the result will be a substantial increase in the cost of the buildings that now are being built here for the Federal Government.

"Certainly a congressional investigation is warranted," Johnson said. "Not only would the cost of the Federal building program be increased, but, later on, virtually every building project would cost more. If increased wages were justified, it might be different, but the mechanics who are asking for more already are receiving higher wages than those in many other cities."

The trades that are demanding higher wages, Johnson said, are the tilesetters, steamfitters, stone masons, rubble stone workers and reinforcing iron rod men. Plumbers also are getting ready to ask for a raise, Johnson said.

Under the auspices of the exchange, contractors and subcontractors will hold a mass meeting at 2525 Pennsylvania avenue at 8 o'clock tonight to discuss plans for combating the request for higher wages.

Dr. Helfgott Memorial Meeting Slated Monday

A memorial meeting will be held at the Jewish Community Center next Monday night to commemorate the death of Dr. Max A. Helfgott last month. He was one of the most ardent workers in the Zionist organization.

A special committee, headed by Rabbi Louis J. Schwefel, is arranging a program. Among those who will participate are Rabbi Julius T. Loeb, Cantor Louis Novick, Charles J. Stein and Dr. Edward A. Cafritz. Dr. Helfgott was very active in the organization and growth of the Young Judea chapter. A memorial resolution, signed by many of the boys who came under his influence, will be read at the meeting.

Liquor Chase Ends In Wreck of Auto

Two Men in Car Arrested on Four Charges; One Injured.

Two colored men were arrested on charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor by Acting Sergt. M. M. Deakins, of the Eleventh Precinct, yesterday morning when their automobile overturned at Naylor road and Q street southeast after a chase of several blocks on Naylor road.

The men gave their names as Frank Green, 24 years old, of 624 Q street northwest, and Walter Harris, 32 years old, 301 V street northwest. An additional charge of reckless driving was placed against Green and a charge of breaking glass on the pavement against Harris. Green's left ear was cut when the car overturned. He was treated at the Casualty Hospital.

Talks on Stagecraft Given at Conference

Make-up and pageantry were discussed last night at the first annual conference of the Community Drama Guild at the McKinley High School. Demonstrations and talks were given by Mrs. Grace Peters Johnson, Denis E Connell, Edward Muth, Miss Pauline Oak and Mrs Marie Moore Forrest.

Principal speakers at tonight's session will be William Hutchins, of the American University, on "Modern Shakespearean Acting," and Joseph Adelman, of New York, on "The Play, the Actor and the Pantomime."

47 Traffic Lights Will Go on Today

Addition to Control System Scheduled for Fifteenth Street Section.

Another section of an important thoroughfare will be added to Washington's scheme of automatic traffic signal control when the lights installed on Fifteenth street, from I to V streets northwest, will be turned on at 10 o'clock this morning.

The newest installation includes 47 signal lights, including a three-signal intersection at Vermont avenue and I street. The time interval will range from 30 to 32 seconds. The traffic office is considering a plan for later synchronizing the Fifteenth street signals with those on Sixteenth street.

The control apparatus which will put the new lights into operation is situated at Fifteenth and P streets.

TRANSFERRED ARMY AIR OFFICIALS

Brig. Gen Benjamin D Foulois, left, who is to be transferred to Dayton, Ohio, and Brig. Gen. William E. Gillmore, who will succeed Gen. Foulois in Washington.

BRIG. GEN. FOULOIS SHIFTED BY ORDER

Assistant of Air Corps Chief to Be Succeeded by Gen. Gilmore.

WILL GO TO WRIGHT FIELD

Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, United States Army, who is stationed here as one of the three assistants to the chief of the Air Corps, in charge of the training and operations division, will be transferred after June 1 to Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, as chief of the Air Corps materiel division, the War Department announced yesterday.

Brig. Gen. William E. Gillmore, now in charge of the materiel division at Wright Field as one of the three assistants to the chief, will succeed Brig Gen. Foulois here as chief of the training and operations division. He will arrive for duty by June 30.

No change was announced for the third assistant to the chief of Air Corps, Brig. Gen. Frank P. Lahm, head of the training schools at Duncan Field, San Antonio, Tex. The shift in command is a part of the new Air Corps policy to rotate general officers among the three assistant positions to familiarize them with all phases of Army aviation activities.

Brig. Gen. Gillmore was commissioned in the Regular Army from civil life as a second lieutenant of Infantry on February 2, 1901. He served on varied duties with the Infantry.

New Y. M. C. A. Members Entertained at Dinner

Approximately 100 new members of the Young Men's Christian Association were guests of the membership committee at a dinner last night in the assembly hall of the Y. M. C. A., 1736 G street. The new members have joined over a period of several weeks.

Dr. Everett M. Ellison, chairman of the membership committee, presided and William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the "Y," welcomed the guests. The new members were taken on a tour of inspection of the gymnasium, swimming pool, bowling alleys and through the education, social, religious and other departments of the institution. An exhibition volley ball game was staged.

Dedication of New School Tomorrow

J. F. Oyster to Be Honored at District Institution Named After Him.

Dedication of the James F. Oyster elementary school, named in honor of the late District Commissioner and Board of Education president, to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, will be marked by elaborate exercises, in which representatives of the District government and school officials will participate.

Isaac Gans, member of the Board of Education, District Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty and Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent of schools, will make the principal addresses. Henry W. Draper, supervising principal of the first school division, will preside.

Norman W. Oyster, son of the late Commissioner, will present a life-sized portrait of Mr. Oyster to the school. It will be unveiled by a daughter, Mrs. Clark G. Diamond, and accepted by Miss E. E. Darneille, principal of the school, which is located at Twenty-ninth and Calvert streets northwest.

Exchange Club to Hear Lecture on Television

Television will be discussed today at the weekly luncheon of the Exchange Club at the Mayflower Hotel at 12:30 o'clock.

C. Francis Jenkins, an expert on television, will speak. His lecture on this much-discussed subject will be illustrated by motion pictures. Ernest L. Jones, chairman of the club's speakers' committee, arranged the program.

DEANS WILL CONVENE IN CAPITAL TODAY

Leaders of Universities Plan to Visit Mt. Vernon During Afternoon.

DINNER AT COSMOS CLUB

A pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, where a wreath will be laid on the Tomb of George Washington, will be made this afternoon by delegates to the eleventh annual conference of the Association of Deans and Advisers to Men. They will convene in the Mayflower Hotel this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Prof. A. G. Murray, formerly of Leland Stanford University, who recently came to Washington to act as pastor of the Friends Meeting House attended by President Hoover, will make a brief address at the tomb.

Dean George B. Culver, Leland Stanford University, an alumnus of George Washington University, under auspices of which the conference is held, will preside over the sessions. Speakers on this morning's program are Charles W Gerstenberg, secretary of the Interfraternity Council; Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, University of Illinois, whose subject will be "Hell Week," and Dean M L Fisher, Purdue University, who will talk on "Housing of Unorganized Students."

Previous to the trip to Mount Vernon this afternoon Dean J. A. Park, of Ohio State University, will speak on "The University and the Financial Obligations of Its Students." Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, George Washington University, will address the conferees on "The 'Collegiate' Myth."

A dinner at the Cosmos Club at 6 o'clock, at which George Washington University officials will be hosts to the visitors, will be marked by an address of welcome by Cloyd Heck Marvin president of the school, to which Dean Culver will respond.

Sessions will be held tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening, with the closing meeting scheduled for Saturday morning, at which time officers will be elected.

Burlingame Party Disorder Is Denied

Chicken Dinner for Retired Captain Given Approval of Police Inquirers.

A party, reputed to have been a "whoopee" affair in honor of retired police captain Guy E. Burlingame in Ram's Horn Inn, Prince Georges County, Md., not far from the District line, on Monday night, turned out to be nothing more than a chicken dinner tendered Burlingame by a small group of friends, according to reports of investigators given to Maj. Henry G. Pratt yesterday.

The investigation was prompted by reports that the dinner was being given to the retired captain by a number of policemen who were creating a disturbance. Lieut. Bobo and Sergt. Guyer made an investigation and Inspector T. H. Bean made another.

There was no evidence found of law violation at the dinner, which began at 10:30 o'clock at night and ended at 12:30 o'clock, the reports said.

Society to Celebrate District's Anniversary

Commemorating the 138th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the District of Columbia at Jones Point, near Alexandria, Va., at the mouth of Great Hunting Creek, the District of Columbia Society of Natives will hold a banquet Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Italian Gardens of the Mayflower Hotel.

The society has celebrated the anniversary of the laying of this stone consecutively for several years. The stone was placed on April 15, 1791. Lee D. Latimer, president of the society, has promised several surprise features for the program Monday.

Catholic Alumni Luncheon Today.

Washington Chapter of the Catholic University Alumni Association will hold its weekly luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at 707 Twelfth street northwest.

Committee Will Assist in "Spotting" Schools of Questionable Repute.

Death for "diploma mills" in the District of Columbia is to be hastened by the Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber will start a new drive on these questionable institutions this week, when the newly apointed committee on universities, colleges and private schools meets to institute a revision of the directory of Washington's educational institutions.

This directory has been in process of being compiled by the chamber for the last three years. The volume was about ready for publication when the investigation into educational institutions came to a climax, revealing that many were producing degrees with machine-like regularity. The chamber immediately abandoned the idea of publishing the directory and decided to postpone its issuance until all the questionable institutions listed could be deleted.

Committee Will Decide.

The education committee will meet Friday to decide how this work of revision is to begin. It is probable that the work will be guided by the progress in enforcing the new law in ascertaining just which are the questionable institutions. As these institutions are apprehended they will be deleted from the directory. The chamber will cooperate in every way within its limits in "spotting" such institutions, it was said.

In order to revise the directory properly the chamber will send new questionnaires to all District educational institutions. These will be rechecked with the previous questionnaires collected for the original volume.

Col. William O. Tufts is chairman of the 1929 committee on universities, colleges and private schools.

Girl-Speeder, Minus Money, Gives Word for $50 Bond

The high cost of speeding proved too much last night for Miss Edith Burgner, 24 years old, of apartment 42, 3625 Sixteenth street northwest, after she was arrested on a charge of traveling 44 miles an hour along Georgia avenue. A kind-hearted policeman, however, saved her from a night in jail.

Upon being taken to the Tenth Precinct by Policeman M. Sanders, Miss Burgner said she was unable to produce the $50 bond required for her freedom. Instead of taking Miss Burgner to a cell the police gave her a wooden chair in their lounge room.

In this room, Miss Burgner declared she would spend the night before notifying a sister who, she said, would be "mad as blazes" if she heard of the speeding case.

Finally the arresting policeman made a lady's and gentleman's agreement with Miss Burgner that if she promised to appear in court this morning she would be permitted to return to her apartment.

Miss Burgner was driving a new automobile. Again at the steering wheel, she moved off discreetly, remarking as she left that she had enjoyed the visit.

Curtis Laugh Ruins Film, Disillusions Cameramen

A hearty laugh, rumbling from the chest of Vice President Curtis, spoiled a movie scene in the Senate chamber yesterday, and led to what the movie men call a "retake."

The camera men felt this way about it: A wide, winning smile may have been all right when Curtis was a candidate; and, on occasions, it may be all right now. But, in their opinion, yesterday was not one of those occasions.

The movie men, making an advance picture of the opening of Congress, had rigged up a set of Kleig lights in the Senate chamber and had planted Curtis on the rostrum from which he is to preside.

"Stand up," bellowed the director, as the cameras began to grind.

Curtis meekly obeyed.

"Now rap your gavel for order," came the command, and the statesman-actor again complied.

"Now—" began the movie man. At this point the few onlookers began to titter.

The titters became contagious and spread to Curtis himself, who, in spite of his efforts at restraint, broke into a laugh.

Now, the movie men maintain, this was no way for the presiding officer of the "greatest deliberative body in the world" to act. He should be solemn and sedate.

And so the entire scene was taken over, with the Vice President registering dignity, as the movie men thought he should.
